Educators Told Awareness Will Come Through Study

"If we are going to solve any of our problems in education we must first be aware of those problems. This will come only through study," said Miss Caroline Robins, Executive Secretary of the Continuing Committee of the Canadian Conference on Education, at Prince of Wales College last evening.

Miss Robins was addressing members of the Advisory Committee for the Canadian Conference on Education, the delegates to the Conference, and the members of the publicity and public relations committee.

The Canadian public has to make a more searching examination of what is happening in the educational field," she added.

Employment Situation Said Alarming By Labor Congress

OTTAWA (CP)—Employment rose and unemployment fell by slight margins during August, but the Canadian Labor Congress Wednesday called the situation alarming.

The 1,000,000-member CLC called on Prime Minister Diefenbaker for an immediate statement on government plans to provide jobs, following release of the government's monthly employment figures.

A congress statement also referred to the government's decision not to put the supersonic Arrow interceptor into production at this time—employment of some 25,000 Canadians could be affected—but steered away from a flat declaration of approval or disapproval.

The government figures produced an estimate that at Aug. 23 there were 281,000 people in Canada without jobs and looking for work, plus 37,000 on temporary layoff.

U.C. Wants Chemical Tests Of Blood Used As Evidence

OTTAWA (CP)—Chemical tests of alcohol content in a person's blood should be admissible as court evidence, the general council of the United Church of Canada decided Wednesday.

It approved a recommendation that the federal government be asked to revise the Criminal Code "so that chemical tests to measure the alcohol content of the blood be admissible as evidence in a court of law."

These suggestions were included in points of a number of resolutions dealt with by the 400 delegates from across Canada attending the 18th biennial council meeting. It opened in Chalmers Church here Sept. 17 and is to end tonight or Friday.

There was no indication during discussion of this resolution whether the majority of delegates favored making such tests compulsory.

On other matters, the council reaffirmed its belief that Canada should give diplomatic recognition to Communist China and support its admission to the United Nations.

Delegates also voted disapproval of the practice of "moonlighting" by which one person holds two jobs.

Reporting on the minister situation in the church, Dr. W. Harold Long of Toronto said he thinks "we're beginning to see daylight" as far as the supply of them is concerned.

During the last two years there had been a net increase of 99 in ministers serving the church. The church expected to ordain 115 ministers this year.

There were 186 new candidates this year and if this could be raised to 200 annually, within about three years the church would have virtually all the ministers it needed.

Mr. Pius Walker and Miss Mary Anne Walker, formerly of Launching and who now reside in Boston, Mass., are holidaying in Launching and on Monday were guests of Mrs. Annie Gardiner of Georgetown.

Miss Linda Treat of the nursing staff of the Grace Maternity Hospital in Halifax, N.S. is visiting in Georgetown, as the guest of Miss Sally Johnson.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Richards and son Kenneth, accompanied by Mrs. Harry Simmonds N. of P.E.I. Hospital, all wish him an early recovery to good health.

Avro Optimistic Arrow Program To Be Continued

TORONTO (CP)—A. V. Roe Canada Limited Wednesday expressed confidence in the future of the Avro Arrow jet interceptor and said Prime Minister Diefenbaker's defence policy statement Tuesday did not mean unemployment for its 14,000 aircraft workers.

Mr. Diefenbaker announced Tuesday the Arrow program will be continued until March although two projects connected with it—the Sparrow missile and the Astra fire control system—are being abandoned.

In March, he said, the program will be reviewed and its future decided on. "I want to stress most emphatically that the Arrow program has not been cancelled," Roe's president and general manager, Crawford Gordon, said in a statement.

NOTHING DEFINITE "Nor has it been decided not to put it into production. On the contrary the prime minister's statement said the development program is to continue and the whole matter will be reviewed in March.

"In the meantime operations are continuing at present levels. And being aware of the excellent performance so far of the Arrow and the nature of the military threat that we face, we are convinced that when their view does take place the Arrow will be ordered into full production."

THE LONE RANGER And The Lost City of Gold COMEDY CARTOON

From One Cook to Another by Mary Blake CARNATION Home Service Director SWEET'N'EASY

OF COURSE you want to indulge your family's love of sweet things—so long as that fits into your scheme of wise meal-planning. So—here are a few dessert ideas that are interesting and easy. First, a delicious hot pudding. Here, the sauce is baked right with the dessert. And because it's made with better-blending Carnation Evaporated Milk, the pudding has a smooth even texture not possible with any other form of milk.

