WATCH FOR

RE-OPENING OF THE

WINDMILL BAR

61 GRAFTON STREET

MONDAY MAY 22nd.

Completely Redecorated for your Pleasure

DAYS TO REMEMBER

(Monday, May 22 — Tuesday, May 23)
B. Y. P. U. Presents

"NOBODY'S HOME"

(3-act comedy)

BAPTIST CHURCH HALL

Curtain 8 P.M. Adm. 50c

Tickets at Abegwelt Gift Court and from B.Y.P.U. Members

SWINE BREEDERS

The annual meeting of the Canadian Swine Breeders' Association will be held in the Legion Hall, Charlottetown, on Tuesday, June 6th, at 10:00 a.m. All Island breeders are urged to forward their $2.00 membership fee to the Canadian National Live Stock Records, Ottawa, immediately.

Every breeder is urged to attend and bring his interested neighbours.

All Canada is watching Prince Edward Island, so make this a large meeting. Plan to attend the noon luncheon.

H. W. CLAY,
Sr. Live Stock Fieldman

DAILY CROSSWORD

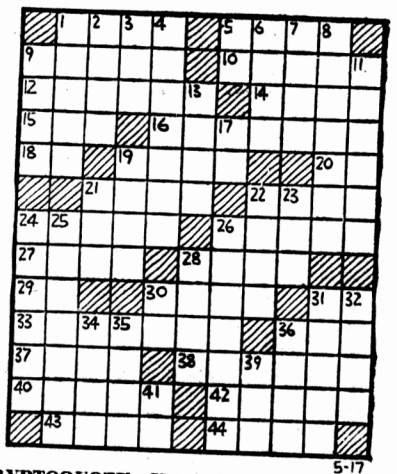
Yesterday's Answer

ACROSS

1. Simpleton (slang)
5. Incites (on)
9. Clan
10. Folds in thread
12. Dwell
14. Capable
15. Fetish (W. Afr.)
16. A gnawing away
18. The (Old Eng.)
19. Broad smile
20. Tantalum (sym.)
21. A seed
22. Datum
24. Outer covering of an egg
26. Wall recess
27. Multitude
28. Quick
29. Mulberry
30. Saucy
31. Neuter pronoun
33. Book of Psalms
36. For
37. Spirit lamp
38. Shallow pond connected with the sea
40. Meaning
42. Like tin
43. Reckless
44. Finishes

DOWN

1. Four-toed diving bird
2. River (Fr.)
3. Sash (Jap.)
4. Relating to a union of states
5. Elevated train (shortened)
6. Gazelles
7. Desert (Asia)
8. Blotch
9. City in New York
11. Legislative body
13. Ireland
17. Ahead
19. Money (slang)
21. God of pleasure (Babyl.)
22. Clenched hand
23. Division of a play
24. Forms
25. Leather pistol case
26. Tell
28. Touch
30. Point (abbr.)
31. Manacles
32. Man's nickname
34. Coin (India)
35. Young girl
36. Body of water
39. Alcoholic liquor
41. Exclamation



5-17

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A Cryptogram Quotation

R D J U A D U Z M X L Y Z Q E Z X X S W L Y S A U Y L — G S Y J X S J.

Yesterday's Cryptoquote: THERE'S SURE NO PASSION IN THE HUMAN SOUL BUT FINDS ITS FOOD IN MUSIC—LILLO.

BURGESS BEDTIME STORIES

(By Thornton W. Burgess)

ON HIS OWN

Those only wholly on their own
Have independence fully known.
—Old Mother Nature.

They called him Allie because he was an albino, which means that he was all white when his coat was supposed to be colored like the coats of all his relatives. A Bluebird was supposed to have a blue coat, not a white one. So because he looked different his brothers and sisters would have nothing to do with him from the time they all left the Bluebird house in Farmer Brown's dooryard and started out in the Great World. They didn't want him around. Often it is that way with folks who are different from others of their own kind.

But his brothers sisters were not wholly to blame for treating him as they did. You see they were afraid. Yes, sir, they were afraid. They were not afraid he would hurt them. Of course not. In all but looks he was just like the rest of them. What they really feared was the danger he might bring to them because in that white coat he could be seen at a much greater distance by hungry enemies than could they. So they were afraid that if he was with them he would bring enemies to them.

king, and South's club jack took the fulfilling trick.

