Marr-Noble Wedding

Trinity College Chapel, Toronto, effective with snap dragon, pink candleabra, was the setting for an interesting afternoon ceremony, when Rev. Dr. F. H. Cosgrave officiated at the marriage of Miss Shirley Jacqueline Noble, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Noble of Kitchener, to Mr. Ian Messervy Marr, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Marr of Elmira, Ontario. Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a ballerina length dress of rosewood iridescent taffeta, fashioned in redingote style, the shawl collar embroidered in pearls and crystals, carrying this motif into flaring panels to the circular hem. A petite bonnet of matching material completed the costume, and she carried a bouquet of white orchids and lily-of-the-valley. Miss Sheila Marr, bridesmaid, chose a dress of hyacinth blue iridescent taffeta, styled like the bride's, and Juliet cap of matching taffeta edged with sprays of tiny pink velvet flowers. She carried a nosegay of sweet-heart roses. The groomsmen was Mr. James Stuart of Waterloo. After a dinner at "The Royal York", Mr. and Mrs. Marr left by motor for the Gulf Coast and New Orleans, the bride travelling in a suit of navy oxford cloth with blue and white accessories. They will live in Kitchener, Ont. The bridegroom is a nephew of Mr. Harold Messervy of Charlottetown.

Fellowship Group Meeting

The members of the Irwin Christian Fellowship Group of Trinity United Church held their regular meeting last evening in the social hall with the president, Alison MacKinnon, presiding. The meeting opened with devotion and the singing of the hymn "The Spacious Firmament On High" followed by scripture reading by Stuart Pierce. Prayer was offered by Rev. J. T. Irwin. The hymn "Come Ye Disciples" closed this portion of the program. Stan Lancaster passed around copies of a pageant to be presented shortly for the members to see and it was discussed later in the evening. Mr. Lancaster introduced the guest speaker of the evening, Mr. Edwin Johnstone. He told of his recent trip in company with his wife and Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Avard to Mexico where they attended a Rotary Convention. He told the group about the people of Mexico, their origin and their customs. He spoke of the roads and scenery leading to Mexico City which has a population of over 3,000,000. The land in this part of North America was described as very fertile and as it is in the tropical zone a large quantity of fruit is grown. He told of some experiences they encountered, some of which were quite amusing. Following this very interesting talk Mr. Johnstone was called on to answer a number of questions put to him by the group. He concluded by showing slides and a short film which included a bull fight. On behalf of the I.C.F.G. Alison MacKinnon thanked Mr. Johnstone for his very interesting talk. A further discussion on the pageant followed and different members were chosen to play the parts. Delicious refreshments brought an enjoyable evening to a close.

Fishermen At Rustico Give Views On New Lobster Size

Although they favor any measure which tends to conserve lobster fishermen attending a meeting in Rustico yesterday afternoon thought the heavy losses suffered by them last year would only be added to this season by a lower catch resulting from the increase in the carapace measurement. The largely attended meeting heard the fishermen present a brief in which they stated their case. They said that the storm loss of last year constituted a major disaster in the loss of 6,666 traps which cost the 37 lobstermen involved $5,330. Of those fishermen 23 suffered individual losses ranging from $350 to $700 each. They pointed out that under the new carapace measurement there would be a loss this year of approximately 15 percent of the normal catch. The brief also suggested that in future announcements regarding changes in regulations should be made or before the December 31 date. This year the lobstermen were told of the change only a few weeks back and nearly all of them had already built their traps. It was felt that many of them would have built fewer if they had known of the change.

Attending the meeting to hear Dr. D. G. Wilder, St. Andrews, N. B., tell of the reasons for the change were lobster fishermen from Rustico, Covehead, Tracadie, New London and Oyster Bed. They unanimously passed the following resolution which was moved by Mr. Allan Gauthier and seconded by Mr. J. J. Blacquiere: "We are in favor of any measure that will help conserve the lobster, which is our main source of income. But we feel that there should have been no increase in carapace measurement until more effective means were found to enforce the present law. We feel that such an increase is playing into the hands of the poachers, since more lobsters will be returned to the water by the law-abiding fishermen. We endorse the stand taken by the fishermen, who met in Summerside last Fall with the Federal Officers, that there should be no increase in size limit until the present law is enforced. Aside from the point of enforcement we feel that the increase was too large and, if limited to 1/16 of an inch this year and another similar increase next year."

