HAPPENINGS

Senator Elsie Inman spent several days with Mrs. John Jack at the home of Mrs. Jack's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edmund Maynard, Northam. Senator Inman visited the Biological Research Station at Bideford and the Stewart Memorial Hospital, Tyne Valley, and gathered some valuable information and data. Mrs. Jack entertained at an evening party of 35 people in honor of Senator Inman.

Mrs. Joseph Davison, Kensington, was receiving the congratulations of her numerous friends on Tuesday, October 2nd, the occasion being Mrs. Davison's eighty-fifth birthday.

Mrs. Noel H. DeBlois and Mrs. H. L. Palmer entertained Saturday afternoon at a miscellaneous shower in honor of Miss Doris Hillon, on October 1st. The party was held at Mrs. Palmer's residence, Crestwood Drive. The many lovely gifts were presented in a beautifully decorated basket. Mrs. J. P. Hillon presided over the tea-cups. Assisting the hostesses were Mrs. Clive Stewart and Mrs. Tom DeBlois.

Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Brehaut, Birchwood Avenue, leave Saturday morning for Ottawa. They will visit their son Corporal Blair Brehaut of the R.C.M.P. Mrs. Brehaut and little granddaughter, Brenda Joyce.

Miss Grace Crosby, whose marriage to Mr. George Allison Mutch takes place on Thursday, was pleasantly surprised when Mrs. Ross Affleck, Mrs. Keith Robinson and Mrs. Ernest Moore, entertained in her honor. Sitting under a prettily decorated parasol, the popular young bride opened the lovely gifts.

Miss Crosby was the recipient of many lovely gifts when Mrs. John Edwards, Hampshire, entertained in her honor.

The Misses Margaret Riley, Grace Dingwell and Miriam Mathew entertained at a miscellaneous shower in honor of Miss Crosby.

On Monday evening, Miss Crosby was happily showered with numerous gifts when the Misses Phyllis and Velma Munn entertained at their home in her honor. The accompanying verses were read by Miss Eleanor Carson.

Following the regular meeting of the Fern Levy World Wide Guild of the Charlottetown Baptist church, Miss Crosby was showered with favorite recipes and presented with an appropriate gift by members.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Winters and Mr. and Mrs. E. Irving of Attleboro, Mass., have spent a vacation at their former homes in Cape Blomidon. While on vacation they visited Mr. Winters' brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Everett Winters, Upper Prince Street. They were accompanied by Mrs. Norris Green who will spend some time in Attleboro, Mass.

Miss Noreen Greenan, Principal of St. Peter's Lake School, attended the Rural Youth Fair, which was held at the Exhibition grounds on Friday.

The Beta Sigma Phi sorority recently held a meeting at the home of Mrs. Harold Milligan. Plans were made for the coming year's work. Lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Ralph Manning and Miss Frances MacMillan.

Mrs. Carroll Delaney, president of the Summerside branch of the Catholic Women's League, entertained at Mulberry Lodge at noon on Monday, Miss Susan Potter, who conducted a fashion show of tableware in the Summerside Civic Auditorium on the following evening under the sponsorship of the league.

GUEST STARS
PARIS (AP)—American ballet dancers Margotie Talchiet and George Skibine will be guest stars of the Paris National Opera House under terms of a one-year contract starting Jan. 1. Miss Talchiet and her Russian-born husband have been appearing here for several years as stars of the Marquis de Cuevas Ballet Company.

PAPER SEIZED
PARIS (Reuters)—Police here seized Tuesday's issue of the Paris Communist newspaper L'Humanite, under provisions of a law giving their emergency powers to "quell attempts against the security of the state." A front-page article in the paper attacked French policy in Algeria and the recent arrest of 41 persons accused of forming an underground Communist network.

HOUSEHOLD HINT
Don't forget a bathing suit needs a good washing after it has been in salt water and on the sand.

Two Children Are Help To Doll Dressmaker

MONTREAL (CP)—Mrs. Dorothy Block, a 29-year-old housewife, did a $5,000 business in dolls' clothes last year, and expects the figure will be higher as she and her housewife-workers get ready for Christmas orders.