It didn't take little Allie long to understand how the others felt, that he wasn't wanted in or around the Old Orchard. So just as soon as he had learned to eat and how to find it he slipped away by himself when his mother wasn't around and his father was busy with the others. He flew over to the Green Forest because there were so many trees there and it looked as if it might be easier to keep unseen there. You see already he had learned that the fewer who saw him the fewer the dangers.

Now he was really on his own. It was a queer feeling at first, knowing that there was no one at hand to do anything for him, not even to tell him what he should or should not do himself; no one to warn him of unknown dangers; no one to help him out when he was uncertain what to do. Being on one's own is like that. It means having to do everything for one's self. It also mean complete independence, and the feeling of independence, of not having to depend on any one at all, is very wonderful feeling. There is no other feeling like it.

Now as I already have said Allie, the white young Bluebird, was smart. Had he not he wouldn't have lived long. He never had to learn a lesson twice. Much that he needed to know he didn't have to be shown. He learned by watching others and remembering what he had seen. No one told him to watch out for Black Pussy the Cat. He saw how other birds feared Black Pussy so from that time on always watched for him.

It was the same way with Reddy Fox and Jimmy Skunk. He noticed that other birds never allowed them to get very near when on the ground, so he took care never to let them get near. When Mr. Blacksnake happened to be seen by some of the other birds he saw how excited they became and what a fuss they made.

"I don't know who that fellow is but I'll keep away from him and from all who look at all like him. They may not be dangerous, but if I don't give them a chance to be they can't be," said he to himself.

When a person has something that makes it more difficult, harder for him to do things than it is for others to do the same things, he is said to have a handicap. That white coat was a handicap for the young Bluebird. How great a handicap it was even he didn't fully understand. Anyway he didn't at first. It was more difficult for him to hide than it was for other birds. He could be seen from a greater distance by hungry enemies than any one else. Being smart it didn't take him long to find things out for himself. He thought about it.

"It won't do for me to ever forget that I am different from other birds. Why I am different I don't know, but I am. So what? I'll have to make that difference help me instead of making life harder for me. I'll have to be not just smart, but extra smart."

He was.

Contract Bridge

By Josephine Culbertson

GOOD RECOVERY

An unlucky guess sent today's declarer off to a bad start, but he made a strong recovery.

North dealer.
North-South vulnerable.

	♠ A 9 4 ♥ K 6 2 ♦ 10 3 ♣ A 10 5 4 2
♠ K Q 8 7 5 ♥ 9 4 3 ♦ Q 7 5 ♣ K Q	N W E S	♠ J 6 3 2 ♥ 7 5 ♦ A 6 4 2 ♣ 9 8 3
	♠ 10 ♥ A Q J 10 8 ♦ K J 9 8 ♣ J 7 6

The bidding:

North	East	South	West
1 ♣	Pass	1 ♥	1 ♠
Pass	Pass	3 ♥	Pass
4 ♥	Pass	Pass	Pass

South jumped to three hearts on the second round as the lesser evil, sensing that a mere two-heart rebid would not offer enough encouragement for North to take further action. South could afford this call because he and his partner were not using such a rebid as an absolute force. Some experts play the jump rebid by the responder as a force, but it is more logical to treat it as a mere "urge," which of course gives the opening bidder the right to pass, particularly with a misfit. In this case North was glad to cooperate.

West opened the spade king. The ace won, and declarer led the diamond ten from dummy. East played low, and so did South. This was an unfortunate guess, because if South had put up the king, his trouble would have been lightened, but certainly his choice could not be criticized.

West, in with the diamond queen, led the spade queen, and South ruffed. Now declarer led another diamond, which East won. The return of the spade jack forced declarer again, and with only three trumps left, he could not afford to draw the opposing trumps. Instead, he led a club toward dummy. He captured West's queen with the ace, drew exactly two rounds of trumps (the queen and jack), then led another low club. West won with the king and made matters as difficult as possible for declarer by returning another spade, but South carefully ruffed this in his own hand with the trump ace, then laid down the good diamonds. West ruffed the last diamond, but dummy over-ruffed with the heart

On Feb. 9, 1942, legislation became effective placing the United States on Daylight Saving (War) Time, but this legislation was rescinded on Sept. 30, 1945.

for BRUISES

There's nothing to equal Minard's. It "takes hold". Antiseptic, soothing, healing. Gives quick relief!

