MR. HORSBY BANQUETTED.

About a score of friends of Mr. Horsby of the Merchants Bank here tendered him an impromptu supper at the Prince of Wales Hotel on Saturday night last, as a sort of "send off" on the occasion of his leaving Truro for the higher position of acting agent at Charlottetown. A very social gathering it was and only at the approach of the Sabbath hour were all hands joined and "Auld Lang Syne" rendered in an appropriate style. The following was the toast list, responded to by the speakers mentioned, and interspersed with songs with Mr. W. A. Fitch as accompanist on the banjo:

"The Queen"—"On the Banks of the River"—"The Banks"—Messrs. Dickey, Murray, Smith, Bowers, Putnam. "The Professions"—Dr. Yonston, "Dr." Odell, E. M. Fulton, W. Yonston. "The Ladies"—Messrs. Dickey, Murray, Standfield, Bishop, Wilson, Coleman, Yuill. "The Ladies"—(God bless them) W. A. Fitch.

Mr. Horsby was also presented with a handsome silver watch by his fellow clerks in the Merchants Bank, as a mark of esteem, and we feel assured that one and all will say that he commands the respect of the whole community for his gentlemanly conduct and obliging manner both in public and social life, and his handsome countenance will always be welcomed in Truro. Mr. Horsby left by Monday's train for Charlottetown.—Colchester Sun.

ENTERTAINMENT AT EMERALD.

As entertainment that was at once instructive and entertaining was that which took place at Emerald on Monday evening last. Mr. P. J. Trainor, in his address, clearly demonstrated that he possessed a thorough knowledge not only of the history of Canada, but America as well. He dealt (1) with the introduction of Christianity, and by whom; (2) those who opposed its introduction, and why, viz., the fur traders; (3) state of Canada during the French period; the battles fought and the chief men engaged therein, such as the capture of Port Royal, 1710; Louisbourg, 1745; Quebec, 1757; the expulsion of the Acadians, 1755; the invasion by the Americans during 1775 and 1812. Lastly, our resources, etc. At the conclusion of his address Mr. Trainor was tendered a hearty vote of thanks.

The musical portion of the programme was well received and was greatly appreciated. The programme follows:—Chorus, "Dear Canada," Kinkora Choir. Address, "Epochs in the Early History of Canada," P. J. Trainor. Solo, (by request) "Farewell, but when ever you welcome the hour," Fr. Boyd.

Chorus, "Signal Bells at Sea," Choir Reading, "Boy's present to the Priest," Frank McCarvill.

Solo, Committed to the Deep, Joseph McDonald.

"God Save the Queen," Mr. Geo. R. MacMahon presided in a pleasing and satisfactory manner.

SUPREME COURT.

FRIDAY, JAN. 25. Hon. D. Ferguson vs. the Patriot Publishing Company. Action for libel. The case for the prosecution closed last evening, and Mr. Davies delivered his closing address for the defence this forenoon. Mr. Stewart, Q. C., began his closing address for the prosecution at half-past one this afternoon.

An extraordinary case is just now occupying the attention of the medical world of Bonn. A man 32 years of age, a Roumanian, whose disease has already baffled the medical schools in Berlin and Vienna, has now come to be examined by Professor Schultz, of Bonn. The man's whole body has undergone a process of hardening; bones, muscles and flesh are all as though they had been petrified.

Waist Not, Want Not. This is the shape of a woman's waist on which a corset tight is laced. The ribs deformed by being squeezed, press on the lungs till they're diseased. The heart is jammed and cannot pump, the liver is a torpid hump—the stomach, crushed, cannot digest; and in a mess are all compressed. Therefore this silly woman grows to be a beautiful mass of wax, but thinks she has a lovely shape, though hideous as a crippled ape.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR.

THE FUNNY MAN OF THE GUARDIAN.

