J. S. CARVELL, Charlottetown, Feb. 10, 1865.

[EXTRACTS FROM NEWSPAPERS] On reference to a return made to Parliament, and ordered by the House of Commons to be printed, 7th June, 1861, it will be seen that the increase of Duty for the year ending on the 31st December, 1861, was upwards of £1000 more than paid by any other office yet established in this City.

[From the General Advertiser, Oct. 2, 1861.] "Indeed, we believe that we are perfectly justified in saying that no other Company, within the scope of the present year, has done more for the Fire or Life Departments as the Queen Insurance Company. In making this statement, we make no exception in favor of our own office, but of the Royal and the Lancashire Insurance Companies."

[From the Liverpool Mercury, Nov. 2, 1861.] "Among these important institutions stands eminent for its solidity, as well as for its success, 'the Queen Insurance Company,' which has not only held its annual meeting of proprietors in Liverpool, but has also held its annual meeting in another place, which will fully satisfy every reasonable mind, and prove that the success is, indeed, rarely attained, and it attests at once the excellence of its management, and the public confidence in its existing state."

[From the Liverpool Mercury, Nov. 2, 1861.] "It must be gratifying to the public generally, and especially to the proprietors, to find that its income during the past three years has increased at the rate of £200,000 per annum, and that it has not only done so, but has done so in a manner which has not only increased its income, but has also increased its business, and has also increased its reputation, and has also increased its credit, and has also increased its influence, and has also increased its power, and has also increased its authority, and has also increased its respectability, and has also increased its honor, and has also increased its glory, and has also increased its fame, and has also increased its renown, and has also increased its reputation, and has also increased
