

Fishermen Hit Jackpot Saturday

A quartette of Charlottetown fishermen hit the jackpot on Saturday and all returned to the city with creels of shovable trout.

Mr. Lloyd Wonnacott, Stanley Bryanton, and the Murley brothers, Jim and Buller composed the lucky expedition.

On the advice of Mr. Wonnacott, the party tried the Cardigan River and much to their amazement caught sixteen trout ranging from three-quarters of a pound to three pounds. A stiff wind was blowing and the tide was well on the rise before the men commenced fishing. Until the men got too high they had wonderful luck. Mr. Wonnacott snared the biggest fish, and also the most, five.

To finish off the afternoon's outing, the quartette went to Whittlock's Pond for some late evening fishing. They saw few fish for more than an hour, and were ready to call it quits as the moon rose. It was decided, however, as suggested by Mr. Wonnacott, to wait a half hour longer. Shortly after the moon came up, all four fishermen began to catch all four within the hour each had his limit. The Whittlock trout averaged up well, with Jim Murley hooking the biggest one, a pound and three quarters.

Three of the four have caught three pound trout this year.

In addition to the one he beached yesterday, Mr. Wonnacott has to his credit a three pounder taken at a North side stream in mid-June. Mr. Bryanton landed his prize specimen, three pounds six ounces, at Howland in Prince County two weeks ago and Buller Murley hooked his big one at Jordan's stream at Bristol in late June.

Crowds Stranded By Mishap To Fairview

A large number of people were temporarily stranded at Rocky Point Saturday afternoon when ferry "Fairview" developed a burned bearing and had to cease operations for several hours while repairs were made. Crowds of picnickers heading for home on the six o'clock sailing were left waiting on the wharf with a long string of cars. Other motorists on learning of the tie-up took to the road and drove the 22 miles around via the West River Bridge.

Regulations Re Unemployment Insurance Changed

Amendments to the Unemployment Insurance Regulations, to take effect in mid-July, will be of interest to all wage earners. According to officials of the Charlottetown Employment Commission, higher benefit rates will be paid to most contributors to the fund after July 14th, and the number of waiting days prior to the payment of claims, will be reduced from eight to five.

People paying the highest rate of contributions, who have a dependent, will receive hereafter $24.00 per week while drawing benefits, and there has been a corresponding increase in all but two of the lower contributor classes.

The reduction in the waiting period had been urged by labor organizations across Canada for several years, and has been acclaimed by these bodies with satisfaction.

In this Province the "waiting days" have been the cause of annoyance and misunderstanding. It is felt that the several thousand people on the Island who annually file claims at the Summerside and Charlottetown offices of the Unemployment Insurance Commission will be pleased with the changes.

Major Ives Leaves On Return To India

Major Claude Ives left yesterday on return to India where he has been one of the Canadian Army officers acting as United Nations observers in Kashmir. Major Ives came home on leave in May after three years' absence on duty.

The task of the observers is to supervise the line drawn at the time of the cease-fire order in the dispute between India and Pakistan until such time as settlement is reached regarding the fate of Kashmir. The officers' work has taken them to many parts of the state and through some rugged mountain territory.

Major Ives, a son of Mr. and Mrs. T. G. Ives, Longworth Avenue, is a veteran of the Second World War during which he saw service in several theatres of action. He will sail for India from New York following a stay in Ottawa for official talks.

years less one month, a record in the province.

Under his administration, covering the booming years after the First World War and the critical, difficult years of depression that followed, the bulk of legislation which still stands in Quebec's statutes books was enacted.

Quebec's basic farm and mining laws, the opening of new areas in Northwestern Quebec and the establishment of settlers, the organization of the province's network of highways, the press act, the liquor laws are among the achievements of his administration.

During his long political career, Mr. Taschereau was the Quebec Legislative Assembly for Montmorency constituency. He held at one time or another the portfolios of public works, provincial treasurer and attorney-general.

He was a tall, erect man who until recently could still be seen walking along Quebec's fashionable, three-lined Grande Allee. His health waned after the death of his 81-year-old wife Jan. 24.

Mr. Taschereau is survived by three sons, Robert, a Justice of the Supreme Court of Canada; Paul, Quebec lawyer; and Charles, Montreal engineer; and two daughters, Mrs. Cortland Fages and Mrs. Louis Gelinias, of Montreal.

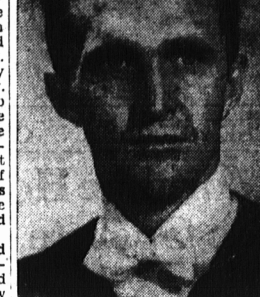

Celebrate Sixtieth Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jardine, 85 Hillsborough Street, last Saturday celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary. Mr. Jardine, now 85, has been retired for several years. He had previously been a successful farmer near Breadalbane and prior to that had taught school.

He is a native of Mt. Stewart where he and Mrs. Jardine, 81, a native of St. Andrews, were married by Rev. A. B. MacLeod of the Presbyterian Church in 1892. The aged couple are still in "fairly good health", Mr. Jardine said, although last fall he suffered a broken hip.

They have two sons living, Edgar Jardine, C.N.R. train dispatcher here, and Arthur Jardine, Winnipeg. They have one grandchild, Paul Jardine, Winnipeg. Mrs. Jardine is the former Miss Edith Farquharson, St. Andrews, P.E.I.
