Weather Delays Smelt Fishing

Poor fishing weather during the past five days has completely curtailed the catching of smelts, it was learned yesterday from Mr. J. J. Larabee, Director of Fisheries for the Province.

The mild weather has provided no let-up for the fishermen to work on and those that are caught in boats cannot be taken to a freezing plant due to the bad roads, he explained.

This route begins at the Post Office at North River, carries along the York Point Road to the Ferry Road, swinging around to the post-office at Cornwall, where a fresh stock of mail is picked up for delivery to residents of East Wiltshire. At East Wiltshire, Williams turns left on the Kingston highway and travels as far as the home of James Jewell. During all these years Williams has used a horse."

competitive position and of possible future international conservation.

From the conservation aspect, Dr. Needer said, there is no immediate danger of over-fishing the grounds, but it was important that, if this threatened, it should be recognized and a remedy found.

Fisheries officials said the work of the Board's two biological stations at St. Andrew's and St. John's, Nfld., had been added significantly through the pending start of operations of the International Northwest Atlantic Fisheries Commission.

The Commission, on which 11 countries including Canada are represented, was formed in 1949 to investigate the Northwest Atlantic fishery resources.

Dr. Needer told the Board that these resources are only partially exploited and that herring stocks on the Canadian Atlantic coast are one of the major unused resources.

AWARDED SCHOLARSHIP

Two years' leave of absence in 1936 and 1937 were granted Miss MacLennan so she could study for an arts degree. She obtained her B.A. from McGill University in the spring of 1937, and in the autumn of that year rejoined the Alexandra Hospital, where the nature of her work afforded excellent opportunity of practising and teaching modern methods of nursing communicable diseases such as tuberculosis.

Since October, 1939, Miss MacLennan has been director of nursing at the Provincial Sanatorium. During four years of the last world war she was president of the P. E. I. Nurses Association.

SOME TROOPS

hoisted the North Korean flag over the city hall at 1 p. m. An hour later, two infantry outfits and 24 tanks of the U. S. 25th Division headed south across the Han River and blew the last pontoon bridge behind them.

Airfield Wrecked Seoul's airport, Kimpo, 18 miles to the northwest, was evacuated without a shot about the same time. Huge quantities of fuel were put to the torch as the last plane took off.

Seoul's port of Incheon, 22 miles west, was abandoned in the dark of Thursday night and early Friday under cover of U. S. naval gunfire.

Most of the troops evacuated from Incheon were army and navy personnel who had been manning the harbor installations since U. S. marines landed Sept. 15.

The last 10,000 Korean civilians (trying to escape the advancing mass of Chinese troops) were taken off the beach Thursday night. The last Allied military units were scheduled to leave early Friday.

AP correspondent Tom Stone reported from Incheon that as the last troops and refugees went aboard ship, demolition charges blew docks and marshalling yards high into the air.

Red troops driving west toward Incheon from Seoul were held at bay by guns of the cruiser Rochester and other warships commanded by Rear-Admiral L. A. Thackrey.

Thackrey said the evacuation operation went off "smoothly and efficiently."

Gunfire of Thackrey's warship could easily reach along the Incheon-Seoul road as far inland as Yongdunpo, industrial suburb five miles southwest of Seoul.

Many of the ships in Incheon harbor had been loaded for days with tanks and other war equipment.

Where they were going from Incheon was a secret. Red artillery already was hammering the Allied lines along the south bank of the frozen Han River south of Seoul.

Jaycees Plan For Regional Convention

Preparatory plans for the conducting of the Maritime Regional Convention of the Junior Chamber of Commerce, which will be held in Charlottetown on June 22-24 this year, were discussed last night at the monthly meeting of the Charlottetown Jaycees in the city.

Highlight of the meeting was an interesting and instructive talk on the operation of newspapers and radio news services by Mr. George Fraser, Public Relations Officer of the Provincial Government and well known Canadian newspaper man.

Plans were also discussed for the holding of the president's dinner here in Charlottetown on Feb. 26. Special guest at the dinner will be Mr. Forbes A. Rankin, Winnipeg, National President of the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

100 Delegates Expected More than 100 delegates are expected to attend the Maritime Regional Convention here in June.

Activities of the different Jaycee groups will be discussed and plans formulated for new projects. Activities of the local group during the past year included the holding of a safety week campaign, entertainment of tourists tied up at the Wood Islands Ferries during the railway strike last August and beautification schemes.

Mr. Fraser, in his remarks stressed the value of the newspaper and radio news in society. He outlined the meaning of news as related to the newspaper and the ways in which newspaper men get the news.

"News is generally obtained from two sources, the public and the private clearing houses," he said. "The reporter is the most important man on the staff, and there are two types of reporters, the beat reporter who looks for the expected and the assignment reporter looking for the unexpected," he stated.

