Select First Class For New Defence College

OTTAWA, Sept. 21 —(CP)— Eighty French-speaking and 45 English-speaking candidates have been selected as the first class to attend Canada's third officer-cadet college—College Militaire Royal de St. Jean at St. Johns, Que.

The 125 young men, selected from among 1,350 applicants, start studies tomorrow. Their new school, on the banks of the Richelieu River, will be formally opened Nov. 13 by Governor-General Vincent Massey.

The school is designed primarily to meet the requirements of French-speaking candidates for commissions. Applications came from all over Canada, however, and about 50 of the successful candidates were chosen from outside Quebec.

C.B.R.E. Annual Convention Ends On Quiet Note

OTTAWA, Sept. 21—(CP)—The 32,000-member Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees put a quiet end Saturday to the most important and stormy convention in its 44-year history.

The five-day meeting resolved a battle for leadership of Canada's biggest transport union and was seen as a victory for its 72-year-old founder, A. R. Mosher, even though he gave up the presidency.

Into the leadership post went a Mosher supporter, Harry Chappell, 49, of Winnipeg. Mr. Mosher himself was made an honorary life president with a pension of $6,000 a year.

The honorary post allows him to attend all C.B.R.E. meetings in an advisory capacity and was seen as strengthening his hand in seeking re-election as president of the 350,000-member Canadian Congress of Labor which convenes in Toronto tomorrow.

The Congress traditionally has as its president the head of one of its big affiliated unions.

By Saturday, the internal leadership battle had been decided and the 375 delegates spent the final day in routine consideration and action on a number of resolutions.

They urged that no ceiling or floor be put on the amount of medical expenses that should be allowed as deductions from income taxes. And they urged that federal, provincial and municipal governments bargain with unions of their employees in the same way as does private industry.

The latter resolution was presented on behalf of employees of government canals and other government projects who at present get the "prevailing wage"—the average wage for similar employment in the area. The method of arriving at the "prevailing wage" has often been in dispute between government and workers.

The delegates said all such employees should get a 40-hour, five-day week without deduction in take-home pay, union security and sick leave and furlough leave. They said the "prevailing rate" for such employees should be subject to negotiations between the government employing body and the union and should not be "set by arbitrary action."

Scientists On Trail Of Anti-Cancer Hormone

(By Alton L. Blakeslee, Associated Press Science Reporter)

NEW YORK, Sept. 21—(AP)—There may be an anti-cancer hormone.

It could explain why one particular human organ almost never develops cancer, suggests Dr. Andre B. Carney, Tulsa, Okla.

This organ is the duodenum, the first part of the small intestine, leading from the stomach.

Why it is so highly immune to cancer is a mystery and challenge. Does it secrete an anti-cancer hormone? The answer could provide clues to prevention of cancer generally, Dr. Carney told the International College of Surgeons.

Offhand, there are lots of reasons for expecting that the duodenum would be a frequent site for cancer.

Ulcers often develop in the duodenum, but don't carry a cancer risk like ulcers elsewhere in the body.

Ulcers of the lower end of the stomach may often turn into cancer, but the same kind of ulcer half an inch away in the duodenum "is spared the tendency or even the inclination toward malignant development."

Cancer is fairly common in nearby organs. Primary cancer of the stomach accounts for more than 25 per cent of all cases of cancer. The liver accounts for 5.1 per cent, the bile ducts for 3.5 per cent the pancreas and pancreatic ducts for about 3 per cent.

All these organs empty into the duodenum.

"Is there an anti-cancer hormones in the walls of the duodenum which stops so abruptly this malignant invasion?" Dr. Carney asks.

"Is there some substance liberated in the liver which when mixed with duodenal enzymes and juices prevents cancer growth?"

A hormone called secretin is produced in the duodenum. Little is known about what secretin does, except that it goes into the bloodstream and starts the flow of bile and pancreatic juices into the duodenum.

Secretin may possibly be the anti-cancer hormone, says Dr Carney.

HIGH MELTING POINT

MELFORT, Sask.—(CP)— The melting point of most brands of kissproof lipstick is 146 degrees Fahrenheit. This was explained at an educational exhibit at the provincial honey show here. The bee industry gets into it because beeswax is an element in the lipstick.

Irish Moss Cuts Out Shake Well Label

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Sept. 19—(AP)—"Irish" sea-moss has eliminated the need for shaking French dressing before you put it on your Mexican salad, the American Chemical Society was told today.

The moss is being harvested from the shores of the Maritime Provinces and New England.

A Massachusetts chemist reported this sea-moss—plus the magic of chemitry—is fast causing the disappearance of the "shake-well-before-using" label from a host of products including steak sauce and chocolate milk.

Leonard Stoloff, research director of the Seaplant Chemical Corporation, New Bedford, Mass., said the sea-moss is the source of a gummy substance which can easily stabilize mixtures that tend to settle upon standing.

The "Irish" monicker is largely a sentimental tribute to the country on whose shores the moss has been known for centuries.

Interest in it developed during the last war as a source of replacement for hard-to-get imported gums. Todays, crews of farmers, fishermen and vacationing college students are making extra money in gathering it.

U. S. Steel

CLEVELAND, Sept. 21 — (AP)— The United States steelmaking capacity will be boosted to 120,000,000 tons a year during 1953, Steel magazine predicts today.

This goal, says the metalworking weekly, is somewhat lower than expected because economic considerations caused some expansion plans to be scaled down or dropped entirely.

By Jan. 1 production capacity is expected to hit 115,600,000 tons, a gain of about 7,000,000 tons from the first of this year. Strikes, material shortages and bad weather prevented the increase from becoming even greater.

To keep up with the rising steel capacity, blast furnace and coke making facilities are being expanded. Blast furnaces, makers of pig iron, will have a capacity of 79,000,000 tons by Jan. 1, an increase of 5,600,000 tons over last January. Expansions to be completed next year are expected to boost capacity to 82,700,000 tons.

Coal chemical recovery ovens, suppliers of coke, will have a capacity of 67,900,000 tons Jan. 1, a 4,700,000-ton gain over last year. Another 1,500,000 tons of capacity will be added after Jan. 1.

Last week the steel mills added another point to their production rate, boosting it to 102 per cent of theoretical capacity.

C.N.R. Locomotive Driver Retires

MONCTON, N. B., Sept. 20— Making his last run at the throttle of a C.N.R. locomotive prior to his retirement at the end of the month, locomotive driver Corey Eagles brought his train into Moncton from Saint John with the Boston connection, this afternoon, closing a railway career of 35 years.

Railway officials and other fellow workers were gathered on the station platform to extend best wishes and to give expression to the esteem in which he is held.

A similar gathering of railway officials and fellow workers were on hand on the station platform at Saint John, when he rolled his train out of the station, to extend best wishes. Mr. Eagles, who was born at Salisbury, N. B., on June 24, 1890, commenced his railway career as a locomotive wiper with the Canadian National Railways at Moncton in Jan., 1916. He was promoted to fireman in Feb., 1916, and to locomotive engineer in October, 1919.

His home terminal at various times has been in addition to Moncton, Charlottetown, Saint John and Edmundston. The last time he was located at Saint John was in October, 1933. He transferred to Moncton in December of the same year.
