Spencer Retains His Welter Title In Split Decision Over Poulton

Tommy "Gun" Spencer, 146, of New Waterford, N.S., took a split ten-round decision over Harry Poulton, 145, of Charlottetown to retain his Maritimes welterweight boxing championship in a title match here at the Forum last night.

It was his second successful defence of his crown against the former titleholder in less than a month. Spencer scored with a draw decision with Poulton in a title bout here on July 31st.

It was a brilliant, torrid battle witnessed by a crowd of 800 to 1000 spectators and the main feature of one of the finest boxing cards to be staged in this city for a long time.

The aggressor all through the fight, Spencer proved to be much the harder puncher of the two that was a definite advantage for him, while Poulton came through with the finest display of boxing he has ever staged in a local ring.

Always trying to move in close where his punching would be the most effective, Spencer forced the fight almost continuously but Poulton boxed beautifully and always a moving target, scored time and again with a flicking left hand that wouldn't let his opponent get set and counter-punched Spencer expertly to hold him at bay.

From about the seventh round on both boys had bad left eyes, Spencer's cut and bleeding and Poulton had a welt that had it nearly closed.

Spencer's body-jolting hooks, jabs and always boring in tactics, however, paid off for him in the end, and although there were times when he seemed to be completely baffled by Poulton's clever boxing, he really got to his man in the final tenth round to belt Poulton all over the ring and had him nearly out on his feet at the final bell.

Judges John E. Cameron and John F. Connolly both scored six rounds for Spencer, two for Poulton and two even, while Judge Earle Smith of Summerside, scored four rounds for Poulton, two rounds for Spencer and four rounds even.

Snappy Semi-Final

In a really crowd-pleasing six round semi-final, Island lightweight title holder Bud Lund, 129, City, scored a decision over Jackie Hayden, 130, of Westville, N.S., in a bustling contest. Making his first appearance in a local ring, Hayden displayed excellent boxing ability and sharp punching power that gave him more experienced opponent plenty of trouble in the early rounds. Pacing himself and gradually figuring his opponent out, Lund, holding an advantage over reach, came on strong in the last three rounds and head blows that allowed the game youngster from the mainland down considerably.

IN THIS CORNER

This a funny old world and the people who live in it are sometimes among its most unique features. They want to have or do something but don't want to put any effort into accomplishing the desired result. Of those who have such tendencies the youngsters of the modern day play a prominent part.

A few years ago if a young fellow wanted to play hockey or baseball he had to be up bright and early in the morning to round up his chums and armed with shovels or rakes as the case might be, make their way to a chosen site to clear off a pond or fix up a diamond before they even thought of playing the desired sport. And what is more, they enjoyed doing it because it was all part of the game. They also had the responsibility of choosing and forming their own teams and making their own ground rules to suit the situation.

For the most part, those good old days seem to be gone for ever; today everything is organized. Such organization is a wonderful thing for sport, but unfortunately it has a tendency to become over-organized for the youngsters own good. He doesn't play a big enough part in the work and detail which is so necessary to well regulated sport, a feature that is becoming more and more the lot of his seniors.

The result, of course, is not hard to visualize. The actual participant not only loses the fun and enjoyment of really working for his sport and learning it on the ground up, but worse still, he comes to take everything for granted, independent and sometimes even critical and snooty to his superiors in the manner in which they are running things.

They have their schedules drawn up for them, transportation provided to take them from one point to the other and even their equipment provided. In point of fact, all they are required to do is be there to play the sport. And in many cases they don't even want to do that or are complaining that they haven't enough cotton wool to put under their shin pads. The old sports might find it hard to believe that, but if you get around to where such events are going on you actually hear such complaints. You will even see some little nipper about knee-high to a grasshopper threatening to beat up the referee because he was given a penalty, "Lucky to have shin pads and a referee in my day," says you, "but we had lots of fun." That is about the comparison too.

The present efforts by local officials to organize and get minor league rolling for the balance of the summer is a good example of what is being discouraged here. For the past month now they have been calling meetings for the youngsters in Bantam, Pee Wee and Midget brackets to ascertain how many want to play and from that to formulate teams and leagues in scheduled play. Not enough youngsters have been turning up to form a league in any of the brackets so far, and not enough in some instances to even comprise one team.