Delightful Concert Given By Pianists And Ensemble

One of the most enjoyable concerts of the current Prince of Wales College season was presented last evening by a program featuring local musicians, pianists, and the Prince of Wales College Girls' Ensemble, under the direction of Miss E. Lillian McKenzie, drew enthusiastic applause from the audience for their enjoyable performances. Mr. MacEwen, a native of Charlottetown, who, after attending Maritime colleges, went on to study at the Julliard School in New York, Shelton College and the University of Toronto, opened the concert with several Bach numbers, and his sensitive interpretation brought out the full colour and richness of Bach's beautiful music. Two piano arrangements of compositions originally written for organ and piano, an organ toccata, Adagio, and Fugue, and the Organ Prelude in G minor, opened the program. Piano arrangements of two choral preludes, My Heart Ever Faithful, written from a German hymn tune, and Mortify Us by Thy Grace, followed. The group was concluded with two compositions devised for the harpsichord, the Prelude and Pique in B flat major, from The Well Tempered Clavichord, and the Fantasia in C minor. Two light-hearted compositions for spring, Woodgate's arrangement of Handel's Come, See Where Golden Hearted Spring and Purcell's In These Delightful Pleasants Groves were heard in the first appearance of the Girls' Ensemble. Also included in the group was Sound the Trumpet by Purcell, an imaginative song, of which the beauty and significance were emphasized by the clarity of tone and the unity of the choral group. Mr. and Mrs. MacEwen opened the second half of the program with a set of variations for Brahms on a theme by Schumann. The slow and solemn theme, written by Schumann when he was obsessed by mental illness, is interpreted in ten variations in duet form embodying every colour of musical feeling, and all richly embellished by the later composer. The sparkling and precise rendition by Mrs. MacEwen, who has also studied at the Julliard School, complemented her husband's warm and sensitive interpretation to perfection, particularly in the more colourful passages. The Girls' Ensemble returned with the gay Song of the Pedlar by C. Lee Williams, with words from Shakespeare's Winter Tale, and the group finished with two charming songs, Pipe of Pan by Geoffrey Rathbone and The Cuckoo Clock, a clever and effective composition by Grant Schaefer. Mr. and Mrs. MacEwen were again heard as they performed three very descriptive poems by the American composer, Edward MacDowell, Night by the Sea, A Tale of Knightly Times and Ballads. Two late 19th century comedies were represented in this group, by the Symphonic Piece by Greig, and Berceuse and Spanish Dance by Gabriel Faure. In response to the demanding applause of the audience, Mr. and Mrs. MacEwen encored with several waltzes by Brahms. A charming song which proved a highlight of the evening, which heard the Girls' Ensemble in a P. W. C. concert last year was performed again last evening, Cherry Stones, by the Marquis of Blandford. The concert concluded with three folk songs arranged by Leslie Bell, Black-eyed Susie, an American folk tune, Stodola Pumpa, from a Czech-Slovakian melody, and A-roving, a sea shanty, all of which were both spirited and amusing. The group's encore was a lovely rendition of the beloved Cradle Song by Brahms. The members of the Girls' Ensemble, who were accompanied by Miss Suzanne Brenton, are: soprano, Doris Andrew, Kathryn Beck, Betty Beers, Helen Chappell, Betty Foster, Muriel Hurst, Bernadette MacDonald, Patricia MacDonald, Shirley Perry, Heather Rodd, Helen Tawell, Mary Whiteside, Janet Wood; second soprano, Frances Clark, Nancy Hyndman, Joan Marie MacGuire, Jean Power, Day Twoel, Wilma Wood, Patricia Wynne; alto; Barbara Brannen, Sheila Davison, Marjorie Hurst, Zoena Jordan, Johanna MacDonald.

Thrill For Local Air Cadets In Flight Over City

Air Cadet Alan MacLeod and Cadet John Dohrn of No. 60 (Charlottetown) Squadron realized the ambition of all air cadets yesterday afternoon when they were individually given the privilege of "taking the stick" on a flight made in a single engine Harvard aircraft. The run was made over Charlottetown and vicinity and lasted almost an hour on each trip. Flying officer Bill Davidge, Air Cadet Liaison Officer, R.C.A.F. Station, Summerside, was pilot of the aircraft, which was flown from the R.C.A.F. station, Summerside, for the occasion. The cadets were given the flight and the opportunity to take over the controls as a reward for their sustained interest in acquiring general efficiency during the winter months of study. Both young flyers expressed themselves after the flight as being "thrilled" with the experience, which will probably fall to the lot of several other cadets of the squadron before the training season is over. The flights yesterday were in fulfillment of a promise made by Flying Officer Davidge several months ago and as this is Air Cadet week throughout Canada, the time was considered opportune for the flight.