"When Mr. Barmine's barn at North Tryon was burning on Friday night it threw such a bright reflection on the sky that many persons in Misconche thought the fire was in Summerside, and, accordingly, someone telephoned in to have it located."

Sir.—Now, the funny man of the morning daily, probably not knowing anything about the fire, thought the people of Misconche mistook their little 32-candle power electric light for a mighty conflagration. Why, man, there is not the slightest reflection visible from our boasted lights even at St. Eleanors. You might stand at any corner in Summerside, except where the streets are lighted from the shop windows, and be unable to tell whether the light on the next corner was an electric light, or the oil lamp so recently discarded. But this light, dim as it was, has fairly turned the heads of some of the otherwise sensible Summersidians. As they imagine that the little 32 candle-power lamp casts a reflection like the glare of a mighty search-light, to every puny 32 candlepower funny man thinks his little scintillations which illumine all the surrounding districts. One of these jesters, with a ball of this light around his illuminated cranium, and big with a deep conviction of his own superior knowledge, recently accosted what he deemed "a raw recruit from Kinkora," and began to explain how the oil passed from the posts down into the lamps. The shrewd Hibernian, haltingly the man's self-conceit, simply cast a comical glance at him, saying, "I guess it's cool-oil, isn't it?"

BASKET SOCIAL AT PETER'S ROAD.

An entertainment and basket social in connection with the Presbyterian church at Peter's Road was held here on the evening of the 17th inst., which proved to be a grand success. The weather was all that could be desired, and a general turnout was the result, so that the church was filled to overflowing.

Besides the fine representation from the immediate surrounding sections, we noticed quite a number of parties from Montague and Georgetown. Hon. James Clow, who is always found ready to lend a helping hand to a deserving cause, was of course present, and was appointed chairman. It is needless to say that he was the right man in the right place.

THE COMMITTEE IN CHARGE.

The committee in charge of the programme were also fortunate enough to secure the services of Rev. E. Gillis, of Murray Harbor South. On being introduced Mr. Gillis gave a short address, and then proceeded to tell a story, the event of which occurred in Scotland during the time the Covenanters strove to uphold Presbyterianism against the encroachments of Episcopacy. The story, which was told in grand style, while rippling with humor, also had many valuable lessons (both the thoughtful, and was received with much favor.

The remainder of the programme consisted of recitations and songs, interspersed with strains of melody from the choir, as they rendered some choice selections under the leadership of Mr. Isaac Burns. The different performers did their parts very creditably, and elicited much applause.

Next came the auction sale of baskets—of which there were seventy—all tastefully done up without and within, harmonizing with the elegant decoration of the church, and reflecting great credit on the ladies who presented them. Mr. Neil McNeill, of Murray Harbor North, kindly consented to act as auctioneer, and as he in his closing address dwelt upon the qualities of the different baskets handed to him, the bids came thick and fast, and the money poured in like rain. Mr. McDonald did his part with great tact.

Then when the sale was over, and the purchasers of baskets had hunted up their "fair ones" who had presented the baskets, held by them, they might be seen repairing "two deep" to the tables where the ladies of the congregation had provided hot tea and coffee. Here ample justice was meted out to the inner requirements.

Meantime the state of finance had been inquired into, when it was ascertained that the handsome sum of $75.00 was realized. A vote of thanks was then tendered the chairman and auctioneer for the creditable manner in which they had performed their parts, to which they made suitable reply. Thus a very enjoyable meeting came to an end.

Thanks to the many friends who contributed to make the social a success.

AN OBSERVER.

AUGUSTA, Me., Jan. 27.—By far the most important event of the day in the legislature, and indeed in many days, was the bill introduced in the house today by Mr. Williams of Augusta, providing for the sale, under state patronage, of "pure" adulterated intoxicating liquors for medicinal, mechanical or manufacturing purposes only. Agents are to keep a record of each sale, price, name of purchaser and the kind of liquor sold. Fifty dollars is to be the maximum fine for neglect to make such record.
