"FIRST IN THE FIELD."—James Paton & Co. are first in the field with spring clothing for spring and summer, 1892. Their large clothing room is filled with new goods, prices to suit everybody.

A NEW feature has been added to the GUARDIAN—that of publishing the weather reports, which we receive each day by telegram from Washington. Those interested in the weather will find them reliable.

We learn that Rev. Mr. McMillan, pastor of the Malpeque congregation, returned from Pictou in poor health, not being able to preach Sunday. Rev. Alex. Stirling, of Clifton, is also laid aside through illness.

ON account of the storm yesterday the Stanley did not leave Georgetown. Mails and passengers left here at 9 o'clock last night for Georgetown and the Stanley will leave for Pictou early this morning, should the weather permit.

MR. JOHN McKIE of New London, who is well known by many in Ch'town, left for Georgetown last evening en route to Victoria, British Columbia. Several other young men from the same settlement intend leaving for the West in the early spring.

It is to be deeply regretted that in a city like Charlottetown there are a number of lads who so forget themselves as to disturb the comfort of those attending public gatherings. The conduct of some youths, at the Lyceum on Tuesday night, deserves the severest condemnation.

A TUPPENY-hapenny case of disorderly conduct was disposed of at the police court Wednesday. A young man and woman accused of frequenting and keeping a house of ill fame, respectively were remanded until Monday. An assault case was also adjourned to Monday, to enable the prosecutor to obtain evidence. An Indian charged with being drunk and disorderly appears this morning.

OBITUARY.—Crapaud has lost one of her best respected and most upright men in the death of Mr. George Oakes, which occurred at his home in Westmoreland on Saturday the 13th inst. Mr. Oakes had been ailing for about a year and a half, but it was only within the last few months his friends became apprehensive that an inward trouble which he complained of would result in death. The deceased was a quiet, unassuming christian man, in the prime of life, and his loss will be keenly felt by his widow and eleven children, together with a large circle of relatives and friends who are left to mourn.

"REV. CHARLES HADDEN SPURGEON."—The whole religious world is profoundly startled and affected by his lingering illness and death. For more than a quarter of a century he has preached to 6,000 people on Sunday mornings and evenings, and classes from the Prince to the Pictou, have been among his hearers. Mr. Spurgeon has been the marvel of his age, and his name is a household word in every quarter of the globe. Bold, earnest, elegant and pathetic, he had a

The Hockey Contest.

The Hockey tournament in the Rink Wednesday night attracted a large crowd. Doubtless the GUARDIAN's bulletin announcing 'the best game on earth' aroused the curiosity of many, and we feel sure the unanimous verdict of those in attendance was that if Hockey is not the best game on earth it is the best game on ice.

At 8 o'clock the band struck up, which was the signal for preparation. The skaters shot out on their skates at 8.10, and the referee started the game, which at once was heartily entered upon. The Easts were known by their white jerseys, and the West by their dark blue. After a series of brilliant rushes, the first game was secured by the West. The second game was immediately started and hotly contested until the puck was sent sliding between goal posts, scoring first game for East. The game again proceeded with increasing interest, some magnificent exhibitions of speed and skill on both sides being shown, until half time was called. Games, East 2, West 1.

After an intermission of ten minutes, during which the ice was scraped, the contestants resumed their places, and the puck was again sped from side to side. In a short time a scrimmage took place in front of the goal, from which the puck was sent through by the West. The fifth game was again taken by the East, and the sixth for the West, making the game a tie. Now came the tug of war, and for 30 minutes the contestants put forth their utmost strength and skill amid the cheers and prolonged applause of the eager interested spectators. The puck at one time would be dangerously near the goal, next, near the other, then sent spinning through the centre. Some brilliant shots were stopped by the goal keepers on either side. Finally, just four minutes before time was called the eastern men scored their fourth and winning game amid frantic howls and tremendous cheering by the onlookers. No further scoring occurred, and when the referee blew his whistle the score stood—East 4, West 3. During the contest the Citizens' Band played choice and spirited selections, which seemed to inspire the energies of the players to extra efforts (if possible) and materially added to the enjoyment of the evening. Every body was pleased with the games and people are already enquiring when the return match is to come off.

Surprise Party and Presentation.

The inmates of the Manse at Bloomfield were quite taken by surprise by an inflow of visitors on the evening of the 21st of January last. The visitors came from all parts of the community around. Ladies and gentlemen as they were, it was soon quite manifest that a conspiracy was in the air. Resistance on the part of the pastor and his family being impossible, these were nothing for them to do but to submit to the inevitable.

The ladies at once began to move towards the kitchen, and soon the dining-room was cleared, tables spread, and laden down with every conceivable good thing to please the taste and tempt the appetite of the least hungry. However, the ladies were not to have all their own way. In the midst of their bustle and joviality, the company was called to order by James Barclay, Esq., of O'Leary, who came forward to announce what may be regarded as the most important part of the programme for the evening. Stepping into the parlor, and bearing on his arm a very beautiful and expensive Coon skin overcoat, he requested the attention of the Rev. Mr. Coffin, and then in a very neat and graceful address, in the name and in the behalf of the donors, who were friends throughout the whole community, he presented the coat to Mr. Coffin, as an evidence of their kindly feelings towards him as a pastor, and as a renewed token of their confidence in him as a man and faithful minister of the Gospel. The rev. gentleman accepted the gift, and briefly replied to the address. Putting the coat upon him, he hoped it would always keep him as warm as the hearts of those who gave it. He recognized the suitability and value of the present for its own sake, and was devoutly thankful to God and the donors, for the forbearing and charitable attitude of the congregation and the community towards him, ever since he came to reside among them. He only wished he could be more worthy of their regard, and more helpful to them in a religious way than ever before. He thanked the audience, ladies and gentlemen, for their visit to the Manse. Mr. Barclay for his encouraging words and his kindly references to Mrs. C. and family. Dr. McLaughlin, John Beston and A. S. Gordon Esqrs., who formed the committee having the matter in charge, and all others whether present or absent, who were always so ready in so many ways to deny themselves for the comfort and welfare of the inmates of the Bloomfield Manse. After tea, and an evening spent pleasantly and profitably together, the visitors departed to their homes well pleased with themselves and all the world, being assured also of the good wishes and prayers of the pastor and his family.—Con.

MR. S. COOK has been obliged to give up digging mussel mud from the harbor. After raising two car loads last week the digger began to sink through the ice and he abandoned the work. The ice in the harbor is not sufficiently strong to travel on with safety which is very inconvenient for the Bedeque people who are compelled to do their hauling around the road.

WE take pleasure in noting the marriage of Mr. Frank Murphy, a wealthy farmer of China Point, Queen's County, to Miss Doyle, daughter of Peter Doyle, Esq., Lot 1, on Monday last by Rev. Dougall McDonald, at Tignish. Mr. John Gaffney of this town had the pleasure of entertaining the happy couple at dinner at his residence, Central street, previous to their departure for the city on Tuesday.

A NARROW ESCAPE.—A few days ago, at Kensington, when the children were returning home from school, a young man named Newton McNeil rode his horse swiftly through the crowd. All managed to get out of his way except a six-year-old son of Mr. John Anderson's, of the firm of Anderson Bros. This little fellow not noticing the horse in time to get out of his way was knocked down, one hoof of the horse grazing the boy's head. Fortunately he received no serious injury.

THE annual business meeting of the Y. M. C. A. was held at their rooms on Tuesday evening. The Secretary's statement showed the association to be on a good financial standing.