Increase Shown In March Shipments

Heavy shipments of potatoes in March featured the export of Island products which again were greater in the number of carloads than the imports. There were 1286 cars shipped on the last month, compared to the 1,236 in the same month of 1952. The imports totalled 1,199 cars which was a decrease from 1,313 of March last year. Carloads of potatoes amounted to 906 last month while the same period last year saw only 637 being shipped. Livestock shipments were also up with 89 cars this year and 79 last year, but turpins showed a decrease from 110 to 87. There was a relatively large movement of scrap iron with 22 carloads being moved. A big decrease in coal shipments from 253 cars to 84 highlighted the imports coming across from Cape Tormentine to Borden in March this year; railway material shipped was away up from the 16 cars of last year to 112 and gas and oils also showed an increase from 196 to 215. Of the potatoes shipped there were 535 carloads from the territory between Charlottetown, Summerside and Borden. Another 193 cars originated at points east and south of Charlottetown, and the other 176 cars started west of Summerside.

Riots Strengthen Peron's Grip

BUENOS AIRES, (AP) - President Juan D. Peron has emerged with a stronger grip on Argentina after a night-long reign of terror in which groups of his supporters looted and burned buildings symbolizing the opposition. The explosion of two bombs at a big mass meeting addressed by Peron in the Plaza de Mayo Wednesday touched off the violence. Six persons were killed by the blasts or crushed to death. Ninety-three were injured.

Among The Farmers Federation Of Agriculture News

Insurance Program - The past week has been a busy one in the Federation office with insurance reports coming in from all over the province, and numerous requests for additional information and explanations. A program of this kind is only possible through the co-operation of large numbers of people, those who realize the value of the protection and have joined up, have gone the first mile. The second mile consists of convincing their neighbors in order that there will be no doubt on the point of having sufficient applications. Directors are urged to continue their contacts and encourage all districts to avail themselves at the earliest possible date of this protection.

Price Supports - The changing character of agriculture and rapid industrial expansion in Canada and the United States has led to the development, by governments, of various plans designed to protect agriculture against serious economic loss and at the same time to insure the consumer of reasonable supplies of food. Assistance has usually taken the form of either purchase programs or deficiency payments. A purchase program is one in which a government undertakes to buy a product at a stated price and involves the government in the marketing of it. Examples are the present programs now in effect with butter, eggs and pork. From the consumer's standpoint this system may be criticized at times for keeping prices at a level that does not stimulate consumption of the surplus and again the price may be set at a figure which does not bring forth the necessary production and results at a later period in scarcity and higher prices - what has happened in 1952 and 1953 with eggs illustrates the point. In a system of deficiency payments with a government undertaking to make up the difference between the actual market price and some agreed upon amount the consumer benefits through low prices, nutrition is kept at a high level and consumption is stimulated, thus tending to reduce or eliminate the surplus. This system does not involve the consumer of reasonable supplies of food.

that Capps, a fruit and vegetable distributor, sold the potatoes after their arrival to an agency owned by the Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company and that the potatoes were found for sale at retail stores. Rules Agreement Void In Seed Potato Case In U.S.

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) - A federal appellate court ruled here Wednesday that an executive agreement concerning imported Canadian seed potatoes was void because the president lacked power to regulate foreign commerce. The opinion by Chief Judge John J. Parker of the United States fourth circuit of appeals upholding a decision by Norfolk district court held, in effect, that the power to regulate foreign commerce is vested in Congress, not in the executive or judicial branches of government.

The trial court had directed a jury verdict for Guy W. Improvements To Well Known Local Jewellery Store

Extensive alterations and improvements on the premises of W.W. Wellner Ltd., marks another milestone in the history of that well-known jewelry firm which has had an unbroken record of continuity in the family since its establishment in 1868. Long recognized for honesty and integrity in an occupation which is dependent on high standards, the business is now carried on by Mr. L.E. Wellner, with whom is associated his son Arthur. Mr. Jean MacMillan, who has been for many years a valued employee, is senior member of the store staff. The recent improvements were made possible with the building of a large rear extension which provides for a stock room, mail and express room where a large volume of mail orders are handled, and a wrapping room where fragile articles are prepared for city delivery. A greatly enlarged and modernized work area has been provided where watch and clock cleaning and repairing is conducted under the supervision of Mr. Arthur Wellner. The difficulty previously experienced in opening large boxes of Wedgwood and other rare and fragile articles from England has been overcome by the installation of large double doors leading into the rear room designed for this purpose. Rogers 1847, Community Plate, Bulova and Gruen watches are carried in variety while the cut glass and chinaware at Wellner Ltd. always permits of an attractive and inviting window display, dear to the heart of discriminating ladies.
