Coral And White Mums Decorate Trinity Church

Standards of coral and white chrysanthemums decorated the Trinity United Church, Summerside on July 11, when Barbara Beaton was married to Alex Gordon Anderson. The bride is the daughter of Samuel Beaton of Summerside and the groom is the son of Robert Anderson, Sherbrooke, N.S.

The officiating clergyman at the ceremony was Rev. Dr. R. Webber and the soloist was Margaret Murray of Kensington accompanied by Mrs. Eric Shoen, Summerside.

The bride given in marriage by her father wore a floor length white gown of organza over taffeta with a sheath front and a fullness at the back ending in a chapel train. The fitted bodice was accentuated by motifs of Swiss lace and small bows. She wore a single strand of pearls and earrings to match. Her wedding ring headress of Swiss lace held an elbow length veil of French illusion. She carried a semi-cascade bouquet of pink and white carnations, pink roses and trailing ivy.

The maid of honor, Edna Leonard, Sydney, N.S., and the bridesmaids Catherine Beaton, St. Eleanor's and Elizabeth Platis, Howland, were identically gowned in coral peau de soie with matching pique tulle hats and shoes. They carried baskets of aqua tinted shasta daisies.

The flower girl, Shelley Lynn Baker of Summerside wore a floor length gown of aqua georgette over taffeta with a matching taffeta petal headress. She carried a coral basket of

Satiny Haylands Merge With Blue Sky Above

Delightful scenes the summer gives us these mornings, as we breakfast in the quiet with James, before our world is altogether astray. So serene and still it is then. Only the sounds of the birds and animals we hear, and that of some passing machine, bearing early its occupant off to work.

"Yes!"

We look past the shrubbery and trees on the lawn, above the low of the valley with its mill race stream, to the spaces, that in attractive tiers range up the slope opposite. Here and there, their green is broken by that of maple, of wild cherry and poplar. The blue of the morning sky above... We chat then of so many things for we have come up the house on the hill, which is backed by a satiny hayland that presently merges into the blue of the morning sky above... We chat then of so many things for we have come up the house on the hill, which is backed by a satiny hayland that presently merges into the blue of the morning sky above...

And as we chat, a hummingbird scatches in the white tips of the still blossoming bleeding-heart, for remaining sweet, these close and quite attractive, a little plump of sweet William, is a bit proud of its all-pink bloom. On a high wire - that silver cord which in its coming has given new life and a bright outlook to farm - life, a little feathered company sits in a solemn form. James at the sight and sign of them, "commence one of these times to store furnace - work in the cellar to see us through the wintry days."

"Now it's your turn to tell me about your trip to town" is one girl of this place, suggested

Ceremony At Zion Church Unites Charlottetown Couple

A pretty mid-summer wedding took place July 18 at Zion Presbyterian Church, Charlottetown, P.E.I. when Rev. Don A. Campbell officiated in marriage Virginia Chalmers MacNutt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Reginald MacNutt of Charlottetown, and Roger Allan Craig, Fredericton, N.B. son of Major George W. and Mrs. Kevis, Charlottetown, P.E.I.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a floor length gown of white organza fashioned with a scooped neckline, and full length lily point sleeves. The controlled dome skirt with Alencon lace waistband had matching lace repeated at the hemline. A detachable back train edged with lace fell softly at the back into a full chapel train.

Her headpiece was a rose cluster lelectrice attached to a bouffant illusion veil. She wore a single strand of cultured pearls, a gift of the groom. The bride's bouquet was a cascade of pink roses, stephanotis and trailing ivy.

Isabel MacNutt, Malpeque, P.E.I. cousin of the bride was maid of honour. The bridesmaids were Gail Cameron, Harillax, N.S., Janet MacDonald, Charlottetown and Janice Beasley, Moncton, N.B.
