at the entrance of the Kiel Canal, the communicate stated.

"Although weather conditions were adverse, the attack was pressed home with the greatest vigor and daring," the communicate added.

"The fine qualities displayed by the R. A. F. pilots were splendid. The results they achieved are of the highest importance.

"There was a heavy rain and visibility was poor. The navigation of the squadron was accurate and as it approached the naval base it flew low to make sure of hitting its targets. The first attack was delivered in the evening on a pocket battleship lying a few miles on the east Schilling roads. There is little doubt that the enemy was taken by surprise but anti-aircraft batteries quickly opened fire. The bombers dived over battleships and direct hits by heavy bombs were made.

"Damage to Ships Observed. "Following aircraft were flying so low that damage could be observed. Naval craft and shore batteries kept up intense anti-aircraft fire and our bombers were attacked by German fighters. Yet the raid continued. Our aircraft located and attacked a vessel at Brunsteln and another at...

"Prime Minister Chamberlain declared in a general review of the five-day-old war that Germany appeared to be concentrating her 'first main effort against Poland' in the hope of 'a short war and a quick decision.'"

"He told the House of Commons that in contrast with the enemy 'on the western front and that the Royal Air Force and Royal Navy were striking hard at German U-boats and war ships.'"

"The Polish army, he said, was 'outnumbered and outgunned' and fighting 'against' overwhelming superiority in the air."

"Appointment of Sir Frederick Leith-Ross as director general of the ministry of economic warfare was announced.

"Announcement of the arrival of British forces in France and of conferences between Major-General Sir Edmund Ironside, chief of the British Imperial General Staff, and General Maurice Gamelin, commander-in-chief of all French forces, were regarded generally as meaning British Tommies to be moved to the frontier.

"The state of the British forces which have been landing in France since early this week were not known but they were expected to be in position to throw their weight into battle within a few days.

"The Government indicated the crossing of the Britons was accomplished without difficulty. It was preceded by the arrival of British air fleets which are operating from French air bases in co-operation with the French.

"Our own self respect demands it, our self interest demands it, our own gratitude to the motherland, from whose loins we sprang, demands it," he told the Canadian and travellers' day luncheon.

P.W.C. Classes Begin Term

Historic Prince of Wales College reopened its classes yesterday for the 80th term since it was founded. 199 girls and 88 boys enrolled for first year work in the 1939-40 class.

The enrollment so far this year is approximately 430 as compared with a total of 510 students registered last term. Last year's record number was considerably lessened owing to a number of young men having enlisted in the militia. There has been a decided increase in the number of female students registered for classes over the course of the year.

Students of the 3rd and 4th years were enrolled on Tuesday while those of the 2nd year enrolled their names on Wednesday.

Dr. G. D. Steel, principal of the institution announced that there were several boys enrolled who are connected with the militia and may be called to their country's defence before the term is completed.

Nothing definite is known in regard to changes in staff but Mr. Alfred Linklater, a former member of the faculty has returned to the teaching staff.

undisclosed strength landed in France and presumably was at the front or on the way. British officers conferred with the French high command on further moves in the plan to harass Germany to ease the pressure on Poland.

Prime Minister Chamberlain told the House of Commons the nation could 'rest assured' that the navy would 'concentrate on air control.' Germany's submarine raiders. He warned that a certain percentage of losses to shipping would be expected.

The Admiralty reported 128 dead or missing from the British liner Athenia, sunk off the coast of Ireland Sunday night. Mr. Chamberlain said the vessel was the victim of German U-boats.

It was believed most of the victims were Canadians.

Two Freighters Sunk

The British freighter Manara was sunk 100 miles off Portugal. The 46 survivors said the vessel was torpedoed. Forty of the crew were missing; two others were known to be dead.

The United States liner Washington reported to radiogram in New York the rescue of 33 crew members of the Olivegrove, a Scottish freighter which the message said was torpedoed about 200 miles northwest of Spain.

