GEORGE COLES, Col. Sec'y.

A good thing comes to us from the Irish capital, showing that the gallery wits have not died out entirely. There was a tremendous uproar in the upper regions of the theatre, owing to the persistence of a gentleman in an elevated state, in making remarks that were not to the point, or of a highly critical character, also upon his determination to occupy a front seat, a seat in the second row, and one in the third, all to himself. At length a universal cry of indignation arose, and the suggestion to "chuck him over" was carried nem. con. The hoisting process was beginning, let us hope with a view to striking terror into his soul, when a "gentleman" at the side of the gallery, the "slips," exclaimed in stentorian tones, "Boys, boys, don't ye be extravagant, don't do it now; pass him along here and let me economise him by dropping him on a fiddler and settling his business at the same time." Good nature was restored and peace, everybody enjoying the joke but the fiddler, who, looking up in a fright, was hailed with three cheers.

—All sufferers from sores, ulcers, scorbutic affections and skin diseases may confidently commence the treatment of their several infirmities with these healing and cleansing remedies. Under Holloway's well tried medicaments the worst cases will soon assume a more kindly aspect, and in the progress, of the cure the afflicted will neither be embarrassed by difficulties nor disheartened by failures. A little perseverance and moderate attention to the "direction for use" enveloping each packet of Ointment and Pills, will enable every invalid to cure himself, and to conduct his complaint to a successful issue; and he may feel assured that by following this simple but searching treatment his skin will be made sound, severe suffering spared, and health restored.