After making several efforts to get things rolling, local interested officials decided it was not panning out and decided to drop the issue and things have been quiet in that quarter for the past couple of weeks. But guess what has been happening during that period? They are worrying the life out of those same officials to play ball now that nobody is doing anything about it.

Fortunately, however, these officials are pretty understanding people and they have decided to try it all over again because they really want to help the kids and see them all taking part in healthy recreation. They are in hopes too of receiving more co-operation from the youngsters this time. If not, then that will end their plans for another season.

The first step in the recommendation of activities will be a meeting tonight for all players of Bantam age in the City at the Old Diamond, Victoria Park, at six o'clock, while on Friday morning another meeting will be held for all Pee Wee players and yet a third meeting for Midget that same evening. So let's get help to fellow fans if you want to play ball then give it a little of the old spirit and get to the meetings and pitch in to help get things rolling. It is far more fun that way, and at the same time let the officials who are trying to help you, know that you appreciate it and are willing to try and help yourselves. Practically all you players in the various brackets are already register-

Tommy Anderson Signs To Coach Calgary Team

CALGARY, Aug. 28 — (CP) — In line with their announcement that "big things were to come" before the start of the season in their new hockey surroundings, Calgary Stampede today announced the signing of a new coach—Tommy (Cowboy) Anderson, the former Drumheller, Calgary and National League Hockey Star.

Tommy takes over from Byron (Butch) McDonald, at the helm for the last two seasons, who may remain with the club in a playing capacity.

Lloyd Turner, Stampede manager, made the announcement prior to leaving for a Western Canada-Pacific Coast Hockey League meeting to be held in Seattle Wednesday.

Turner said that with the entry of Calgary into professional ranks it was felt that a "name" coach was needed.

Anderson, a familiar face to Calgary hockey fans since he coached the Currie army team to three successive Alberta titles during the war years, said he "liked the idea of coming back home again."

Anderson was reported earlier to be heading for a coaching job with Moncton Hawks of the Maritimes circuit at a record salary. He guided Pittsburgh Hornets of the American Hockey League last season.

Laysh Schurman hasn't cracked out many base-hits this season but you've got to hand it to him for steady defensive play at the first sack. Laysh handles good and bad throws with equal facility. From a purely defensive standpoint we think "Colors" is the best first sacker in the league.

Calling games on account of darkness is perhaps an umpire's biggest headache. How can anyone tell the exact moment when it is too dark to play ball? An umpire calling a game between R. C. A. F. and C. B. with two C. C. B. players out and the score tied. Since the inning was incomplete the score reverted to even innings and the R. C. A. F. lost a very important ball game, which they had tied up. "Poor judgment" was the consensus of opinion among the fans, but there are two sides to most every question.

Two or three nights before this game, with the same umpire behind the plate, a wild pitch, uncorked in the semi-darkness, hit a batter on the head and this time the umpire was criticized for not calling the game sooner! In the play-off game between R. C. A. F. and C. B. another wild pitch was delivered and the ump. fearing another accident, conferred with his base-judges, and called the game. It was a tough break for the R. C. A. F. but there was some justification for the action nevertheless.

Someone has suggested the use of a light-meter such as photographers use. When it registers a certain minimum of light the umpire could be notified and he could call the game. Never having seen a light-meter, we don't know if that scheme is workable or not. But why couldn't a time-limit be set. This would relieve the umpire of all responsibility in calling a "outlet" regardless of the situation at the time.

Monday night in Brooklyn Lon Warneke, plate umpire, called one of Clyde King's deliveries "no pitch" because it had been delivered too quickly, not allowing the batter Gus Bell to get properly set. Were you listening, Mr. Local Umpire?

Please, Mr. Walter Peters and others in charge of ladies' softball, make a regulation making compulsory for catchers to wear masks. In a recent game a softball hit little Dot Gallant, C. & B. catcher right in the face. Fortunately it did little damage but it might have. Don't let that name "softball" fool you. If you've seen Dot, you'll know what we mean when we say that to muss up her features in any way would be a shame.