The Royal Air Force was reported by Mr. Chamberlain to have made at least two hits in its attack on German ships in the Kiel Canal.

Italy's position of 'watchful neutrality' remained unchanged. 'There were indications discussions were under way to eliminate possible friction between Great Britain and Italy.'

Premier Mussolini still was represented as ready to act in a peace-maker role in the event of a speedy cessation of hostilities by Italy's Axis partner, Germany. Authoritative sources in London, however, said the Government was determined to wipe out 'Hitler-Russia's policy of 'neutrality from capitulative warmongers' was praised at meetings in Moscow.

The British ministry of information announced that Japan had informed Britain she 'does not intend to be involved' in Europe's new war.

EMERGENCY

One question absorbing all members was whether or not Canada, as a free nation within the British Commonwealth, would make a declaration of war against Germany or if Parliament would merely assume that Canada is automatically at war with any country which Great Britain is at war. This point may be cleared up tomorrow.

The Throne Speech said estimates would be presented to provide for the expenditure of $2,913,930 for the military, naval and air services of Canada, which now exists, but did not specifically say Canada was at war.

OTTAWA, Sept. 7 (CP)—Correspondence leading up to the outbreak of war was laid before members of Parliament today in a white paper tabled in the House of Commons by Prime Minister Mackenzie King.

It was reported an important special duty awaited the former king who has not seen his homeland in almost three years. Nature of the secret surrounded the time of departure and the route.

CANNES, France, Sept. 7 (AP)—The Duke and Duchess of Windsor will return to England tomorrow, a spokesman announced today.

OTTAWA, Sept. 7 (CP)—Copy of an order-in-council providing for the expenditure of $2,913,930 for the military, naval and air services of Canada, was tabled today in the Commons. It was passed on Aug. 24 and approved by His Excellency the next day.

Chief appropriation was $7,500,000 for the air services, including $5,000,000 to purchase airplanes.

The appropriation for the forms required for documentation of personnel in the event of mobilization was $100,000.

The separate order-in-council provided that the limitations imposed by the defence purchases, profits control and financing act, 1939, should apply to the expenditure of the $2,913,930 for the air services.

In the order-in-council it is stated that the defence minister, Hon. W. D. Mackenzie King, said that the purchases contemplated could not be carried out if the act were to be applied.

PROFITEERING PENALTIES ARE OUTLINED

Order-in-Council Creating New Board Tabled Yesterday In Parliament.

OTTAWA, Sept. 7 (CP)—The wartime prices and trade board will have power to seize any supply of food, fuel or other necessary of life it deems to be 'unreasonably withheld from the market,' according to the order in council creating the board.

Tabled in Parliament today, the order in council clearly defines the powers of the new non-profiteering board, establishes regulations for sale, supply and distribution of the necessities of life, and announces a penalty of up to $5,000 fine or up to two years imprisonment for infraction of the regulations.

The board may seize any hoarded supply and reimburse the owner through a price fixed by a superior court judge after arbitration.

Cooperation with manufacturers, wholesalers, distributors and retailers will be sought to assure a constant supply of the necessities of life at reasonable prices.

No person shall have full power to issue licenses for the sale, supply and distribution of such necessities, as well as to fix maximum prices or markings of profit, to the amount that may be sold or purchased by any person and to itself buy and sell supplies through agencies by the board.

Hector B. MacKinnon, Commissioner of Tariff, is chairman of the board, and the other two members also senior civil servants are David S. M. McGregor, Commissioner of Excise, and F. A. McGregor, Commissioner of the Combines Investigation Act.

Anti-boarding regulations will affect the ordinary householder as well as his merchant, wholesaler and manufacturer.

No person shall accumulate or withhold from sale any necessary of life beyond an amount thereof reasonably required for the use or consumption of household or for the ordinary purposes of his business," the regulation declares.

Penalties for violation of board regulations provide for a fine up to $5,000 or imprisonment of up to two years, or both.

