

Are Children of Divorce Poor Marriage Risks?

Dear Mary Haworth: I am enclosing a clipping of a newspaper article that contains the first statement...

substantial, perhaps growing percentage of sons and daughters of stay-up parents enter...

I am wondering if this statement is backed by evidence or based on fancy? This isn't the first time I have encountered...

Also, that many children of divorce are not only lively intelligently, tend to react...

Frankly, I take it as a personal insult and feel it is quite unjustified. I know at least...

I would expect to find, furthermore, that the children brought to light and presented...

At you may have guessed, my parents were divorced. It was during the depression years of the 1930s...

Human nature being what it is, the child, especially the indifferent, some divorces are a constructive necessity...

My point is that as a result of their divorce, my brother and I feel more strongly about keeping our own homes intact...

Incidentally we are childless of divorce, and would hardly want to see any child so clearly her loneliness and unhappiness in these later years...

The mother of the bride received baskets of red and pink roses and summer flowers decorated the sanctuary for the double ring ceremony...

Dear Y.S.: The statement which you object is a cliché that has been kicking around since the early days of the family life for a generation...

For travelling the bride dressed in white lace jacket and blue and white accessories. She wore a corsage of pink roses...

My advice is, take all such articles with a grain of salt. If you suffer from explosive anger, you should get a divorce...

Both the bride and groom are graduates of the staff of the Guardian-Partridge...

The Rev. J. S. Kennedy officiated at the double ring ceremony and the wedding music was played by Mrs. Orval Smith...

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Ward of Saint John, N.B., and Dr. O. J. Hart of Tillsonburg, Ont. who were unable to attend the wedding...

After a short honeymoon in Southern Ontario, the couple returned to Charlottetown, P.E.I. where the groom is employed...
