LATEST NEWS BY WIRE AND MAIL

TORONTO, Nov. 10.—In its report of 1893 the Bureau of mines contained a paper by the late Edmund Jack, of Fredericton, N. B., who was an enthusiast on the matter of peat moss as a substitute for cold storage. He told of the results in Germany, where fish packed in peat moss for a fortnight were found to retain their freshness and delicate, and perishable fruits were found to retain all their qualities. It now appears that the report has borne fruits. The Bureau of Mines has received word that a shipment of perishable fruits sent to England from Canada by Alex. Jardine showed the immense utility peat moss tremendous absorbent qualities render it a great antidote.

Abyssinian Conditions.
The last Mohammedan aggression against Abyssinia took place in 1876, when 3,600 Egyptian troops attempted without previous declaration of war to overrun the province of Tigre in order to bring Abyssinia into subjection to the Egyptian state. Professor Reinisch was at the time on a journey to Abyssinia and witnessed the patriotic spirit which inspired the people. On the self-same day that the Egyptian troops began to land at Massaua swift messengers carried the news thence into the interior. From hill to hill blazed the far seen beacon fires, and warcries rang throughout the provinces of the kingdom. On the following day the centers of population already resembled military camps. Priests and monks were everywhere preaching a holy war for the defense of the cross and the fatherland. Without military summons of recruiting of volunteers all the able-bodied men of their own accord got ready their guns, swords and lances. Women and slaves looked to the supply of provisions, and within a week 20,000 well equipped men turned out from the province of Hamasen alone to occupy the mountain pass toward Tigre before the Egyptian troops had left Massaua. The outcome of the war, so fatal to Egypt, is well known. It gave the immediate impulse to the events which finally led to the occupation of Egypt by Great Britain.

As regards the probable destination of Abyssinia, Professor Reinisch gave it as his opinion that—at least within a measurable time—it will certainly not share the fate of the Egyptians. They have been for centuries a nation of slaves; the Abyssinians a race of freeman. The conquest of the country by a nation capable of bearing the great expense necessary is, of course, possible, but it may be safely said that it is a much lighter task to conquer Abyssinia than to govern it afterward. For, in spite of the fertility of certain provinces, it is today a poor country, having been exhausted by its wars. To bring back its prosperity the blessings of a secured and lasting peace are urgently needed.—Geographical Journal.

The Value of Credit.
Is there anything under the sun that will fill the place of credit? I believe not. If there is, I have never met with it. Cash is the only available substitute, and even that fails in many instances.

There are firms in New York that will refuse to open an account for cash with a man who has no credit. They will have no business transactions with any one who has not a current credit rating in this market. Yet those same firms will not hesitate to open an account with a man whom they find relatively well rated.

I have experienced that singular thing—a wholesale firm that refused to sell goods for cash to a merchant who had no credit rating. Reference showed that he always paid cash and neither sought nor received credit. The firm in question refused to sell to him. It had no assurance of his soundness, no other testimony of his disposition to play fair other than that he paid as he went, so it positively refused to do business with him. He asked no accommodation at its hands. He wanted goods and would pay on the spot, yet it positively refused to place his name upon its books in any capacity whatever.

This only goes to show that "no record" is a bad record. The man who is not rated good is bad. Some men will persist in judging every man a rogue until he is proved honest.

Be careful of your credit. You can have no more precious possession than a good name, nor more valuable capital than a good credit rating. The practice of having your check received by your creditor the day it is due instead of sending it on that day is a trifling thing, yet it will not go unnoticed. Trifles like this supplement your rating in dollars and cents and help to stiffen it. Make no promises you cannot keep, and whether prompt or slow be as good as your word.—Dry Goods Chronicle.

Assignee's Notice.

Pursuant to the provisions of the deed of assignment from Messrs. McLeod & Jardine, of Mount Stewart, Prince Edward Island, Merchants, to me, bearing date the third day of May, A.D. 1897, I hereby give notice, that a dividend, equal to ten per cent. of the respective amounts owing by said firm, to the unpreferred creditors thereof, is now payable at the office of Messrs. McLeod, Morson & McQuarrie, Solicitors, Charlottetown, to all such creditors as will, within one month after notice of such dividend, accept the same in full of their respective demands, pursuant to the provisions of such assignment. The dividend of any creditor refusing or neglecting to accept such dividend in full, within the time aforesaid, will be distributed, pro rata, amongst such creditors as will accept the terms of said assignment.

Dated this second day of November, A.D. 1897.
JOHN J. McQUARIE,
Assignee.
