Vancouver-Montreal Train May Be Restored Next Year

By KEN CLARK

OTTAWA (CP) — The cancelled Dominion or something like it has been ordered back next year in what may be a temporary reprieve for the CPR Vancouver - Montreal passenger train.

Return of the privately-owned railway's second service was disclosed Thursday by the federal government. It will operate from April 30 to Oct. 28 next year.

The five-month summer service was offered by CPR President Ian Sinclair in an Aug. 18 letter to Transport Minister Pickersgill. The service will be in addition to the railway's regular Vancouver-Montreal passenger train, The Canadian.

The Sinclair letter was contained in a government statement released Thursday about appeals to the cabinet objecting to federal authorization for the Dominion cancellation last January.

Appeals were filed by railway unions and Western provincial governments following the decision by the board of transport commissioners.

The statement said the appellants have been asked to reconsider their appeals in the light of the CPR decision.

Reaction from Joe Macaluso, chairman of the Commons transport committee, indicated the year-long controversy over the Dominion is far from dead.

Mr. Macaluso (L—Hamilton West) said he is happy to see the train back but disappointed at the shortness of the period. At least a year's trial is needed, he said.

After cross-Canada hearings, his committee last spring recommended that the train be restarted early next year.

Mr. Macaluso said there are unanswered questions in Mr. Sinclair's letter and he plans to call the railway president when the committee resumes hearings this fall.

TERMED 'SECOND SERVICE'

The Sinclair letter referred to the new arrangement as a "second service" rather than as the Dominion.

It would operate at "a substantial deficit," but it was decided to institute it anyway to help make Canada's centennial year and the 1967 Montreal world fair a success. Repair and refurnishing of 150 passenger cars will start in September.

Mr. Sinclair said "our decision to voluntarily augment the transcontinental services" does not change the CPR view that nothing more than The Canadian is warranted.

The CPR first tried to get rid of the Dominion last Labor Day claiming it was losing millions of dollars a year. However the board of transport commissioners, responding to widespread objections, refused permission. But the board finally gave approval after its own investigation.

Telephone Shareholders Are Advised To Reject Bid

HALIFAX (CP)—Nova Scotia directors of Maritime Telegraph and Telephone Co. Ltd. have suggested that shareholders should reject a Bell Telephone Co. of Canada stock exchange offer that would give Bell control of the company.

Bell, Canada's largest telephone company, wants 51 per cent of Maritime stock. It now owns six per cent. The Bell bid, announced last week in Montreal, also is opposed by Premier Stanfield of Nova Scotia. The premier has promised legislative action to block a Bell takeover.

Twelve of the 14 M. T. and T. directors attended a board meeting here Friday.

Board Chairman A. Murray MacKay, President A. Gordon Archibald, both of Halifax, and nine other Nova Scotia directors said they will not accept the Bell offer for the shares they own personally.

Mr. Archibald said the 12 Nova Scotia directors were unanimous on this point.

In a statement, Mr. Archibald said acceptance or rejection of the Bell offer is a decision to be made by each individual shareholder.

Bell has offered to exchange three shares of its common stock, worth about $50 a share on current markets, for five shares of Maritime, now selling at about $23.

However, Mr. Archibald said the directors intend to increase M. T. and T. dividends next Jan. 1. Earnings per share were $1.18 in 1965, he said, but new telephone rates put in effect May 1 have improved the profit picture since then.

Hospital Employees Plan Strike

CORNER BROOK (CP) — A non-professional hospital workers union at Western Memorial Hospital here have voted to strike in defiance of a government order under the Labor Act forbidding such action.

Members of Local 488 of the Canadian Union of Public Employees empowered their executive to set a strike date.

Their action followed a government proclamation Wednesday, on the eve of a scheduled strike to back up wage demands, which ordered the workers not to strike and announced compulsory arbitration would be imposed.

A conciliation board had recommended increases up to 25 per cent in the hospital workers' wages and the recommendations were accepted by the hospital and the union.

The hospital's board of directors messaged the provincial health minister earlier this week, asking him to approve the pay hikes. The hospital said it was "not a free agent" in the matter because of large-scale government financing of the institution.

Threat Of Inflation Said Unfair

OTTAWA (CP)—Labor leader Claude Jodoin says it is unfair to raise "the bogey threat of inflation" as an argument against wage demands by rail workers who started a nation-wide strike Friday.

In a statement released today, the president of the Canadian Labor Congress says "by whatever yardstick one chooses," wages of the rail workers are "considerably lower than the accepted average" in comparable occupations.

"Experience has inevitably been that in time of recession workers are told that they cannot expect higher wages because they cannot be afforded. When times are good they are told that wage increases would be untimely because they might cause inflation.

"Canadian workers, on the railways and in other industries, want to know just when they can expect to obtain a fair share of increasing productivity and prosperity."

The statement, which threw the CLC's support behind the railway unions that started their walkout at noon local time today, said Canadian corporations have "failed to share" current prosperity with their workers.

U.S. Stowaway Found On Plane

LONDON (AP)—Dennis McKenna, 19-year-old Los Angeles student, stowed away on a transatlantic flight Friday but was discovered on the plane and sent home.

McKenna board a Pan American World Airways plane at Gander, Nfld., walked to a seat and was not discovered until the stewardess made a head count. Airline officials said McKenna apparently wanted to attend a European university.

British immigration officials refused to admit McKenna and Pan American said his parents would have to pay his fare home.

Opening lead — queen of hearts.

This hand occurred in 1930 in a challenge match played in London between an American team led by Ely Culbertson and a British team led by Lieutenant Colonel Walter Buller. The Americans won the 200-board match by 4,845 points, but many critics of the day regarded the accompanying hand as the crucial point of the match.

Colonel Buller had the West hand early in the match and found himself at the wrong end of a five club doubled contract. He went down five—a stagger ing 1,400 points—and the British team never recovered from this blow.

When Culbertson had the West cards, he allowed the British South to play the hand at four hearts, which declarer could have made but didn't. South lost a spade, two hearts and a diamond to go down one.

Superficially it does appear that South must lose four tricks, but careful play permits him to save a trump trick and thus make the contract.

Let's say that West leads the king of spades and then shifts to the ten of diamonds. South wins it with the king and leads the king of clubs, covered by the ace. Declarer ruffs in dummy and trumps a spade.

He then cashes the Q J 3 of clubs, discarding two diamonds from dummy, and plays a diamond to the ace. He next ruffs the ten of spades, reducing his hand to the A 7 6 of hearts, a diamond and a club.

Declarer now exists with a diamond, and East, upon winning the trick, is forced to lead a trump away from the K 10 9 8. Dummy win it with the jack and leads the queen of spades.

East ruffs with the nine as South discards a club, and cannot avoid leading a heart away from the king for the second time. Declarer's queen and ace both score tricks and South makes the contract as a result of the double endplay.
