

Chinese Red Guards, Farmers Reported In Shanghai Clashes

By JOSEPH MACSWEN
LONDON (CP)—China's military spending was estimated today as the fourth-biggest in the world, coming after the United States, Russia and Britain — and ahead of France.

West Germany, Italy, Canada and India.

For the first time, the authoritative Institute of Strategic Studies included the estimate of Chinese defence expenditure in its annual global survey, "The Military Balance."

Peking's spending totalled $400,000,000, less than Britain's $537,000,000 for the year 1965-66 and this represented 10 per cent of Red China's gross national product compared with Britain's 6.8 per cent.

The inclusion of Chinese figures was cited in an interview as an outstanding feature of this year's report by Alastair Buchan, institute director and third son of the late Lord Tweedsmuir, governor-general of Canada in 1935-40.

Other conclusions are: The military potential of the South Vietnamese armed forces has been overestimated; ground forces available to NATO member countries now exceed those of the Communist Warsaw Pact and the U.S. is maintaining its superiority in long-range ballistic missiles over the Soviet Union although Russian warheads are more powerful.

The privately-financed institute, founded in 1958 for research on defence, world security and disarmament, is governed by an international council with members from 13 countries including Canada, and has research associates in Britain, France, West Germany and the U.S.

Where possible the institute, which gives its figures in U.S. dollars, used official government figures but Buchan pointed out that Communist defence budgets do not include the same range of projects as Western budgets. Defence research, for instance, might come under

Couple Claim 'Pressured' For Autopsy

TORONTO (CP)—Mr. and Mrs. Leonard McGee say they were "pressured" at the Toronto Hospital for Sick Children to allow an autopsy on their daughter, Sherri Lee, who died Sept. 17 shortly after being separated by doctors from her siamese twin sister, Crystal Ann.

The hospital promptly denied that it brought pressure. The twinned parents had refused permission for an autopsy.

Crystal Ann remains in critical condition in the hospital but officials said she was progressing satisfactorily.

In a statement Wednesday the parents said the pressure did not come from Dr. James Simpson or his medical team involved in the operation, but from others.

John T. Law, hospital administrator, denied that the hospital had used pressure and also denied that any hospital staff member other than Dr. Simpson and Dr. Paul Szyer, in charge of the neo-natal clinic where the babies were tended before the operation, had even discussed an autopsy with the McGees.

"The last thing we would want to do would be to bring pressure on parents at a time like this," he said in an interview. "The hospital's feeling is that the post-mortem privilege is the right of the parents. There is no resentment among doctors that an autopsy was not permitted."

Dr. Simpson has explained to us that the cause of death was almost certainly known and they the surgeons have already received much knowledge.

"We would have been quite willing to have an autopsy if it would have helped other children like ours. But as it would not have helped others, hasn't Sherri Lee gone through enough?"

Dr. Simpson said some figures have been estimated because authorities would not provide figures.

In the case of China, Robert McNamara, U.S. defence secretary, had calculated that 10 per cent of the gross national product was going on defence. Western calculations of the Chinese GNP varied between $50,000,000,000 and $70,000,000,000.

"A reasonable estimate of Chinese defence expenditure is therefore approximately $6,000,000,000," said the institute.

The institute's force estimates date from August, 1966. The institute said for the first time in several years, ground forces of NATO members outnumber those of the Warsaw Pact countries. This was due almost entirely to an increase of 250,000 in the U.S. army which partially offset reductions by such other NATO countries as Britain and France.

The United States' three-to-one superiority over the Soviet Union in the number of operational nuclear missiles continued with the Russians adding 60 intercontinental and fleet ballistic missiles and the United States 160.

Soviet ICBMs have more-destructive warheads but the U.S. ICBMs have "greater potential accuracy in delivery," the report said.

"The United States has, up to now, shown greater evidence of successful testing and firing of their ballistic missiles."

Anti-communist forces in Viet Nam now number theoretically more than 1,000,000 men but, the report said, "the official figure of over 600,000 men for the regular and para-military forces of South Viet Nam seriously overstates their actual strength. Many units of the regular forces are known to be well below their establishment figures."

The institute estimated Saigon's actual fighting forces at 90,000 men with about 25,000 of these in the mobile strike force.

Of the 250,000 Communist forces believed available in South Viet Nam, the institute estimated that 25,000 are North Vietnamese regulars. The report broke down the Communist total into 90,000 troops organized in regiments and battalions; 105,000 in smaller guerrilla units; 40,000 in technical and political cadres, and 15,000 in logistic support units.

as a result of his fine play in his hand.

The bidding was spotty, especially East's double of six hearts. Ordinarily, South would have had to lose two spade tricks to go down one, but Pabis Tici found a method of play that brought home the contract.

West led the three of spades. Declarer realized that the lead was probably a singleton and accordingly began to take steps to avoid losing two spade tricks. After winning the spade with the ace, he cashed the king of hearts and ruffed a club.

Pabis Tici then cashed the ace of diamonds and ruffed a diamond, after which he trumped the jack of clubs and ruffed the last diamond.

He now led the king of clubs, but instead of ruffing it, discarded the eight of spades. West won with the ace, but then had to return a diamond or a club.

This permitted South to ruff in dummy as he discarded the 10 of spades from his hand, and the outcome was that he made six hearts redoubled for a plus of 2,220 points, instead of going down one for a minus of 400 points.

The loser-on-loser play worked to perfection and there was nothing the defense could do to prevent it from succeeding. Pabis Tici lost a club trick he did not have to lose but he got the trick back with interest.

Opening lead—three of spades.

This hand occurred in a rubber bridge game played in Italy early in 1963. Strangely enough, it had a bearing on the world championship played later that year in Italy.

North was Carl Alberto Perroux, non-playing captain of the famous Italian Blue Team which had dominated the world of bridge for the past 10 years.

South was Camillo Pabis Tici, who was appointed by Perroux that year as a full-fledged member of the team, partly
