

Cosy - We Need To Awaken Now

they control in excess of 70% of the world's wealth and productive capacity, while the "have-nots", two thirds of humanity, either starve or are caught in the fierce throes of revolution against a white world.

8) As the Bishops point out in their message, there are government and multi-national corporations i.e. Webster family, Steinbergs, Rockefellers, etc., that have secretly planned and suddenly announced the construction of large industrial projects without prior consultation with the people who will be affected most. For people whose land is their life, who wish to secure control over their future development, cannot and are often-times forced to uproot their traditions and lifestyles while foreign values are imposed in and become intact in their society.

9) Locally, why have 1200 farmers gone out of production in the last 3-4 years? Why are only 575,000 acres of land developed when there is nearly one million acres of arable land on the Island? Why is Tourism dictating PEI economy and to whose advantage is it?

10) Finally, the media and the schools have practically replaced parents in regards to rearing children. The media, work, and school have made it virtually impossible for the family to be a closely knit group. As a result, the schools and the media tell us what we should be. Is what we should be and what we really want to be the same thing? I don't think so.

This article may seem very negative to the reader because it doesn't even attempt to point out the positive aspects of society. The reason that I deliberately pointed out the negatives of society is because not enough attention and time is devoted to help make ourselves "critically" aware of the world in which we live.

We all have dreams of what our society and university could be. Why don't changes come, one may ask? Primarily because people are not committed to the logical principles that could very easily alleviate the obvious problems of our society. In theory, I think it is safe to say that we would like to live in a society where love, freedom, respect, justice, honesty, and sincerity predominated. But, at present, how can we live this, in the midst of profit, competition, wealth, comforts, and exploitation.

Until we as individuals begin to take a critical look at ourselves, change will never come in our society. The only way society can change is if we change. Let us carefully examine who we are and where we are going in this life so that we can logically respond to the real needs and wants of today's society.

Ultimately, the challenge before us is a test of our faithfulness in the living God. For I believe that the struggle for justice and responsible stewardship in the North today like that in distant Third world countries is the voice of the Lord among us. We are called as human beings to involve ourselves in the struggles and challenges of today, and to actively respond to the voice of God and our fellow man who cry out for the fullness of life.

Action Needed Now

I would first of all like to thank the members of the Junior class for selecting me as their class president. I will certainly do my best to contribute something to the class in the next five or six months. But it is by no means a "one man show".

I believe that it is the responsibility of each class to offer something to the university during the course of the academic year. There is also another important responsibility - that is to raise funds covering the cost of its own Senior week. It is important to remember that these responsibilities do not have to be a drag; they can be fun. It all depends of the willingness of each class member to contribute a little bit of time and a lot of imagination.

In view of the attendance at the first meeting the situation cannot do anything but improve! For this reason I am optimistic that things will turn out right. So when the first meeting is held come along and bring a friend (preferably another Junior). Looking forward to seeing you there.

Yours Sincerely,
Ken Doiron