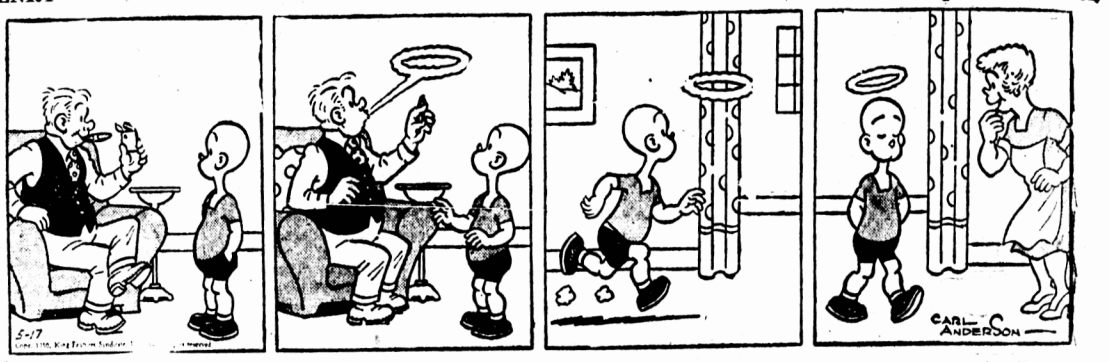
24

MINARD'S "KING OF PAIN" LINIMENT

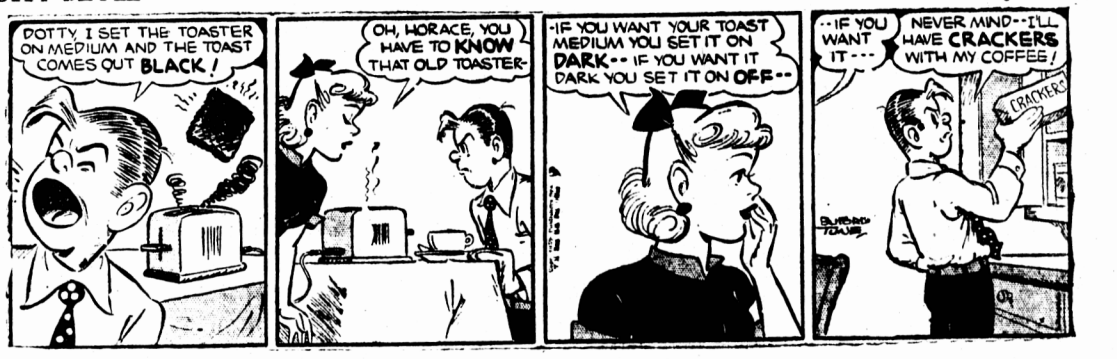
KING OF THE ROYAL MOUNTED — by Zane Grey

JOE PALOOKA — by Ham Fisher

HENRY — by Carl Anderson

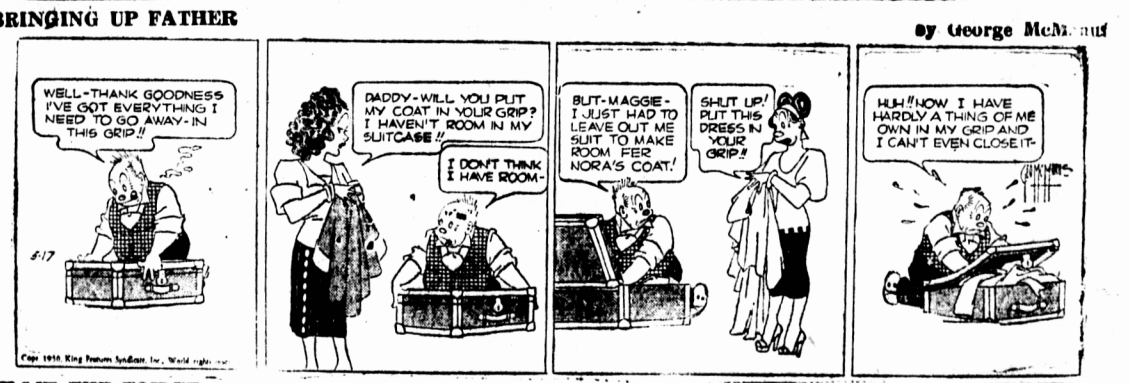


DOTTY DIPPLE — by Buford



TIPPY AND "CAP" STUBS — by Edwina

BRINGING UP FATHER — by George McManus



LI'L ABNER — by Al Capp

RIP KIRBY — by Alex Raymond

TILLIE THE TOILER — by Westover

PENNY — By Harry Haenigsen