THE DAILY EXAMINER
NOVEMBER 8, 1899.
ARBITRATION VERSUS PUBLIC WORKS.

It would be well for the people of Belfast and Murray Harbor to enquire who have been their friends on the railway question? An examination of the memorials of the Provincial Government and discussions in the Federal Parliament, sets that question easily and entirely at rest. All the Grit Premiers in succession—Peters, Warburton and Farquharson—steadily advocated a scheme of arbitration for the settlement of all questions between the Province and the Dominion, including an amount claimed by them on account of expenditures by Canada on railways on the mainland. The award of the arbitrators, if favorable to P. E. Island, would result in a cash payment to the Provincial Government, to enable them to launch into further reckless expenditure. Arbitration, arbitration, and cash for Peters, Warburton and Farquharson, etc., was the cry in 1897, 1898 and even in 1899. The memorials are all on record.
They tell the whole story. They did not contain one word in favor of the Belfast and Murray Harbor Railway. Arbitration was the Provincial Grit policy, and the new Attorney-General (without a constituency) faithfully supported it. That is the true explanation of his objection to pass a railway resolution at the High Bank meeting.

The Conservative policy has been, and is now, a steady and firm demand for the construction of public works in P. E. Island, and with them the railway to Murray Harbor was always placed in the front.

In 1895, Mr. A. C. McDonald, M. P., used the following language in the House of Commons:

"I am entirely opposed to any amount being granted to the Local Government of Prince Edward Island until its public works are attended to."

Here is what Mr. Martin, M. P., said in 1897 in the House of Commons:

"The proposal made by the Premier, (Peters) is to refer the question of communication with Prince Edward Island and the mainland, and the railway, as well as other claims, to arbitration. * * * I object to the claims of the Island in regard to railway construction being referred to arbitration."

Speaking in the Senate in 1897 Senator Ferguson said:

"In my capacity as a member of the House, I want to protest against the Premier's (Peters) proposal to refer the matter of railway construction in Prince Edward Island to any arbitration whatever. * * * I contend that that subject should be dealt with in Prince Edward Island precisely as it has been dealt with in every other Province of Canada."

These extracts show plainly that a keen struggle was going on. Memorial after memorial was sent to Ottawa. Delegation followed delegation. Peters, Warburton H. C. McDonald, Richards and Farquhar-son were there,—some of them more than once,—and the record shows that they were after money. They are not children.
They knew that they could not eat their loaf and have it: and Mr. D. A. McKinnon was their obedient and humble supporter.

Mr. D. A. McKinon said recently a Murray Harbor, that he made Peters abandon the arbitration policy. It would be much safer for the Attorney-General to hold his peace. Peters died, politically, with his arbitration heresy unrecanted.
Warburton took it up, and swore by it in 1898; Farquharson rolled it like a sweet morsel under his tongue in 1899,—and all this while Mr.
D. A. McKinon was their faithful supporter. His Murray Harbor speech shows, however, that he was aware that the arbitration scheme was hostile to the railway.

During all this time, Sir Louis Davies was wavering between the two sides. He pledged himself at Murray River, in 1896, to build the Belfast Railway. But in 1897, he forwarded Mr. Peters' demand for arbitration to the Cabinet, with a plea for favorable consideration. Mr. Arthur Peters' statement at Murray Harbor explains his present apparent decision in favour of the railway. "I told Sir Louis," said Mr. Peters, "that if he did not build the railway he would lose East Queen's and probably the whole Island." That was the effectual rub. But it came too late.
He may build the railway—and that is doubtful,—but he will still lose East Queen's and the whole Island. The people of East Queen's know whom they have to thank for the railway, and "the whole Island" has weighed Sir Louis in the balances and found him wanting.

In regard to the Transvaal contingent Sir Wilfrid Laurier only escapes from being ridiculous when he eschews Mr. Tarte and accepts instructions from Sir Charles Tupper. So in regard to the Belfast Railway, Sir Louis' wisest friend advises him to adopt the policy of Senator Ferguson and Mr. Martin or he will lose the whole Island. Evidently we have a Dominion Cabinet of great men;—a and remarkably astute and consistent Attorney General in Prince Edward Island.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.
—President Schurman recommends that the Sultan of Sulu "should maintain an American of good standing as a confidential adviser at his court, to aid him in the work of material development for which the beautiful group of islands is rich and which is bound to come when they are thrown into touch with the civilized world." This suggestion is in strict accordance with British precedent.

ESTEEMED EXCHANGES.
London Times: It is not the first time we have been without news of a force harassed by an enemy of much greater numerical strength, nor the first time the Continental alarmists have seized the opportunity to point a moral and adorn a tale of the joyfully predicted but non-resultant British catastrophe.

Montreal Gazette: What Sir Wilfrid Laurier says is always so much better than what he does that those who feel they have to declare something good about him naturally make most of his words.

PERSONAL.
The Queen has become quite a devotee to the game of patience, which serves as a recreation to distract her thoughts. She plays sometimes for four hours together, and the various members of her family and the Lady-in-Waiting or Maid-of-Honour are frequently called upon to watch her fortunes in the game.

NEWS NOTES.
To stop bleeding at the nose, cut some blotting paper about an inch square, roll it about the size of a lead pencil, and put it up the nostril that is bleeding. The bollow in it will allow the sufferer to breathe; the blood will fill the space between the tube and the nose, and will very soon coagulate and cease to flow.

Asthma Cure vs. Asthma Relief.
It is a recognized fact among those suffering from asthma that the longer they use the temporary relief asthma remedies which require to be burned, the worse they become, until it loses its effect entirely.
Clarke's Kola Compound is not among this class, but will permanently cure the worst case of asthma in from 60 to 90 days. Mr.
F. J. Palinton, proprietor of Palinton's Music Store, Vancouver, B. C., writes: "I have been a great sufferer from asthma in its worst form for over 15 years, and had consulted many physicians both in England and Canada, but obtained no relief. A friend of mine who had been cured by the Kola Compound advised me to try it, and three bottles have entirely cured me: it is now over two years since my recovery and asthma has not troubled me since; and previous to taking Clarke's Kola Compound I have many nights had to sit up nearly all night. It is truly a wonderful remedy, and it affords me much pleasure in attesting my appreciation of anything so worthy." Clarke's Kola Compound is sold by all druggists. Free sample bottle sent to any person. Mention this paper. Address The Griffiths & Macpherson Co., 124 Church
