THE USES OF COLD STORAGE.

The chief uses of cold storage in agriculture and commerce, are, says Prof. James W. Robertson:
 (1.) To preserve products;
 (2.) To prolong the marketing season and the period of consumption;
 (3.) To give the owner some chance to choose a time for selling.
 But the main and comprehensive use is to keep products in their best condition on their way from the places where they were produced to the places where they are to be delivered to the ultimate consumer. And as a rule the sooner they are delivered to the consumer after they are ready for use, the better will be the results to all concerned. It has been complained of a little in certain quarters that cold storage may encourage and permit much speculation in food products; and by throwing the epithet of "speculator" at a buyer, some of the producers and some of the consumers consider that his transactions are thereby condemned. If a man actually buys butter or cheese on speculation, he thereby proves his faith in the future of the market for his purchase. The period for the production of cheese in Canada is only about six months, and the cheese made during that time are spread over twelve months of consumption. A legitimate and bona fide speculator is usually a beneficial factor in commercial life; and such a buyer, will steady the market and pay higher prices for products when means exist for keeping them in good condition until they are to be consumed.

COVERING THE ENSILAGE.

Prof. Robertson in his report says: "In filling a silo particular pains should be taken to spread the ensilage evenly over the surface; otherwise the leaves and lighter parts may lie in one place and the stalks and ears in another. The ensilage at the sides and corners of the silo should be trodden down as compactly as possible. Then immediately after the silo is filled it should be covered with a layer of four or six inches of cut straw. In the feeding out of the ensilage it is not a good plan to expose a large surface in the silo at one time. Where practicable only as much of the surface of the ensilage should be uncovered as will cause a depth of about six inches to be removed from it by feeding every day. A half or one quarter of the ensilage may be uncovered at one time, and it may be cut down with a hay knife, leaving a perpendicular face which will mould very slightly. Where too large a surface of ensilage is exposed to the air it becomes offensive to the smell and gives rise to the growth of moulds. These sometime contaminate the stable, and spread the belief that the feeding of ensilage imparts a flavour to the milk. Such flavours get into the milk through the atmosphere, and not through the feeding of the cow."

BUTTER AND CHEESE.

A Firm Market for Both Commodities - Little Business in Western Cheese.
 The butter and cheese markets both rule steady, and fairly strong. The Montreal Star of the 6th reports that there were a number of transactions yesterday in Quebec cheese, at 7-8 cents, and that price was generally paid for select lines today. For choice colored 1/4 of a cent more is demanded. Business in Ontario grades is decidedly slow, as English buyers are not prepared to concede the prices asked over the cable. In fact the quotation for Ontario grades are almost purely nominal. The idea for Western colored seems to be 8 1/2 to 8 3/4, and 8 to 8 1/2 for white. The public cable is unchanged.
 Butter continues to rule firm, the range for fancy creamery boxes being 17 1/2 to 18c, and the outside figure has been reached in a number of cases. However, buyers are not willing to concede this figure except to fill an order. Any defect in quality, no matter how slight, would cause prices to be shaded. Creamery tubs sell from 17 1/2 to 17 3/4. There is a good demand for Western dairy butter at 12 1/2 to 13 1/2, while Eastern goes about 1 cent higher.

PLUCKY CANADA.

SIR,—In many fields of enterprise and judgement, "this Canada of ours" has won remarkable distinction. In heroism on the field of battle, in education, invention, or in schools of thought, in judgments sound or in chivalry, the typical Canadian demands a front seat. Our system of government has been held up as a pattern for nations, and now we find the great neighbouring republic choosing it for the government of her newly acquired possessions. In temperance, our local experimental laws have been stamped with the marks of progressive success, and now in our great important stride, young Canada undertakes to teach temperance to the older nations of the world, and to lead them all in the march towards prohibition, and in the final contest for the total suppression of the liquor evil. Well might any Canadian be proud of his citizenship and justly delighted to be found taking the front ranks in the battle for moral reform. We can enjoy honest pride in our country and in our institutions, but as true born Canadians we must take our part in pushing forward the van of national greatness. The conduct of the individual creates the character of the State. In the hands of the citizen voter is placed the ballot with which he can choose for himself to up-build the most cherished institutions, or, if he prefers he can retard his country's progress. In the proud position which we propose to take amongst the nations of the world, will you, voter, place your ballot for prohibition and for right, and help this dear Canada of ours unto national greatness.