Hoboes Provide Laughs In New Autry Film At The Capitol

An exciting western drama of Gene Autry's fight to keep an unscrupulous resort owner from getting control of a whole valley, is 'Mountain Rhythm,' which opened yesterday at the Capitol Theatre. In 'Mountain Rhythm,' Walter Penner is seen as the resort owner who demands that the government grazing grounds be put up at auction, hoping to gain control of them himself so he can turn them into a vast tourist mecca. Maude Eburne, as the aunt of Smiley Burnette, is one of the ranchers who are dependent upon these grounds, and when she calls for help, Gene Autry and Smiley find a bunch of good-natured hoboes who turn cow-punchers on request. The way in which this group brings justice to the plains is both exciting and amusing.

Gene sings, fights, and rides in excellent style, and Smiley Burnette turns in a swell job as the comedy relief. June Storey is both pretty and effective in the top feminine role. Others performing capably in lesser roles are Maude Eburne, Walter Penner, Ferris Taylor, Jack Ingram and Jack Pennick.

000 Liner Bremen, pride of the German Merchant Fleet, remained a mystery. Berlin sources have said she reached a neutral port unharmed after sailing from New York eight days ago and it was rumored in Berlin yesterday that she was at the Russian port of Murmansk.

leaved in these quarters to have swung out on an irregular curve bulging out near Luxembourg and flattening back near Bielefeld.

This whole area on the German side, is fortified only by light trenches, temporary positions in advance of the Siegfried Line. North of Karlsruhe, the German main line of fortifications lie several miles behind the frontier.

Indications from the terse French military communiqués were that as soon as large raiding parties had consolidated their positions on the French side of the frontier, the order was given for an advance on similar German positions across the boundary.

British Tommies to Front Announcement of the arrival of British forces in France and of conferences between Major-General Sir Edmund Ironside, chief of the British Imperial General Staff, and General Maurice Gamelin, commander-in-chief of all French forces, were regarded generally as meaning British Tommies to be moved to the frontier.

Gamelin, who is slated to be commander-in-chief of the combined British and French land forces, was assumed to have consulted on plans for joint action.

Air Marshal Sir Cyril Newall and General Joseph Vieuxlemin, also attended the conference.

Paris Shows Relief Paris showed signs of relief tonight as more than 24 hours passed without the warning chink of air raid sirens. Semi-official indications were that the sirens would not be sounded in the future when enemy planes crossed the frontier but only in case of a seeming immediate danger of a raid on Paris.

Premier Daladier, meanwhile, was expected shortly to announce a national union—all party cabinet.

The state of the British forces which have been landing in France since early this week were not known but they were expected to be in position to throw their weight into battle within a few days.

The Government indicated the crossing of the Britons was accomplished without difficulty. It was preceded by the arrival of British air fleets which are operating from French air bases in co-operation with the French.

NEUTRALITY NOT POSSIBLE TORONTO, Sept. 7 (CP)—Hon. H. J. Cody president of the University of Toronto, said today that Canada could not and would not remain neutral in the present war.

Our own self respect demands it, our self interest demands it, our own gratitude to the motherland, from whose loins we sprang, demands it," he told the Canadian and travellers' day luncheon.

Potato Prices Advance On Toronto Mart

TORONTO, Sept. 7 (CP)—The price of potatoes advanced 20 cents for a 75-pound bag today, biggest boost in this area during the last year. Wholesalers are paying $1 to $1.10 a bag, compared with 45 and 50 cents a few days ago.

Dealers say the rise is due to the fact that farmers are not shipping to the market and seem to be holding for higher prices.

VERSATILE PLAYERS

MELBOURNE (CP)—Don Bradman, Australian cricket ace, has won the South Australian squash championship, defeating D. P. Turnbull, a Davis Cup tennis player.

OTTAWA, Sept. 7 (CP)—Copy of an order-in-council providing for the expenditure of $2,913,930 for the military, naval and air services of Canada, was tabled today in the Commons. It was passed on Aug. 24 and approved by His Excellency the next day.
