

THE DAILY EXAMINER.

SEPTEMBER 7, 1881.

Mr. Blake's Failure.

The mission of Mr. Blake in the East is by this time over. It was preceded by an unstinted puffing and blowing.

Mr. Blake came and did his duty to the best of his ability. Many saw and heard him; and it is safe to say that the mass were disappointed—that the mission has proved a failure.

The causes of his failure are not far to seek. (1.) He was puffed up far too high before he came. Expectation regarding him was raised to an unnatural pitch; and a reaction followed as a matter of course.

That evening, after evening quarters, the engines were stopped and all was still. Then could be heard the slow toiling of the ship's bell. The solemn peals called all hands to on the half-deck, where a guard of honor was formed to pay the last tribute of respect to our departed shipmate, who was borne by his mess-mates carefully to the 8th gun-port.

Mr. Blake is said, presents just now a very dreary, cheerless appearance. His hopes of carrying the elections in 1883 have been dashed to the ground, and he no doubt now knows by bitter experience that his friends have misinformed him as to the feeling in the Maritime Provinces with reference to the Fiscal and Railway policy of the present Government.

There is one particular to which, before dismissing the subject of Mr. Blake's mission, we desire to make reference. A week or two ago, while the editor was absent in the country, there appeared in THE EXAMINER a comment on an article in THE MAIL, in which it was stated that Mr. Blake, when on the Island, made some coarse allusions to Hon. Mr. Pope, Minister of Marine.

But, whether or not Mr. Blake and Mr. Anglin can be justified for coming into this Province and charging the Government with misleading the people, unnecessarily overburdening the country with taxation and extravagantly wasting public money, while they knew well that the only member of the Government in this Province was lying seriously ill, unable to speak or act either in defence of himself or his colleagues, is a question of taste which THE MAIL or any other paper may fairly discuss.

A Moral People.

PRINCIPAL GRANT, in one of his graphic letters to the Toronto Globe, writes thus of the people of Winnipeg:—

"The infancy of western cities has usually been marked with profligacy and a carnival of crime. So far as I can learn, it has not been so in Winnipeg. Certainly I see no signs of anything disgraceful or openly immoral. The people are excited with land fever, railway fever, and steam boat fever, but they take even the excitement decorously. The explanation is that the mass of the people are solid Canadians whose upbringing has been good and whose heads are generally level. I believe that more University-bred men are to be found here than in any other city of its size on the continent, and a glance at the mail matter that goes out to the country districts tells a pleasant tale. Punch, the Graphic, the Illustrated London News, Grip, the best periodicals, and the best English and Canadian newspapers fill the bags. Never did a new land start in the race with a more intelligent community and under more favorable circumstances.

The Emperor of Austria is reported to have personally warned the Czar that a continuance of the Pan-Slavist agitation would seriously endanger the continuance of the good relations between the two empires.

Dr. Tanner is not dead. He is alive and eating.

"Northampton" Notes.

THE DEATH AND FUNERAL OF WILLIAM COOPER, A. R., AGED 29 YEARS.

(By a Shipmate.)

On the 24th of August, 1881, H. M. S. Northampton, left Sydney, C. B., for Liverpool Bay, N. B. When clear of the harbor and at a division, the order, "prepare for action," was given. On this order, all sails were set, the anchor, upper yards, mast and boom were to be sent down, jib-boom and bowsprit were to be taken in and stowed snugly away.

Our gallant Capt'n being on the bridge at the time, superintending the evolution, was the first to see the accident, gave immediate orders for him to be taken below to the sick bay, where the doctor tried all that medical skill could do to keep life in him; but, alas! breath had gone—life had ceased.

That evening, after evening quarters, the engines were stopped and all was still. Then could be heard the slow toiling of the ship's bell. The solemn peals called all hands to on the half-deck, where a guard of honor was formed to pay the last tribute of respect to our departed shipmate, who was borne by his mess-mates carefully to the 8th gun-port.