THE HIGHLAND CADETS.

They Trooped the Stars and Stripes and Union Jack Together.

BOSTON, Mass., Sept 6.—Cheers and shouts of approval greeted the braw laddies "o' bonnie auld Scotland," as with the jaunty, swinging step of the Highlander, they tramped on to the Boston baseball grounds last evening to the ringing measures of "The Campbells are Coming." Even the moon rose out over centre-field decked for the occasion (like a good, polite Yankee) in flaming British red. It was truly an inspiring sight, the "cocky" Scotch caps, the manly gray tunicked tunics, the rhythmic, swinging kilts, the white spats, the swishing tarletons and over all the cold blue gleam of polished bayonet and claymore. The boys carried the Duke of Connaught's banner as well as their own regimental flags and "Old Glory." A very large audience turned out to see them.
 There were some curious sights for an American soldier, the tactics being so different from those in force in the United States. There was first a battalion drill in regular field movements, in which the boys won many plaudits, but it was not until they gave the calisthenic drill, timed to music, that the enthusiasm reached its height. In this each cadet held in one hand a miniature of "Old Glory" and in the other a British Jack of corresponding size. As they swung up and down, right and left, in perfect unison, the effect was extremely pretty. The bayonet drill, too, was given with veteran precision. Last came the ceremony of trooping the colours, and here was what the populace had waited for. The Stars and Stripes was carried beside the British Jack, and in the hands of an English subject, young Captain Hinchcliffe, of the Cadets, and to make the picture complete the British Jack was borne by a good citizen of Boston, Captain Leads, of the Fusiliers. All this caused tremendous enthusiasm. There were cheers for the flags of both countries, and prolonged clapping of hands. It is a singular thing that the first trooping of the British and American colors on United States soil should take place in this city, where over a century ago were sown the seeds of revolution that eventually caused England the loss of her American colonies.

Foster's Views.

OTTAWA, Sept 6.—Hon. George E. Foster returned yesterday from his trip to the Pacific coast. He is in excellent health and much impressed with the development of the Great West. In reference to the Quebec Conference, he says: "There is much speculation as to the result of the Quebec Conference. Various interests hold, of course, a variety of views, but it is safe to say that all would like to see vexing questions settled at the best of relations firmly established between the United States and Canada. I purpose to refrain from discussing any of these in my meetings, nor did I notice any other desire than that the Government should have the support of the whole country in presenting a strong Canadian case."

SPANISH CORTES

Reassembled to Discuss Peace Terms in Private.
 MADRID, September 9.—The Chambers assembled yesterday, at the opening of the Senate, the secretary read a letter from Senor Rodriguez, senator for Porto Rico, refusing to obey the summons to attend.
 The premier, Senor Sagasta, arrayed in the insignia of his office, ascended the tribune and read a decree authorizing the Government to present to the Chamber a draft of a law empowering the minister to renounce sovereignty over the colonies, in conformity with the stipulations of the peace preliminaries between Spain and the United States.
 The president of the Senate proposed a secret discussion of the decree, and despite the protests of some senators, ordered that the galleries be cleared, which was done amid murmurs of disapproval.
 The Chamber soon became involved in a discussion of press censorship, and a deputy enquired the motive underlying a circular which General Chinchilla, captain general of Madrid, has addressed to newspapers, regulating their reports of the session of the Cortes. He declared that the censorship was inconsistently applied and that the effect of the circular was to punish possible errors in advance.

THE PHILIPPINES.

Will Take an Army of 65,000 Men and a Fleet.
 MADRID, Sept. 7.—General Jaudenez, ad interim Governor of the Philippine Islands, replying to the Government's request for information as to the true situation of affairs in the archipelago, reports that to assure the re-establishment of Spanish sovereignty over the island would require a permanent army of 65,000 men, a fleet and endless quantities of material.

The United States navy will hereafter be supplied with smokeless powder.
