

Why is it that nearly all aged persons are thin?
 And yet, when you think of it, what could you expect? Three score years of wear and tear are enough to make the digestion weak. Yet the body must be fed.
 In Scott's Emulsion, the work is all done; that is, the oil in it is digested, all ready to be taken into the blood. The body rests, while the oil feeds and nourishes, and the hypophosphites makes the nerves steady and strong.

The Transvaal War

Lady Churchill Anxious

It was while stopping at Esrick Park, York, that Lady Churchill heard of the heroic deeds of her son, Winston, in the affair of the Estcourt armored train and his reported capture. Without delay she took a train and hurried back to town, so as to be near whenever any fresh news came.
 A few days ago I was talking to one of his near relatives. She said: "We are very anxious about Winston. He goes as a newspaper correspondent, but we know he will go ahead of the army rather than with it, if he can. He is the most determined, pushing fellow in the world. After the Nile campaign, during which he was in the famous cavalry charge, he resigned his commission because he did not think there was going to be any more fighting. He wrote his book, which made a great success, and then fought a hard contested parliamentary election. We did not like his giving up his commission after he had made so brilliant a beginning but he thought it was time to be in parliament."
 "You have plenty of time," we told him, but he replied: "Not a bit. My father was a cabinet minister at thirty-six. If you want success you must begin early."
 "When this war broke out he was very bitter at having thrown up his commission, and was determined to get to the front, anyhow. This he was able to do by going as correspondent, for the Morning Post. That paper made him an offer of £1,000 for three months' services."
 I have seen Lady Randolph Churchill many times of late, and have seen how anxious she has been, for she knows only too well her Winston's adventurous nature.

Views of a Cape Town Man.

G. M. Alexander, a Cape Town architect, arrived from South Africa a few days ago on his way round the world. He said: "I shall return to the Cape nine months hence, in time to see the beginning of the war with the Boers. There has been no real war yet—nothing but skirmishing, though we have lost many of our best men. We who live in that country have known that the Boers have been preparing for this conflict for many years. England has not fully realized the extent of these preparations. We have lost men—not in war, for war has not yet begun—but in preliminaries. War will begin when England's fighting force arrives. With 60,000 men in the field, the natural result will not be long delayed. The Boers will be driven from the Transvaal, and Cape Colony, Natal, the Orange Free State and the Transvaal will be united."

The splendid courage of the British troops under General White at Glencoe and Elandslaagte and the success achieved at a cost in killed and wounded when struggling against superior numbers will do much, as the Ottawa Citizen remarks, to save the wounds in the way that a triumphal march of superior army corps later on could not do. At Glencoe General Symons, with the conditions at Majuba Hill reversed, defeated the enemy and died himself, with many other brave men, in doing it. That later on General Yule found the position untenable owing to the concentration of the Boer columns and had to retire on the main body in no way affected the prestige gained by that battle.

Memorial Service.

A memorial service was held at St. Luke's cathedral Halifax for Lieut. C. C. Wood, a native of that city, who was killed in a reconnaissance near Orange River Junction. General Lord William Seymour and the principal officers of the garrison and militia forces were present in uniform. In the body of the church were massed the Halifax academy cadets and the children of Morris Street school, where as a boy Lieut. Wood attended. The burial service of the Church of England was sung with ornate ritual, as is common in St. Luke's cathedral. Rev. E. P. Crawford sang the sentences. Garrison Chaplain Bullock read the scripture lesson. A sermon was preached by Bishop Courtney standing at the Episcopal throne. His lordship spoke of the sympathy from the wide dominion and the wider British empire that unites with that of Halifax people for the family of him who so nobly died fighting the empire's battles for justice and right. He died from wounds in his head and chest with his face to the foe. Lieut. Wood was held up as a pattern to the young in his obedience and his devotion to duty.

The CHARM OF BEAUTY

Not in the Features so much as in the Grace and Vitality of a Healthy Body—Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve and Blood Pills make Women Beautiful.
 There's a certain charm of beauty in the graceful, elastic movement and clear complexion of a healthy woman in which the features do not play an important part. The pale, sallow complexion and dull leaden color of the skin, dark circles under the eyes, headaches, pains in the back and sides, dull eyes, weakness, nervousness, despondency and low spirits are symptoms of weak, watery blood and improperly-nourished nerves. No woman can be beautiful until the blood is enriched and the nerves strengthened. Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food is a food for the blood and nerves. Dr. A. W. Chase's Nerve Food restores the energy and strength to a run-down system. Note your weight before using them, and the increase week by week as the brightness returns to the eyes, the color to the cheeks and the form rounds out with firm, healthy flesh, the natural result of rich, pure blood and a healthy nervous system. Face cut and facsimile signature of Dr. A. W. Chase on every box of the genuine. See a box, all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

Branford, Nov.—Mr. R. S. Tuttle, proprietor of the American Hotel, here, and lessee of Stratford Opera House, is one of the best known and most popular men in the country. His opinion carries a vast amount of weight and consequently the following letter written by him will have great influence in changing certain prejudices still existing in some minds.
 "I wish to say that Dodd's Kidney Pills did me any amount of good, and the cure in my case. Bright's Disease, has been entirely satisfactory. I am always willing to state the facts of the case if it will benefit others."
