DOE AND KID.

How the Old Chamolis Teaches the Youngster to Jump. We had a full half hour to wait before the drive began and were rewarded by one of the prettiest and most interesting sights and lessons in natural history I have ever seen—namely, the sight of an old chamolis giving its young kid a lesson in jumping.

A few minutes after we had been seated quietly at our posts, and before the drive began the keeper called my attention to a chamolis' head and neck which had suddenly appeared on the sky line about 150 yards off. It turned out to be a doe with a kid. They came along slowly, not at all thinking of danger and not in any way disturbed by the drivers, who were a mile or two away and who had not yet begun to drive.

They both came quietly down the steep mountain side until they came to a place where there was a drop of about 12 feet, and then took place the following beautiful sight, which was also witnessed by S. and his jager from where they sat: The old chamolis jumped down, as a matter of course, but the kid faked and would not follow. The old one looked up at it and then went back another way to the ledge on which the kid was standing and again jumped down so as to show the young one how to do it and looking up to it as much as to say: "Come along, you little stupid! It won't hurt you." But the kid faked again and would not follow. The mother thereupon returned a second time to the ledge and proceeded to push the kid with her head and made it jump down and followed it herself. Then came the climax. The old one and the young one both went round again to the same ledge, and the old one jumped down first, and this time the kid followed immediately, having been taught that it was safe and easy enough.—Baltimore Magazine

MESSAGE TO MEN

Proving that True Honesty and True Philanthropy still exists

If any man who is weak, nervous and debilitated, or who is suffering from any of the various troubles resulting from youthful folly, excesses or overwork, will take heart and write to me, I will send him confidentially and free of charge the plan pursued by which I was completely restored to perfect health and manhood, after years of suffering from Nervous Debility, loss of Vigor and Organic Weakness.

I have nothing to sell, and therefore want no money, but as I know through my own experience how to sympathize with such sufferers, I am glad to be able to assist any fellow-beings to a cure. I am well aware of the prevalence of quackery, for I myself was deceived and imposed upon until I nearly lost faith in mankind but I rejoice to say that I am now perfectly well and happy once more and am desirous therefore to make this certain means of cure known to all. If you will write to me you can rely upon being cured and the proud satisfaction of having been of great service to one in need will be sufficient reward for my trouble. Absolute secrecy assured. Send 5c silver to cover postage and address Mr. G. Strong, North Roc k rd, Mich. 135 p&w.

Testimonial

C. P. Fletcher, Esq. DEAR SIR,—I do not wish to return to Montreal without expressing my gratitude to you for the very excellent Bell Piano that you placed at my disposal for my recital. I have tried many Canadian Pianos of different manufacturers, and must say that, considering the size of the instrument, I have never found one to equal it for depth and brilliancy of tone. The action is quite as elastic and responsive as in American Upright Pianos of the highest grade. Again thanking you, very sincerely, I remain, Yours, FRED. E. MORRIS

AWFUL WICKEDNESS.

Boarding School Young Ladies Shocked at the Actresses' Engagements. When the weather is fine, neither too hot nor too cold, and the preceptress herself has tested it by sticking her head out of the window, four or five of the most dignified pupils of a North Side boarding school for girls are allowed to accompany that learned lady in a stroll about the most elevating parts of Lincoln park.

Three or four of the latter class were seated one afternoon on a rustic torture endeavoring to extract beauty out of the H2O of Lake Michigan. Their guide and teacher were one of those smiles which, to borrow an expression from photography, may be called a long exposure.

Presently, on another seat, within easy hearing distance, sat two fashionably dressed ladies. They were members of the dramatic profession, although no one could have guessed it by their appearance. From their quaint ways the girls from the boarding school took them to be butterflies of society, perhaps ornamenting the very top set. They became immediately interested.

"Did you hear about my new engagement?" said one of the newcomers.

"Another already? You don't mean it!" said the other. "Why, that's four you've had in as many months."

"I know it," responded the first, "and this may not last very long either."

It is needless to say that the five young ladies and their preceptress were shocked. They had never heard, even read, of such duplicity.

"How do you like his company?" asked one.

"Not at all," replied the other. "That's too bad," said the first. "I should think you would be very happy."

"I would be," replied the other, "but, you see, I'm playing a dual role."

"Well, it may be trying," responded the second, "but I wish I were in your place. Is he an 'angel'?"

"No, but that young man whom he calls his partner is."

This was more than the auditors could stand, and, at a signal from the preceptress, they marched home thoroughly horror-stricken.—Chicago Exchange.