THE MEMBERS OF NAVAL PATENT LIFE BOAT LODGE OF THE INDEPENDENT ORDER OF GOOD TEMPLARS, located on board H. M. S. Northampton, held a session in the room of the Victoria Division of the Sons of Temperance; and after the business of the Lodge, the doors were open for Visiting Friends, who were well represented by members of several Divisions of the Sons of Temperance, and a very pleasant and profitable evening was passed in the following manner:—

THE PLANETS IN SEPTEMBER. The astronomer of the Providence Journal says that Venus is the brightest of the morning stars for September, though waning and moving away from the earth.

THE PRESIDENT PRESCRIBING FOR HIMSELF. The New York Times' special says that the President, a few mornings ago, protested against the continuance of "spoon" victuals.

The French Acadians.

Says Thomas White, Esq., M. P., in one of his letters to the Montreal Gazette:—

The Acadians of the Maritime Provinces have, in recent years, been coming more to the front. They are an industrious, law-abiding people, but being in a minority, they have not in times past been very self-asserting. I am informed that the prejudice against them among the English-speaking people was at one time very great, so much so that they were permitted to take but little part in public affairs.

THE RECENT CONVENTION held by them in New Brunswick and over which Mr. Landry presided, is an indication of the growing spirit of self-assertion among them. It was not desired to separate them in interest from their fellow subjects of other origins and creeds. They have suffered too much from this isolation in the past. But they have certain traditions which they may well desire to preserve, and in the decision they have arrived at the preservation of them forms the leading idea.

Lot 11 Notes.

Mosquitoes have ceased operations for this summer. The disorder has broken out among the potatoes. Harvesting has commenced and promises to be an average crop.

Messrs. John Coombs and Frank Dean of Charlottetown paid this place a visit last week on a hunting excursion, and succeeded in capturing a goodly number of crows and plovers.

The trustees of Freehold School have succeeded in retaining the services of Mr. John A. Stewart, as teacher. Mr. Stewart stands high in the estimation of the moral and intellectual portion of this community.

Angustine Callaghan, Esq., is doing a lively business this summer. After the closing of the lobster season, which proved successful, he commenced canning mutton and mackerel. His cooper shop gives employment to a large number of men. We wish him abundant success.

The matrimonial fever has at length broken out here. Unless a hundred or two more of our enterprising men invest, we shall soon rival some other settlements in the number and beauty of that portion of the human family known as old maids.

The President Prescribing for Himself.

The New York Times' special says that the President, a few mornings ago, protested against the continuance of "spoon" victuals. To his delight the doctors expressed a willingness that he should select his own victuals in future. He immediately asked for beefsteak. Mrs. Garfield broiled a piece of tenderloin, which he chewed with evident relish.

The President also asked for a hand-glass, and after surveying himself on all sides, remarked that he thought he looked pretty well, all things considered.

Lobsters.

FISHERIES, P. E. I., 6th September, 1881. To the Editor of the Examiner.

DEAR SIR,—An editorial in the New Era of Charlottetown of date 2nd instant copies a letter from Hon. Mr. O'Leary of Richibucto, N. B., vowing that lobsters were being fished after date in this Island, which seems to have appeared in the St. John, N. B., Globe.

Hon. Mr. O'Leary states therein that, on a given date after the 20th August last, our Lobster fishing was "in full blast," especially in the factories at West Cape, P. E. I.

The undersigned and the three Fishery Wardens who, I am half ashamed to say, were employed as detectives, made the circuit of the P. E. I. line of coast, and we found, on the whole, the closing season observed. The few offenders are being dealt with.

Hon. Mr. O'Leary, as I am informed, runs a little concern of 400 traps, a few miles or so, or more or less, in a cove, south-by-east of the large establishment of Messrs. Longworth & Co at West Cape. From Hon. Mr. O'Leary's evasiveness as to observing the Fisheries act no doubt he shut up his handful of traps on the day specified.

Hon. O'Leary is in error.