It started with a tea party last winter. "I saw the possibilities of selling dolls' clothes when one of the guests who had brought a few pieces just for fun, disposed of every one of them," says Mrs. Block. She and a friend next day bought $12 worth of assorted materials and began sewing.

In a couple of days they had made their first sale—a $16 order from a Montreal department store for a half-dozen doll nurse uniforms and cotton dresses.

DISTINCTIVE PIECES
They knew there were major manufacturers of clothing for dolls but figured there was a market for distinctive, hand-finished pieces. Now, the production and marketing of these miniature wardrobes is keeping her busy.

"We want 10 part-time seamstresses sewing for us, and an equal number of other part-time help," Mrs. Block explains. "I do the designing and cutting, with some professional aid from a pattern-maker. Our seamstresses work at home and send finished garments back to me. Then my bookkeeper, Mrs. Lillian Smith, and I ship out completed orders to the 30 stores and four dolls' hospitals on our list. This month we set up our own retailer in business, which will keep us up-to-date on customer-wants from her sales experiences."

Lines of miniature dresses fill Mrs. Block's apartment. Her own two children and neighborhood friends form a sort of advance buyers' team, inspecting new additions with comments of "it's keen," or "I wouldn't put my doll in that." This helps greatly, says Mrs. Block, in presenting the right samples to store buyers.

The group now has 15 different wardrobe items. One is an early French-Canadian coat complete with knitted red woolen leggings, mitts, sash and toque. Periodically Mrs. Block designs other items of "typically Canadian" or "different" dolls' wearing apparel.

YOUNGSTERS UP-TO-DATE
But these historic fashions are not best sellers. "Little girls seem to prefer dressing their dolls just like themselves," she sighs. "They like nurses' uniforms, but otherwise standard ideas sell best."

Such a business is fun, a useful outlet, and might even show a profit for other Canadian women, says Mrs. Block. (So far, the group known as Dolls' Outfitters has just about broken even.) "You'll need a little capital," she says, "and a good bookkeeper. Find out what you can make that isn't already flooding the market, and be content to pro-

Fight Colitis Help Bowels and Stomach

ELLEN'S DIARY

October Is A Nice Month

So September followed the Summer away and the hand of the westerling year must beckon a new month to the vacancy a bonnie month, a lad we think, brown of skin, wizardry in his smile, "Remind me to gather these before some smart squirrel spirits them away" a young companion on a summer-stroll said stopping where hazelnuts grew.

"They vanish overnight!" James offered, "or so I've heard the old folks say."

"October!" another lad commented the other night eyes popping at the thought of its sorcery. "That's when Hallowe'en comes-yes, the very last night of it!" Then he lowered his voice respectfully, evidently neither believing nor yet entirely disbelieving, "you'll hear dogs barking at nothing, and rustles of ghosts, and perhaps catch sight of a witch riding away over the housetop."

"You don't like it!" we chuckled. "You don't like it?" he breathed. "I certainly do. If it's good and dark it's an exciting night—there's something about it!"

What an amount of harvesting must for the most part, be crowded into the October days ahead! Grain, potatoes, mangels, turnips—what an imposing list and a little fearful it is.

This afternoon at "the other farm" on the far side of Rob's there our harvesting made headway. At a last reaping there, the work undertaken instead of the threshing as planned it having been delayed by morning showers. Other reaping, not many now but bits and pieces here and there along these farms still wait.

We brought in the verandah chairs in the returned sunshine of the afternoon, thus kissing the Summer goodbye. Brought in too a pot of yellow 'mums to have against Christmas, and Jeanie carried in geraniums and petunias to brighten her windows of winter. We have already given up our dahlias and other tender blossoms to the frost of this valley by the millstream. The one hydrangea somewhat bedraggled by wind and weather still blooms.

"My hydrangeas are exceptionally beautiful this year," a lady writes from a State of (almost) perpetual sunshine, "the fuchsias too, and the zinnias are really giant and colorful. We still have roses in abundance and the amaranth-white is lovely in its purity of bloom."

