Golden Wedding

MR. AND MRS. HARLAN FOUND

Dr. and Mrs. Eric Found entertained at their home, 107 North River Road, on October 30th to honour Mr. and Mrs. Harlan Found on the anniversary of their golden wedding.

Assisting the host and hostess in receiving guests were Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Found.

Supporting the bride and groom of fifty years, were their two bridesmaids, Mrs. Gavin Harding and Mrs. George Campbell. Present also was the organist Miss Ethel Inman. The groomsmen who now resides in Toronto was unable to be present.

The drawing-room and hall were most attractively brightened with numerous baskets of yellow and bronze roses and chrysanthemums. The guests were ushered to the dining room in the afternoon by Mrs. James Montgomery and in the evening by Mrs. Reginald Aitken. The table was covered by a hand crocheted lace cloth and was centred by yellow roses and tapers.

Dispensing hospitality in the afternoon were Mrs. LeBaron Tait, Mrs. Gordon Lea, Mrs. Wendell MacDonald and Mrs. Gordon Hutcheson. In the evening, Miss Marion Ryan, Miss Irma Tait and Mrs. Fulton Piers.

Presiding over the tea cups were Mrs. J. A. Wilson and Mrs. Ernest Champion.

Mr. and Mrs. Harlan Found were the happy recipients of congratulations, flowers, gifts, cards and telegrams. They have two sons, Eric and Aubrey, and three grandchildren, Jean, Allan, and Mary Janet.

12 Killed in Mine Blast

KAYFORD, W. Va., Nov. 1.—(AP) — An explosion flared through a new coal mine early today, killing 12 men. Two of them were a father-and-son team.

Forty rescue workers reached them after struggling through gas, fallen rock and debris blocking the passageways of United Mine No. 1 of the Trux-Traer Coal Co.

They found seven bodies by late afternoon, some under heaps of slate and big chunks from the roof. Just before nightfall they located the other five three-quarters of a mile back in the mountain.

The bodies, wrapped in blankets, were carried past sorrowing relatives who had huddled all day in the intermittent drizzle.

The first nine out had been burned, indicating they had been killed outright by the explosion, apparently caused by the ignition of coal dust.

NEW DELHI—(CP)—Grain storage depots in Central Assam were looted recently by three rogue elephants. Terrified villagers ran for shelter but were not attacked by the elephants who also destroyed some thatched huts.

A Feature for Every Friday Among The Farmers Federation Of Agriculture News

Hallowe'en

In years gone by, farmers regarded Hallowe'en as a deadline for the harvesting and storing of crops; experience had taught that the weather could not be depended upon after November 1st and prudence dictated that no chances be taken.

In most years it is quite safe to take a chance on the turnip crop up to the middle of November. Last year Christmas would have been ok. 1933 was a notable exception when a very hard frost on either the third or fourth of November seriously damaged the crop and the heavy snowfall prevented harvesting in some cases.

Price Fixing

The Financial Post lays a charge of discrimination in the policy of the Department of Justice which cracks down on price fixing for such articles as bread, glass, matches, and other manufactured products, while at the same time, permitting price fixing for various agricultural products.

The Financial Post undoubtedly realizes fully the vast difference that exists between private companies fixing prices for purely selfish reasons, and without regard to the general welfare and governments and the people deciding and agreeing on fair returns to agricultural producers whose efforts to establish orderly marketing have in many cases been bedevilled by legal technicalities.

Private manufacturers use price fixing to stifle competition and to exploit the consumer. Agricultural producers use it to insure the cost of production and to stabilize prices to the consumer.

The time has come when those who publicly worship the sacred cow of free enterprise should publicly demonstrate a sense of fair play and public responsibility.

Poet With A Butcher's Soul

A leading Canadian magazine recently carried an article entitled "The Butcher With A Poet's Soul"—the life story of the head of Canada's largest meat packing concern.

The subject of the article publicly acknowledges his policy to be, "We buy cattle as cheap as we can, and we sell beef for as much as we can get". With the soundness of this policy from a business standpoint we have no argument, but with its implications insofar as fair returns to the producer and fair treatment for the consumer we have some doubt.

In referring to the importation of meat the gentleman in question states, "It is not my job to protect the farmer. That job is yours. If we did not bring that meat in, somebody else would."

The foregoing is a statement of fact which farmers should realize in all Provinces.

More People—Fewer Cows

Canada's human population is steadily increasing while the cow population is just as steadily declining and Canada is the only one of thirteen major dairying countries which shows a decline in milk production over the past three years.

In 1942 Canadian farmers produced 1500 pounds of milk for every person in Canada but, only 1200 in 1951. From the standpoint of good nutrition and sound farming practices, we are apparently not moving in quite the right direction.

For the past ten years the man who milks cows has not had the encouragement necessary to enable him to compete with more profitable branches of agriculture and more recently duty free imported vegetable oils. The eight hour day has no place on the dairy farm and the $1.00 an hour return for labor is still a remote possibility.

Milk consumption is possibly the best single barometer of National Health—the glass is evidently falling.

No—Not Us

We feel very kindly towards the President of the Canadian Association of Consumers regarding her remarks on inflationary responsibility.

Mrs. W. R. Walton, Jr. felt that it jointly rested with government, industry and labor to set their respective houses in order in an attempt to give the consumer an even break for his money.

Apparently in the mind of the Consumer Association, agriculture has been exonerated of guilt and is responsible in only small part for the inflationary spiral. Mrs. Walton is definitely walking the Federation line, that if and when price controls are applied that wages, salaries, and profits should not be exempt.

Agricultural Show Case

The Maritime Winter Fair is justly regarded as a show window for the finest that Maritime agriculture can produce. Those who compete and win can feel assured that their exhibit comes in a very high category of excellence; those who visit and observe can use the exhibits as a yard stick to measure their own achievements.

Farm people will find at the end of a busy season that a few days spent at the Maritime Royal will be a welcome change from the unbroken activities of the past season and an opportunity to widen their horizons and gain inspiration.
