

Large Segment Approve Free Trade With The U. K.

BY CANADIAN INSTITUTE OF PUBLIC OPINION

When the Hon. Peter Thorneycroft, Chancellor of the Exchequer, exploded his suggestion that a free trade area be developed between Canada and the United Kingdom, a solid body of Canadian men and women were quick to take the idea. Almost half the voting public, 45 in every hundred approved. Less than half as many, or 20 in a hundred did not agree. A very large proportion, over three in four, had no opinion to give on the suggestion. A very small group of answers, 3 per cent, said that many of those who thought free trade between the countries would be a sound development. We are all part of the Commonwealth—a and if it would do both countries a lot of good. Some felt that a lower cost of living might result with such a trade basis. Others said it will bring about better relations between the two countries.

On the opposite side of the argument one-fifth of the public disapproved the suggestion. Main reasons for this Canadian opinion were: "England would gain too much; Canada too little," 14 per cent; "It would harm U. S. relations," 7 per cent; "We should stand on our own feet—not tied to England," 5 per cent; "Other reasons," 3 per cent; "No particular reason," 23 per cent.

Total 106%
 Disapproval was given by more than half of those who did not like the idea for these reasons:
 Would increase unemployment hurt industry 14%
 Generally bad for Canada 14%
 England gain too much; Canada too little 14%
 Would harm U. S. relations 7%
 Should stand on our own feet—not tied to England 5%
 Other reasons 3%
 No particular reason 23%

LONDON (AP)—Britain announced Tuesday she will skip payment of a $175,000,000 installment on its post-war loans from the United States due this month. The announcement said the decision did not arise from an emergency in Britain's financial situation but rather was a matter of looking ahead and strengthening the United Kingdom's basic economic position.