It is nice for us, bound by love to northern climates, to catch these lovely glimpses of faraway summery lands.

Another day lived-an added day we have had.

Until tomorrow — — — Diary, Good-night...

REV. CARL CURRIE, MRS. CURRIE AND ATTENDANTS

Currie-Dalziel Wedding Held At Zion Church

One of the loveliest weddings of the season was solemnized in Zion Presbyterian Church, Charlottetown, Saturday afternoon, September 15th, 1956 when Norma Ruby Dalziel daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John T. Dalziel, 147 Elm Ave., Charlottetown, was united in marriage with Rev. Maxwell Carleton Currie, B.A., son of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Currie, Montague, P.E.I. Rev. W.H. Brown, pastor of the church, performed the double ring ceremony. The church was beautifully decorated with baskets and containers of gladioli on white satin bows. Mr. John Lee-Morgan, church organist played the Nuptial Music. The guest soloist Mrs. Arthur Roper sang "The Lord's Prayer" before the entrance of the wedding party into the church and "O Perfect Love" during the signing of the register.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was attended by her sister, Mrs. Arthur Myers as maid of honor and Mrs. Walter Goss, sister of the groom, as bridesmaid and the little Sandra Meyers, niece of the bride, as junior bridesmaid.

Mr. Bill Brown of St. John, N. B. son of the officiating minister was best man. Mr. Martin Currie, brother of the groom and Mr. Arthur Myers, brother-in-law of the bride, ushered.

The bride was charming in a floor length model gown of white and blue with a lace yoke embroidered with iridescent sequins. The dress had a fitted bodice with draped waist line, long skirt extending into a short train. She wore a chapel length veil of French illusion, held in place with a crown head-dress and carried a cascade bouquet of Red American Beauty Roses.

The Maid of Honor wore a ballera length dress of blue net over blue satin, and a matching blue picture hat and carried a cascade of Mums in pale yellow, blue and pink.

and accessories and a corsage of yellow roses. The groom's mother wore a burandy and navy crepe dress with navy hat and accessories and a corsage of yellow roses.

After the ceremony a reception was held in the church hall, which was beautifully decorated for the occasion. The bride's table was centered with a three tier wedding cake surmounted with a miniature bride and groom. The ladies of Group Four Auxiliary of the church, of which the Bride's Mother is a member, catered for the reception. The toast to the bride was proposed by the Rev. W.H. Brown and responded to by the groom. Several telegrams of congratulations were read by Bill Brown, the best man. Mrs. Joseph Rodd was in charge of the guest book.

For their honeymoon the bride and groom are visiting points of interest in Quebec, and Ontario, by car. For traveling the bride wore a light blue taffeta dress and light blue coat with a pink hat and navy blue accessories and a corsage of yellow roses. On their return from their honeymoon the bride and groom will reside at the Presbyterian Manse in Murray Harbour, North where the groom is Minister to the congregations of Murray Harbour North and Peters Road.

The bride was formerly employed in the Bank of Nova Scotia, known in musical circles as a so-voiced. The groom is a graduate of Pictou Academy, Dalhousie University and Presbyterian College, Montreal, and during the latter part of the war served as an observer with the R.C.A.F.

Out of town guests included: Miss Jean Currie, Toronto, Ontario; Mr. and Mrs. Daird Gardiner, Perth, Ontario; Mrs. Clarence Gallant, Petawawa, Ontario; Mr. Norman Matheson, Mr. and Mrs. J.H. Dalziel, Halifax, N.S.; Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Mitchell, Mrs. Nellis Rodd, St. John, N.B.; Miss Margaret MacDougal, Mr. and Mrs. William E. Fraser, New Glasgow, N.S. ## COOK'S CORNER

BAKED MAPLE RICE PUDDING

1-3 cup rice
3-4 tsp. salt
1/2 cup maple syrup
3 cups milk
chopped nuts if desired.
Wash rice and put in greased baking dish. Add salt, maple syrup and milk. Bake in slow oven 325 degrees for 1 3/4 to 2 hours or until rice is tender. Stir once or twice during first hour of cooking. Serve hot or cold with whipped cream, sprinkled with chopped walnuts.