"The press association is the heartbeat of newspaper business," he added. He cited the various press services in the Dominion including the Canadian Press, British United Press, Reuters and International News Service.

He explained the operation of syndicates and morgues in the newspaper business. Included were syndicates, cartoonists and advice to the love horn writers. Newspaper morgues, he pointed out, contained accounts of the lives of prominent citizens.

The Junior Chamber will continue its policy of having two members attend the monthly meetings of the City Council, it was decided. Following each Jaycee meeting in future, the members will divide into public speaking and civic groups for instructions on these matters.

Watterworth Conviction Is Sustained

The appeal of Wilfred Watterworth was dismissed yesterday by the Court of Criminal Appeal and the conviction and sentence of two years in Dorchester penitentiary imposed by Chief Justice Thane A. Campbell, sitting with a jury, were sustained.

Watterworth had been found guilty of theft of a marine engine and quantity of rope by the Supreme Court sitting at Georgetown last July. He appealed on the grounds that there was no sufficient evidence before the Grand Jury to enable them to find a true bill, misdirection and non-direction by the trial judge, that the conviction was unreasonable and unsupported by the evidence and that the sentence was excessive.

The judgment of the appeal court was delivered by Mr. Justice G. J. Cassidy. The Chief Justice and Mr. Justice M. B. MacGuigan concurred. It was ruled that the evidence of the one witness before the Grand Jury could not be said to be inadequate to substantiate the Grand Jury's findings.

The trial judge's charge to the jury, considered in the light of the evidence and general conduct of the case and the charges added at the request of defence counsel sufficiently covered the ground and, the Court ruled, no injustice was suffered by the accused.

The Court declined to find that the conviction was unreasonable or unsupported by the evidence

Will Attend Special Transportation Meeting Today

Mr. E. D. Reid, vice chairman of the Maritime Transportation Commission and Mr. B. Graham Rogers, Provincial representative of this body, will attend a special meeting of the Transportation Commission of the Maritime Board of Trade in Moncton today.

The Commission will meet to consider the recent application of the railways for further freight rate increases. The railways are asking for an immediate increase of five per cent and a further increase of an unspecified amount.

Queried regarding the island delegates' stand on the question, Mr. Reid stated that he would naturally oppose any horizontal rate of increase which bear heavily on those engaged in long distance hauls.

"The continuation of application for increases on this basis will slowly but nevertheless surely put the Province out of business as far as the potato industry is concerned," he said.

He pointed out that during the past five years the freight rates to Toronto from Charlottetown had jumped from 40 cents a cwt. to 56 cents a cwt., which amounts to an increase of about 10 cents a bushel.

Coupled with these increases were jumps in the rates across the border to Norfolk, Virginia, from 74 cents a cwt. to $1.14 cents a cwt. Such a rate has put us out of business as far as rail haul is concerned, he stated.

He added that only the cheap water rate has kept island growers in the potato market of Norfolk and the Southern States. The water rate runs from 40-50 cents a cwt.

Fishermen's Loan Board Commission Hearings End

The final hearing of the inquiry into the operations of the Fishermen's Loan Board was held in the Court House, Charlottetown, yesterday afternoon. Evidence of two witnesses was heard by Judge J. S. DesRoches, sitting as a Commission, and Mr. J. O. C. Campbell, K.C. who acted as counsel for the Commission.

Mr. Keir Clark, Montague, a member of the Legislative Assembly for the 3rd District of King's was the first witness to be heard. Mr. Clark's name had appeared in testimony by Wilfred Watterworth, and the witness wished to correct any false impression which might have been gathered from that testimony. Mr. Clark introduced a sworn statement by Watterworth which said that there was no connection between his testimony and his office as a member of the Fishermen's Loan Board, and that he had never been involved in the election of 1947.

Mr. Clark also referred to evidence given previously which stated that he had been in the office of the Fishermen's Loan Board just previous to his election. He stated that he had been called in by the officials and had gone there to answer questions regarding applications for loans. He said that he had stated at the time that he did not think any of the applicants were reliable.

The witness continued by saying that he had then left the office and after checking a number of loans had thought them suspicious. He had found that loans granted by both Mr. Geo. Saville and Dr. Grant were suspicious.

Other figures: There are 2,537,000 registered cars and trucks—1,839,000 of them passenger cars—on Canadian roads, nearly 250,000 more than a year ago.

This means there now is a passenger car for every 7.6 Canadians, compared with a car for every 10 in 1946, and for every 8.6 in 1949.

Continuing his studies of the 23rd Psalm, Rev. I. J. Levy gave a most comforting discourse on the words, "Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil."