You've guessed it, fans. In the standing above the win column adds up to 27 and the loss column to 21. Everyone will agree that every time a game is won 4-1; also lost so the two columns should have identical totals. We think the compiler may have added two extra games to every team's total. It would be natural in a double "round-robin" series for each team in a five-team league to play eight games instead of ten. If you take two victories off each of the first four teams and two defeats off Grand River the columns agree.

SYDNEY, N.S., Aug. 28 — (CP) — Glace Bay Hawks moved to within one game of the Cape Breton Industrial Baseball League title today when they blanked Sydney steel city nine 5-0. Hawks took a 3-1 lead in the best-of-seven series.

New Upset King In 2nd Round Canadian Amateur Golf Tourney

By W. E. Wheatley
 ROYAL OTTAWA GOLF CLUB, Aug. 28 — (CP) — Ken Jacobs, 21-year-old crew-cut youngster from Toronto, supplanted the one big boom of fireworks today in the Canadian amateur golf championship.

Jacobs, in his first major tournament, hung a one-up defeat on Tommy Riddell of Montreal Beaconsfield, former Quebec amateur champion and long a contender in the Canadian amateur tournament.

The upset king of Monday's opening round came a cropper himself today. Johnston McCorkill of Toronto, who bounced out a top Canadian star, fell before Andre Tessier, unheralded 25-year-old player from Royal Quebec, 4 and 3.

McCormick could never find the putting touch that carried him through to his opening-round sensational win.

Favorites generally came through and the play was enlivened by three eagles fired by three players still strongly in the running. Bill Mawhinney of Vancouver, 1950 champion, won by default today after a first-round bye and will meet Allan Boes, Winnipeg veteran, in the morning round.

Two Americans are left. The most formidable appears to be Fred Kramer of Detroit, a 1947 Walker Cup player, who won 6 and 5 today over Stewart Vickers of Calgary.

William Martin, a veteran from Boston, played a steady, cool game to eliminate Hills Pickers of Montreal Beaconsfield 5 and 4. Morning and afternoon rounds will be played tomorrow, and by nightfall the field will be cut to 16.

Walter McElroy of Vancouver, one of the west coast's well-rated players, scored a 3 and 2 win over Bill (Pud) Beer of Charlottetown.

Pete Kelly, the perennial entrant from Fredericton, helped to mark the second round with one of three eagles shot. Kelly's tee shot at the 235-yard par four eighth hole came to rest on the eighth foot from the pin and he made sure of his putt. That kept him in front of Ted Hickey of Ottawa Rivermead and Pete, rounding the turn two up, finished with a 4 and 2 win on the 36th.

M. J. Mousief Dowling from Moncton and Charlottetown, and Capt. F. E. Cochran of Halifax, staged a cut-throat Maritime battle. Dowling winning two up, the same margin he held at the turn.

Big Bingo At Forum

The Biggest ever—that's the way to describe the Bingo which will be held in the Charlottetown Forum on Wednesday, September 5th. Bingo fans will benefit in the sharing of many fat prizes, and also among the benefactors will be the Island's two Orphanages.

Biggest prize of the evening will be the International Harvester refrigerator donated by Mr. W. R. Jenkins. This will go to the winner of the dollar freezout contest which will climax the evening's fun.

But the gleaming new refrigerator is only one of many tempting rewards for the holder of winning Bingo Cards, and there is not a cheap prize in the more than twenty-five which will be advertised in this paper on Thursday morning.

Numbered in the lot; list are such things as groceries, a man's overcoat, a ladies coat, a ladies gold watch, a bicycle, a pair of shoes, pen and pencil set, butter, coal and many other items of real value.

The members of the Islanders Hockey Club will lend a hand in stage-managing the big night, and in keeping the proceedings humming along, without in-between-bingo holdups. Assisting them will be some of the best bingo announcers in the city.

Since two charitable organizations, the Protestant Orphanage and St. Vincent's Orphanage will benefit financially from the night doings, the Bingo has the approval of the authorities beforehand.