WIFE PRESERVERS

Rain spots on suede slippers can be removed by rubbing them lightly with a fine emery board like the one used in manufacturing.

Ever tried meaty BRAN-burgers?

RECIPE

BRANBURGERS
1 egg, slightly beaten
2 tablespoons salt
1/4 teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoons mixed spices
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
1 cup milk
1 cup Kellogg's All-Bran
1 pound ground beef
Combine egg, salt, pepper, onion, parsley, milk and All-Bran. Let stand until most of moisture is taken up. Add beef and mix thoroughly. Shape into 12 patties. Bake in hot oven (400° F.) about 15 minutes, or broil about 10 minutes. Serve with Cheese Sauce.

Clever idea for clever cooks! Simply add crisp Kellogg's All-Bran to ground beef to give a new flavor and wonderful texture to the all-favorite hamburger. Why not make "Branburgers" tonight?

MR. AND MRS. DONALD WILLIAM BERNARD

Island Guests Attend Bernard-Kearns Wedding

A beautiful double ring ceremony was performed by Rev. M. A. MacMillan, Monday, September 3, in Central United Church, Moncton, when Eileen Margaret Kearns, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Kearns was united in marriage with Donald William Bernard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Bernard, Hunter River, P.E.I.

Large baskets of gladioli formed a pleasant setting for the ceremony. Earnest Freeborn presided at the organ and accompanied Mrs. Randolph Parker who sang the solo, "Till Walk Beside You". The bride, who was given in marriage by her father was lovely in a floor length strapless gown with skirt of brocaded lace over satin ending in several tiers of nylon tulle. She wore a brief lace jacket with long sleeves, small Peter Pan collar trimmed with iridescent sequins and scalloped petals, buttoning with dozens of tiny buttons below the waist. Her fingertip veil of nylon tulle fell gracefully from a coronet head-dress of nylon tulle trimmed with scalloped pearls. Her only jewelry was small pearl earrings. She carried a cascade bouquet of red roses and lily of the valley. Mrs. Wanda Smith was matron of pink roses.

of honor and Miss Violet Masters was bridesmaid. Mrs. Smith was gowned in a Nile green floor length gown of nylon tulle over taffeta, featuring a scoop neckline. She wore matching mitts and head-dress and carried a miff bouquet of carnations and mums in delicate shades. Her only jewellery was a single strand of pearls and small pearl earrings. Miss Masters was gowned in a mauve floor-length dress with nylon tulle tiered skirt over taffeta. The tight fitting bodice featured a scoop neckline of tulle and taffeta. She wore matching mitts and head-dress and carried a miff bouquet of carnations and mums in delicate shades. She wore a single strand of pearls and pearl earrings.

Raymond Bernard was best man. The ushers were John Bernard and Earl Masters.

The bride's mother wore an aqua street length dress of imported raised weave featuring a gold thread fleck, with three quarter sleeves. She wore matching hat with navy accessories and a corsage of pink carnations. Mrs. Bernard, mother of the groom, wore a light blue street length bengaline dress with black and white accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the church hall with the Mountain View United Church women catering. The bride's table was centred with a three-tier wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom, flanked by candles in silver holders. Misses Marjorie Chesepuk, Sylvia Patterson, Margaret Palmer, Thelma Parker and Mrs. M. Robinson served the guests.

Miss Jacqueline Kearns was in charge of the guest book. The happy couple left amid showers of confetti for a trip to points of interest in Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island. For travelling she wore a heavenly blue wool dress featuring a pleated skirt and high neckline zipping below the waist in the back with navy blue and white accessories. She carried a blue grey mixed tweed coat. She wore a corsage of pink rose buds.

The bride is a graduate of Success Business College and is at present employed with the Toronto Dominion Bank. The groom is at present in the Canadian Army stationed at Debert, N.S.

Out of town guests were present from points in Prince Edward Island and New Brunswick.
