ICE SPORTS RIBBON WINNER

The first race of the evening at Queen Charlotte High School's annual ice sports last night may not have been the hardest to win, but nevertheless, Sharon Callbeck, earned herself the first red ribbon of the evening. Sharon skated to victory in the 11-year-old race for girls and was handed her prize by William Boyles. Hundreds of school children turned out to see and take part in the various events. Many were a little disappointed, however, as the opposing team, Birchwood High School won out over the home team by a score of 7-1. (See sports page for results.)

A former minister of the Kirk of St. James in Charlottetown, Rev. Dr. William Orr Mulligan, passed away at the Masonic Home in Windsor, N.S., on Jan. 22.

Dr. Mulligan, a native of Belfast, Northern Ireland, came to Canada as a young man, settling in Winnipeg where he worked as a sports reporter for the Winnipeg Free Press and attended Manitoba University. Graduating in both Law and Arts, he entered the Presbyterian ministry, completing his theological studies at Princeton, and served in mission fields in Alberta and Saskatchewan.

He accepted his first charge in Bedford, N.S., in 1914, and in 1922 was called to St. James Church, Charlottetown, where he took an active part in ensuring a continuing Presbyterian Church during church union. He was later minister of St. Andrew Church, Sydney Mines, N.S., and served as moderator of the Maritime Synod.

Coming to Montreal in 1939, Dr. Mulligan was minister of Melville Presbyterian Church, Westmount, for 18 years. He served a further 12 years as minister of St. Andrew's Church, Aurora, Ont., before his retirement in 1958. Moving to Halifax, he served as Port Chaplain for the Presbyterian Church for a further two years.

Dr. Mulligan played a prominent part with the board of education of the Presbyterian Church, and in recognition of his services, was awarded an honorary DD from the Presbyterian College of McGill University in 1938.

He was predeceased by his wife, the former Amaret Cairns, two years ago. Surviving are his two sons, Dr. William Orr, Jr., of Saint John, N.B., and Thomas C. of Guelph, Ont. Also surviving are three sisters, Mrs. William Macleod, of Berkeley, Calif.; Mrs. John Craig, of Winnipeg, and Margaret, of Wales, and a brother Frederick, of Belfast.

Funeral services were held at the Church of St. John and St. Stephen, Saint John, N.B. on Jan. 26, with burial later in St. James Cemetery, Big Bras D'or, Cape Breton.

Caterpillars Showing Up

It seemed as if there was a touch of spring in the air Thursday, and apparently caterpillars thought so too, as Mary Elizabeth Roberts found a black and brown woolly one exploring the front lawn.

Mary Elizabeth, 10, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Derek Roberts, Brackley Point Road.

On charges of having possession of intoxicating liquor in a place other than their respective residences, one accused was fined $25 and costs and another $20 and costs, in both cases the alternative was 30 days in jail.

A lone drunk and incapable was sentenced to 20 days in Queens County jail.

Resolution Asks Opposition To Spread Of Nuclear Arms

A resolution asking that the Home and School associations go on record as "being opposed to the spread of nuclear weapons to countries not now possessing them." was introduced at a meeting of the Rochford Square Home and School Association Thursday night.

It is intended to present the resolution at the annual meeting of the Canadian Federation of Home and School Associations to be held in Saskatoon in May.

The resolution is to be considered by the Rochford Square Home and School Association and a vote will be taken on the matter at the association's next meeting.

The guest speaker was Dr. Malcolm Beck, who spoke on the "slow learner." He noted that a survey on the reading ability of grade six pupils showed about one-third had a reading problem.

He said that in such cases the most good could be done at the grade three level because "early diagnosis can make up for the loss fairly readily.

"This could be done in auxiliary classes with special instruction in reading and particularly in phonics. Teachers and parents should press for this special help," he said.

The meeting concluded with lunch, served by the social committee under the leadership of Mrs. Allison Croken.

Election Date Speculation Is Feature Of New Session

By
Mrs. Margaret Macdonald
MP for Kings

Each Session of Parliament has its own particular character, and this fifth session of Canada's 24th Parliament already shows the most definite characteristics.

The greetings were as warm as ever between Liberals and Conservatives, Senators and Members and the Staff, but every greeting was coupled with the question "When is the election"?

Of all those asking this question, those most directly affected are the M.P's who each must face a test of their popularity in order to carry on the business in which they have become deeply involved and engrossed. There is something of a pre-battle element in the fact that certain Members will not return to their offices again after this session ends. Their files and personal treasures and souvenirs will be removed, and in some cases they may never have occasion to come back to Parliament Hill, or even to Ottawa.

UNUSUAL TENSIONS

It is understandable then that there are unusual tensions and undercurrents in Parliament this year, because it is an accepted fact that there will be a Federal general election within a year. Indeed it is constitutionally obligatory that there should be one within fifteen months. This still leaves the Prime Minister plenty of opportunity for choice of date. No doubt the guessing game will go on and on, but it is really just a game superficially. The Prime Minister looks and listens and studies and weighs factors from all the provinces, all Departments of Government, and indeed all countries of the world. There are few, if any, amongst the guessers who could or would wish to carry the weight of responsibility involved in this decision. There seems to be just about as many reasons why the date should be in Spring as in the Fall.

There is no escaping the continuous effect of this undetermined date, even in the midst of the formality and hospitality of the traditional Opening of Parliament, it pressed in upon the general conversation. On other occasions, the very beautiful gowns were admired exclusively, and exchange of family and friendly news was the order of the day. Yesterday this again seemed secondary to the question "When is the election?"

WORKMANLIKE SPEECH

To the surprise of the Opposition, the Throne Speech itself was a moderate workmanlike forecast of the coming business. The first Opposition criticism showed the difficulty of finding anything objectionable. The headline in next morning's paper "Speech Disappoints Pearson and Argue" was as mild a criticism as most people have seen of any Government.

Whatever the later debates bring forth, there cannot help but be a general welcome to the 'highlights' of the coming legislation.

I am glad to be a part of a Government which includes in its program:

Increased Federal grants to Universities.

Increased old age pensions,

Increased educational aid to children of war dead,

Reform of the Senate,

Enlarged program of aid to Municipal Winter Works projects,

Broadened scope of the Small Business Loans Act,

Increased Incentives to Scientific Research by industry.

Gov't Is Planning Plumbing Code
