

Despite the rain last Thursday night, we still managed to brighten up the race track at the Biology Club Pace. It wasn't a very nice night to be out, but on behalf of the Executive, many thanks go out to all club members who came and worked at the ticket booths, as well as to everyone who sold raffle tickets during the past few weeks. We managed to make a good profit thanks to everyone's hard work. And those who did show up at the C.D.P. were lucky enough to stand on the track in the rain and mud for a photo with the winner of Race #11 - Macho George, who proudly wore the 1990 Biology Club cooler off the track and to the stables.

Biologists,
Working together to make a difference.

The Biorhythms pages are lucky enough to have our own feature cartoonist who will provide us with entertainment and a laugh every couple of weeks. The talent of a biologist seems to be unlimited!

The Dork (Engineer.)

Keep checking the Biorhythms every week because we've got some interesting additions planned.

- Look for:
- an upcoming article on our environment
 - a regular mini-Bio-profile on several of our interesting students and professors.
 - Bio club "Charities of the week".

We've got open minds so if there is anything you Bio's think that the rest of the campus should know about us, let us know!!
