

THE DAILY EXAMINER.

OCTOBER 29, 1892.

Notes and Comments.

—One interesting feature of the Presidential contest is an agitation for the abolition of the tax on wool.

—In Montreal, the other day, two young thieves, aged 10 and 12 years, respectively, were condemned and sent to the Reformatory. In Charlottetown the other day, one young thief, aged 11 years, was sent to jail to herd with the other prisoners and learn additional lessons in crime; the other was sent back to his old haunts. We have no reformatory!

—The Toronto Globe remarks that "there was much warmth and enthusiasm over the high educational sentiments voiced by Dr. Carson, Mr. Goldwin Smith, Hon. Richard Harcourt and Mr. Wm. Mulock, M. P., at a recent college meeting, but it was all eclipsed by the spontaneous cheer that rose from the crowded and crowding audience when Dr. Potts announced that Mr. H. A. Massey had endowed a chair of theology in the college by a check for $40,000."

—Perhaps the Montreal Gazette is a little too severe when it says "The tour of addresses which Erasmus Wilson is making of the Maritime Provinces is chiefly significant as evidence of the persistence and humbugginess of this gentleman." Mr. Wilson may perhaps believe that he is the friend of Canadians. All the same, he preaches a gospel which, if he should be successful, must of necessity result in the political effacement of Canada. But he won't be successful.

—During the agitation in England for new legislation concerning accidents to workmen on public works it has come out that 12,000 men employed on the Manchester ship canal, 1,100 have been killed outright and 1,700 permanently injured, making a total of 5,000 who have met with accident in the progress of their work, and for whose recovery no less than three hospitals were necessary. This list of killed and wounded equals if not exceeds that of a sanguinary campaign in time of war. Mr. Gladstone has promised to take up the question in order to find out where the blame lies and what means can be taken to prevent such wholesale slaughter in the future.

—"A newspaper is always printed in a rush," says the New York Sun. "There is always something in it that should be left out; something left out that should have been put in. It is sometimes too quick to act, but with all its faults and shortcomings there is more education in a bright, new paper, than there is in any novel. You will find the brightest boy on practical sensible every day events in the boy who reads the newspapers. In the household where no newspaper is taken, you will find poverty of the direst kind, poverty of the mind."

—The Frederick Reporter strongly condemns Mr. Blair for his "open catering to the Catholic vote." It says: "The sectarian cry, as Mr. Blair has been pleased to call it was all right enough, so long as it could be used by himself, and Protestant interests could be kept in abeyance. It was all right so long as York and other Catholic polls could be handled quietly, and the Orange and Protestant vote could be rolled in line by Messrs. Culter and Wilson, but Mr. Blair cries now like a whipped cur, about the sectarian cry when Protestants rise in indignation at his open and pronounced trucking to that vote."

—The Montreal Witness has retracted and apologized to Mr. Curran, M. P., for having intimated that he was using his public position to make personal gain at the expense of appointees to public offices nominated by him. The Gazette points out the mistake which the Witness made. It was specific in naming the crime and the opponent it desired to injure. Hence the trouble. It should always be general and condemn the Government or the Tories. These are non-corporate and cannot sue. By tackling an individual who can start the courts at work it falls into unpleasant necessities and gets holes punched in its reputation for righteous infallibility.

—The overwhelming army of Germany is to be largely increased under the provisions of the bill recently passed. When the reorganization under the bill is completed the German army will have attained a strength of 4,400,000. The bill retains the power of the military authorities to keep men in the ranks until they have completed their third year of service. Nearly half a million men will be kept constantly under arms in fear that France will break out in that delayed but expected war of revenge. The victory of 1871 and the spoliation of French territory have been a costly affair for the German people. Her poor people are being overwhelmed by taxes to keep up the army. But those of France and Russia are in just as bad a plight. The peaceable subject of one of the great military powers of Europe in an unfortunate individual.

—Lord Rosebery, in replying to the toast of the Institute of Journalists at the recent conference of that body in the Waterloo Hotel, Edinburgh, said that he was not sure that he looked upon the concentration of newspaper power in such a way with unalloyed approval. The press, scattered and individualistic, was powerful enough, but when it became a trade union, it made him feel very much as the nervous London householder felt in presence of the London county council. If in addition to other mighty guilds united for common defence or aggression, they were to have a concentration of the greatest power of the age, private individuals had better seek some other sphere of influence. One counter-individualist—the institute gave him as a counter-individualist—recognized the principle that underlies the great movement with which he was connected. The constitution of the body and its membership were, for that reason, most gratifying to him, and must be so to all who had the welfare of the Empire at heart. The Institute of Journalists was not confined to the newspaper men of the British Isles, but comprised representatives of the press of the vast empire over the sea, in whose behalf the cause was being fought. For their limits, public opinion and good taste were the sole ones that they recognized.

—We received yesterday our repeat order of Blankets and Comforts which we cleared out during our recent sale. These goods are bought at least 15 per cent. cheaper than any firm handling these goods, and are being sold very cheap.—W. A. Weeks & Co., next Beer & Goff.

County Court.
The County Court is still in session. The suit of Malcolm McKinnon vs. Jas. McCallum, for breach of contract in the sale of self-binder, was concluded on Thursday last and judgment reserved.

The following are the most important cases since tried:
David Cavanagh vs. Michael P. Hogan—An action of trover for a sewing machine, $25.00. Judgment reserved. Blanchard for defendant.
John McKenzie and wife vs. Patrick Duffy—An action for work and labor in board and nursing an infant child. Plaintiffs claimed $120. Judgment for $35. W. S. Stewart for plaintiffs; A. Peters for defendant.

John Joy vs. Hedley V. Palmer, Peter Bradley, Thomas Taylor and Donald A. Bruce. An action of damages for assault and false imprisonment, and of trover for illegal seizure of gold watch and five cases of oyster clams. This suit is based upon a capias issued out of the City Court and tried summarily by the Stipendiary Magistrate under the powers conferred upon Justices of the Peace by virtue of the County Court Act. After trial the plaintiff was discharged by the Magistrate and was re-arrested some time afterwards by defendants Bradley and Taylor under an execution issued on Mr. Bruce's order by Mr. Palmer, the Clerk of the City Court. He was afterwards released from this arrest and the goods above mentioned seized under the same execution. Plaintiff claims that his arrest under the execution after his having been released under the capias was illegal and that the execution was void having been issued by Mr. Palmer as Clerk of the City Court instead of by Mr. Fitzgerald as Justice of the Peace. Hence he claims $150 damages. Judgment reserved. Mr. Stewart for plaintiff; Mr. Hedley Palmer for self and other defendants.

Michael J. Dalton vs. Peter Bradley—An action of assault for $50 damages. In this suit plaintiff claimed that defendant exercised undue violence as a police officer in forcing him into the prisoners' seat in the police court. The evidence did not sustain the plaintiff's charge, and judgment was given for the defendant.

Personal.

HAMILTON March 21st, 1892.
Dr. L. A. Smith & Co., 336 Bloor St., Toronto:
Gents.—Please ship us per G. T. R. freight prepaid, three (3) gross more of your Anti-Dandruff. This makes six gross, or 864 bottles, purchased from you since January 15th, 1892, a little more than two months. The large demand is due to the merits of the preparation, as our customers to whom we have sold it testify. We find it not only removes the dandruff and sebum, but it is an elegant hair-dressing for the hair. Clean to use and has an agreeable odor. It is one of the best preparations we know of to promote the growth of the hair and prevent its falling out. Wishing you continued success and an extended sale, We remain, Yours truly, Jno. A. BARR & Co. J. A. B.
