Christmas.

THIS universal carnival is again upon us. The majority of our readers have prepared themselves for the thorough enjoyment of it by paying in advance for THE EXAMINER and, to use a general term, by living rightly. But even for those who have not paid in advance for THE EXAMINER, and who have not always, in all things, done well, we bespeak a happy time. To all, A HAPPY CHRISTMAS.

Local and Other Items.

AS a matter of course—no EXAMINER tomorrow.

L. B. ARCHIBALD, Esq., has gone to Nova Scotia

THE steamer "Prince Edward" arrived at Baltimore on the 23rd inst.

ONE case of drunk and disorderly at the Stipendiary Magistrate's Court this forenoon.

THE service, evensong and Christmas carols at St. Peter's Church, will be at 8 o'clock—not 7.30.

THE quarterly election of officers for Victoria Division takes place on Monday evening.

MR. BENJAMIN TOMES, carpenter, received severe injuries by the falling of a scaffold from Mr. David Small's Forge on Pownal Wharf.

WHEN Mr. Davies, last night, was referring to the water stretches, a gentleman at the door of the hall remarked, "He is all at sea." Fact.

THE ladies of Zion Church intend holding a Fancy Sale and Tea about the beginning of March, in aid of the funds of the Church. Full particulars will be given in due time.

A GENTLEMAN on leaving the meeting last night remarked, with a serio-comic smile, "won't Sir John shake in his shoes when he hears about this meeting."

THE market to-day was, according to expectation, the largest of the season. It was well supplied with turkey, geese, fowl and game of all kinds, which sold at moderate prices.

A CENTENARIAN.—Mary Cavanagh, a native of Ireland, died at the Poor House yesterday, aged 105. She entered the Poor House in 1877 and has since then been confined to bed.

THEY SAW THE POINT.—Mr. Davies—The road is to be the finest kind of a road. A road the grades of which will have no limit. (Loud applause.) I see from the applause you understand my meaning. (Loud laughter.)

THE coroner's inquest on the body of McKenzie closed their sitting yesterday. Nowlan and McDonald are sent up for trial at the Supreme Court, and also McInnis, the man that kept the bar. It is reported that this is the third or fourth murder committed at Souris during the last 30 or 35 years.

JOHN is a citizen of good standing, has much influence, is a close observer, and generally weighs things well. He is met by an enthusiastic politician, who addresses him thus: "Good morning, John. Big meeting last night, eh? What do you think of Mr. Davies' speech?" John smiles, and seeing friend S. in earnest, says: "Well, if anything Mr. Davies said is true, they must be a great pack of lunatics at Ottawa."

WE would advise those of our readers who intend purchasing their Christmas supplies this evening to give George Carter a call. The windows of his store are nicely decorated to please the eye from without, while within you will find displayed the choicest assortment of Confectionery, Oranges, Apples, Figs and Grapes, as well as Raisins, Currants, Spices, Essences, Candied Peel Tea, Sugar, Eggs, &c., &c., not only cheap but good. Read his advertisement in another column.

THE MEANING GRASPED.—Mr. Davies did not believe his audience could grasp the meaning of $74,000,000, but at the close of his speech he made a rhetorical flourish and designated the Umbra section a "Quagmire of millions." The audience smiled intelligently, and grasped the meaning instantaneously. Mr. Davies, in this respect, had more success than the unsightly schoolmaster, who, in trying to define the meaning of the word "concoited" asked a pupil the question: "If I were to say I was pretty what would you say I was?" Pupil: "I would say you were a liar."

To the Editor of the Examiner.

MR. EDITOR.—Will you kindly allow space in THE EXAMINER to one of the teachers of the West Kent Street School to acknowledge Christmas Boxes presented to him by his pupils? That teacher, in the days of Patriot, sounded his own gong, although not a Chinaman. First Box—Lamb's-wool scarf by Arelletta Dingwell, with a polite note, add the following original stanza:

My wishes now, I send to thee, That happy may, Thy Christmas be, And happier still, Thy bright New Year, which now is closely, drawing near.

ARALETTA DINGWELL

The others will be submitted in due time.

Dec. 23, 1880.
