Canada Ready To Retaliate If Economy Injured By U.S.

OTTAWA (CP)—Finance Minister Sharp said here the government is prepared to retaliate if the Canadian economy is hurt by the recently announced guidelines on United States foreign investment.
Mr. Sharp, under fire in the Commons from Opposition Leader Diefenbaker and NDP Leader Douglas, said at the same time he still doubts the U.S. action will have any adverse effect on Canada.

The exchange was triggered by a speech in Toronto Tuesday night by Eric Kierans, Quebec health minister, who said the U.S. guidelines will weaken Canada's competitive position and increase American influence over Canada's capital expansion and development.

Mr. Sharp said that before Mr. Kierans "injected" himself into the issue, Louis Rasminsky, Canada Security Co. vice president, had expressed his views.
"Who would they be in writing?" snapped Mr. Sharp. He and his officials had met American counterparts in Ottawa.

Mr. Douglas asked what action the government proposed to take, and why it was waiting until it learned whether Canada was to be hurt by the U.S. curbs.
Mr. Sharp said if the guidelines have an adverse effect the government is "quite prepared" to issue its own guidelines. To date there was no evidence the guidelines had hurt.
