

Two Fish Stories.

They tell of a singular thing that happened at Greenwood Lake the other day. The little son of Mr. Wishbone, 7 years of age—the son, not the old man—had been in the habit of feeding the pickerel that abound in the lake, especially one of enormous size. One day the little fellow, while engaged at this from the boat in front of his father's residence, fell overboard, and this identical pickerel, with a memory of the past worthy of all praise, swam to the boy, took the lappel of his jacket tenderly in his mouth, and swam with him to the shore. Then seeing that the lad was unconscious it ran up to the house and brought the family down. It waited only long enough to see the boy resuscitated, and then went away. The father has been looking ever since for the fish to reward it.

Another singular case is that of a lady, who, walking on the banks of the Bronx, heard plaintive cries. She looked about and saw suspended in a tree a small catfish, scarcely able to struggle, and beseeching help. The lady climbed the tree, released the trembling fish, who appeared to have been there about a week. But how he got there is unexplainable unless he was thrown there by some inhuman angler. No sooner had the little animal touched the ground than he knelt at the lady's feet, kissed the hem of her garments, and manifested the most extreme joy and gratitude, throwing himself into the water amid profuse apologies for being obliged to depart. And yet there are people who say that fish are incapable of gratitude.—J. W. Watson in Life.

ADVICE TO MOTHERS.—Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain; and the little cherub awakes as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for diarrhea, whether arising from teething or other causes. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Be sure and ask for Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup, and take no other kind. mar17 eod & wky
