IN CONFEDERATION COSTUME

Mr. and Mrs. Felix J. A. Gallant of Egmont Bay took top honors in the couples' division in conjunction with the centennial celebration opening at Evangeline Regional High School. Abram's Village, Wednesday night. An overflow crowd packed the auditorium and halls of the school to enjoy the evening of song, dance and display of some fine old-fashioned costumes similar to what had been worn when the Fathers of Confederation met in Charlottetown in 1864.

ISLAND NEWS PAGE

Calgary Report Draws Reaction

The other paper in Calgary, Alberta, The Albertan has described the people of Prince Edward Island as "the friendliest people on earth." after uncomplimentary comments and quotations made in a news item by another Cagary sports columnist.

The article carried in the Albertan, written by Ted Thonger, praised the treatment received by the visitors to Charlottetown.

At the same time Mayor H.C. Lindsay of Kentville, N.S. said Charlottetown's hospitality is "far beyond anyone's expectations" while fans of the Brier, seemingly for the first time, noticed a sign erected by the visiting Hanover, Ont. rink next to Ontario's coat of arms at the Forum, saying "Thanks Charlottetown for hospitality. Hanover Ontario."

High up in his column published today Mr. Thonger included this passage:

"Leaving Charlottetown will mean breaking away from newly formed friendships with a populace which can only be described as "the friendliest people on earth". Man woman or child, not one of them has failed his first obligation to the human race. We have been treated as royally as is possible at every turn and will leave this Island with the knowledge that these kindly people have indeed shared in the purpose of the Brier — to bring more closely together the East and the West."

In part, Mayor Lindsay's statement said:

"The hospitality and the efficient manner in which the host clubs of Charlottetown, the Macdonald Tobacco Company, and the executive of the Dominion Curling Association are conducting this competition is far beyond anyone's expectation, and they are to be congratulated on a job well done."

The emperor Chih Shi Huang Ti, who united China in the third century BC, built the Great Wall, a rampart nearly 2,000 miles long.

TENSE MOMENTS

chance to redeem themselves. The Richardsons had lost their all important morning draw to the Dagg rink and they lost it in hard way for champions — on nothing more than poor curling. They knew it themselves and Skip Ernie Richardson in his usually quiet way, shaking his head as his own game fell apart at the seams.

But that loss set the stage for the tremendously exciting final game for the Island rink. Saskatchewan then had two losses, British Columbia and Ontario All the latter had to do to take home the prize was beat lowly Prince Edward Island.

It is true that the West Coast four did just that, but there is more than a sneaking suspicion they 'backed into' the title when the breaks followed. It was a shattering blow for Islanders, but they can look with more than pride — perhaps even a trace of awe — at the truly tremendous game the Burke rink showed Canada yesterday.

The four Islanders were nothing short of magnificent as they matched shot for shot, strategy for strategy, and courage for courage. On the day's play Lyall Orr's second and his main load to be true champions to win.

The Islanders showed beautiful draw shots, perfect take-outs, some marvellous double takeouts and solid judgment. In the early ends they shocked visiting newsmen, stunned the British rink and the 1,500 Islanders in near hysterics. It was an incredibly wonderful display and all the more remarkable in that it was so utterly unexpected.

After seven ends of scrimping and saving points the Islanders were ahead 5-2 and it looked as though all plans for presentation of the awards would be washed out. People planning on leaving town the last night were hurriedly changing the plans; radio and television crews working to a strict time schedule were going quietly crazy.

ROCKED BY THREE

Then suddenly the local rink was rocked by a big three racked up by British Columbia. Then they fell one behind and Islanders' hearts took courage showed. The boys fought back on an even footing and drew a roar of applause as they again took the lead. But the two westerners were far from through. With a fine effort they once again tied it up in the normally final end.

Then came the fateful 13th and the superb game the locals had been displaying failed. Bobby Dillon, one of the most tremendous performers of the Brier and truly a magnificent curler all afternoon, missed on successive shots. Then Orr threw rocks on the mate and the skip and it looked as though the pressure was finally too much building up all day became too great.

By that time every curler in the Brier was watching with bated breath and the teams from the west coast had literally hanging on each rock thrown. Someday they may see better curling but it is doubtful they will see any greater sports drama.