CARAMEL-NUT PUDDING (Makes 6 servings) 1 cup sifted flour 2 1/2 tps. baking powder Pinch of salt 1 tbs. butter 1/2 cup sugar 1/2 cup undiluted CARNATION EVAPORATED MILK 1/2 tsp. vanilla (See below) 1/2 cup broken walnuts

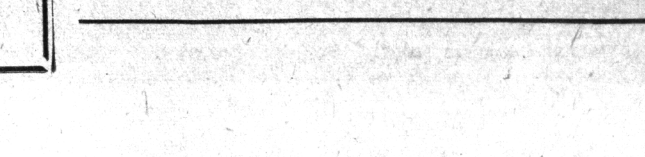

Sift together flour, baking powder, salt. Combine butter and sugar. Add flour, alternately with undiluted Carnation; combine after each addition. Add vanilla. Spread in greased 6-cup baking dish. THE SAUCE: Sprinkle 1 cup brown sugar over unbaked pudding. Heat 1/2 cup undiluted Carnation, 1/2 cup water, 1 tablespoon butter, to boiling point. Pour over pudding. Sprinkle with nuts. Bake about 35 minutes in rather slow oven, 325°.

I know you'll love my Broiled Orange-Almond Frosting. Because this recipe requires the double-richness of Carnation, no other form of milk will do. Broiled Orange-Almond Frosting: Combine thoroughly 1/4 cup melted butter, 1 cup firmly packed brown sugar, 1/4 cup undiluted CARNATION EVAPORATED MILK, 1 tablespoon grated orange rind, 1/2 cup chopped blanched almonds. Spread over warm baked cake. Place cake about 3 to 4 inches below heated broiler unit. Broil 1 to 2 minutes, until topping is bubbly.

5-MINUTE FUDGE (Makes about 2 pounds) 1/2 cup (small can) undiluted CARNATION EVAPORATED MILK 1 1/2 cups granulated sugar 1/2 teaspoon salt 1 1/2 cups (16 medium) diced marshmallows 1 1/2 cups semi-sweet chocolate chips 1 tsp. vanilla 1/2 cup chopped nuts

Mix Carnation, sugar and salt in saucepan over medium heat. Heat to boiling, then cook 5 minutes, stirring constantly. Remove from heat. Add remaining ingredients. Stir 1 to 2 minutes (until marshmallows melt). Pour into buttered 9-inch square pan. Cool. Cut in squares.

OTHER DELIGHTFUL RECIPES in my book, "Party Sweets". Send your request, with your name and address, to Mary Blake, Dept. SN, Carnation Co. Limited, Toronto.

TALK OVER PROSPECTS

B.M. Callaghan, Bill Brown and Rev. Preston Hammill were caught as they were talking over the prospects for the 24th annual Hospital Bazaar just before the affair was officially opened at the Community Centre last evening.

Canada's Missile Plans Approved By Washington

By GEORGE KITCHEN Canadian Press Staff Writer WASHINGTON (CP)—Canada's decision to adopt the American-born Bomarc missile for air defence received warm approval from U.S. defence officials Wednesday.

"Canada's defence is, after all, our own defence," a Pentagon spokesman said, describing the Bomarc as a "proven and successful" missile.

One of the Bomarc's feats was to score a kill on a drone aircraft after sweeping down from an altitude of 60,000 feet at a point more than 100 miles away from the target.

Developed for the U.S. Air Force by Boeing Aircraft, the Bomarc, which can carry a nuclear warhead, is a pilotless interceptor weapon designed to bring down attacking enemy aircraft far from their target.

The Pentagon spokesman said he is confident it will further the modernization of Canada's air defence. He described the Bomarc as the most potent of all the air defence missiles now in production in the U.S.

AREA DEFENCE WEAPON Unlike the Nike and Terrier missiles, which are "point" defence weapons, the Bomarc is what is known militarily as an "area" defence weapon.

Military officials say its full capability may only be realized when the U.S. Air Force places the gigantic SAGE (semi-automatic ground environment) information-gathering and computing system into full operation.

The Bomarc and the SAGE system go together in the air defence scheme, as was indicated by Prime Minister Diefenbaker's Ottawa announcement Tuesday that, in addition to adopting the Bomarc, Canada also plans to introduce the SAGE system into the Canadian defence setup.

The Bomarc is powered by a pair of ramjet engines plus a jet liquid-propellant booster mounted in the tail. It has an estimated range of 200 to 300 miles. Its range may be increased by the use of high-energy synthetic fuels.

The Bomarc roars towards its target at speeds of more than 2 1/2 times the speed of sound. Although already in production, the Bomarc is not scheduled to become operational in the U.S. until the latter part of next year.

Work was started last spring on Bomarc launching sites in Maine, Massachusetts, New York and New Jersey.
