LAST COFFEE HOUSE OF THE YEAR

As the year comes to a close with finals approaching, so does the Exchange coffee house. Since the Exchange began, last fall, it has had more than a dozen 'successful' coffee houses. The reason I say successful, is that the Exchange did not fail to provide something for its patrons, although there were some troublesome nights.

The Exchange was, at least, a place for those people who needed a break in their student lives just to meet others. With lots of coffee, tea and delicious cookies on hand, along with a few checker boards and packs of cards everyone could relax and enjoy the evening.

Every night there was one or two films from NFB and occasionally a local poet or author would come and read from their works. One night a few members of the drama society put on a skit. And anyone who came to the Exchange would have heard some good music by local performers.

It was the generosity of these performers, who gave freely of their time and talents to share with others, that made the Exchange a real success! The UPEI Student Union funded the coffee, tea and cookies, and the maintenance and audio visual dept. helped out in any way they could. Also the Sun newspaper.

There were others who helped set up and cleaned up afterwards as well as write articles. The chaplains gave us the use of the centre. I'd like to give special thanks to Steve Skutt, for without his support the Exchange would have folded for sure. You are all beautiful, thanks very much!

As it was a success, the Exchange has been well worthwhile. I sincerely hope that next year some students will get together to make sure that a similiar coffee house gets going!

It has been difficult to print anything in the past about the Exchange beforehand because nearly always there were changes. But now I'd like to tell you about the last two coffee houses. On March 29 music will be supplied by Peter and Junior a couple of guys from Holland College, Len Mihkalik and friends will be getting together to do some numbers, and Sean Mooney will provide some good music also.

On Wednesday April 5 at 8pm Jean-Marie MacDonald will be backed up by some very good musicians from the UPEI music department. Steve Love, Paul Broadbent, Margie Carmichel and Teresa Doyle will be there to share their talents as well as a very good musician by the name of Mike Mooney will be providing some very fine music!

It should be a really worthwhile night for anyone who would like to drop by the Chaplaincy Centre. I think it will be a great way to end the year!

Have a good day!
