Return To New Glasgow After Western Holiday

Many readers will be interested to hear of the very enjoyable and interesting trip Messrs. Leith and Stanley Orr had. After leaving Calgary en route to their parental home in New Glasgow.

Going West, their first stop was Vancouver. They viewed on their way many places of beauty, such as Banff, Lake Louise and the Fraser Valley, the latter still showing traces of the damage done about a year ago with the heavy floods. In Vancouver, they visited Stanley Park and Lion's Gate Bridge. Thence to Victoria where they went on a sight-seeing tour, taking in such sights as Malahat, Esquimalt naval base, and many historic sights. They went by bus to Nanaimo where they visited Mel Pineau, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bruno Pineau, who told them he planned to visit the island this summer. Then they took the boat Princess Elaine back to Vancouver and left by the Great Northern Railroad to Seattle, Wash., where they changed to the Chicago Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific route, which took them to Chicago, the third largest city in the world.

On a tour, which covered much beauty and wonder, with huge buildings, soaring so high, as well as to the great subway, they saw the Field Museum, Cheda Aquarium, Building of Science and Industry, Planetarium, Flamingo Night Club and one of the largest hotels in the world.

Lastly Chinatown, where one could view the wonderful Oriental collection. Although one could not help but be amazed at so much beauty and signs of great wealth, yet there is a sadness in that great city. When one views the slums where you behold filth, the gutters and streets being their abode, well where one might say: "One half of the world doesn't know how the other exists."

Then they boarded the New York Central Route, going through Detroit, Mich., changing to the C. P. R. at Detroit, going to the tunnel into Windsor, Ont., thence to Toronto, stopping there for four days; took a bus to Niagara Falls, crossing over to the American territory where they took the elevator down to the tunnel at the foot of the Falls, which was all very beautiful.

Then to Toronto again where they visited a number of school pals of Mayfield who were employed there, namely Sandy and Willie Nicholson, Heath

BURGESS BEDTIME

"I'm sure I heard some croaking just before I went to sleep last evening," said Mrs. Redtail. "I wouldn't mind a Frog myself," admitted Redtail. Just then, faint in the distance but clear, came a sound that caused Redtail to cock his head on one side the better to listen. "Hark!" said he. "Cut, cut, cut, cut, cutaa-cut!" "Did you hear that, my dear?" asked Redtail. "Of course I heard it, but what of it?" replied Mrs. Redtail. "It reminds me of something," replied Redtail, lifting his wings and preparing to fly. "Where are you going?" cried Mrs. Redtail. "To get my breakfast," replied Redtail over his shoulder. "You better keep away from that henyard!" cried Mrs. Redtail. Redtail made no reply. He was flying straight toward the sound of that cackling Hen.

Houston, Elwood Robertson of Hunter River, also Byron Houston who is looking well and convalescing at the Western Hospital. They also had a very pleasant evening with Mr. and Mrs. Harold Toombs, who had invited all the lads in for the evening. Then on to Montreal where they were met by another old friend, George Andrew, who is a student at McGill. Finally on the last lap of the homeward journey, arriving at Hunter River, where their brother Murray met them. Needless to say, home looked pretty nice to them, where mother had a lovely home cooked supper awaiting.

To A Mayflower

(By J. H. MacArthur)
Oh, fair little blossom, the theme of my lay,
First bloom of the woodland and Queen of the May!
Like the dawn is your beauty, God made you supreme,
A pink and white flower, a gem to esteem.
Come, lift up your shy eyes and gaze into mine;
And give me your sweet lips so pure and divine!
Deep, deep from my heart comes my son of good cheer
As I gaze on your fair form Mayflower, dear,
What joy to have found you among the green brass
And sing of your beauty, a poor poet's praise!
Ah, rare little blossom, too soon we must part
Yet your beauty forever shall live in my heart.

LONGEST DAM

The Gabel Awlia dam on the River Nile in Egypt is the world's longest, 16,400 feet.

"Headache?.. take a Disprin"

Why DISPRIN? Because DISPRIN is soluble and substantially neutral. When taken in water as recommended, it enters the stomach as a true solution and not as undissolved particles. It is therefore less liable to cause stomach discomfort. DISPRIN is readily absorbed. Because it definitely dissolves (not merely disintegrates) DISPRIN permits speedy absorption and gives relief without delay. DISPRIN is palatable. Even children will take it readily.

DISPRIN SAFE SPEEDY PLEASANT
... FOR PAIN RELIEF

Science Progresses
For 50 years we have used little white tablets—acetylsalicylic acid—for relief of pain. Today this familiar pain-killer is available in a new form without the disadvantages of acidity, insolubility and bitter taste. It is called 'DISPRIN' and is sold at druggists everywhere.

'DISPRIN' is available in bottles of 26 tablets or Handy Pocket folders of 8.
