Another Reservoir Set For Mt. Edward Road

By RALPH CAMERON
Guardian-Patriot Staff Writer

A new reservoir, with an approximate capacity of 2,000,000 gallons, will be constructed near the present one on the Mount Edward Road, it was announced yesterday by Sidney Green, chairman of the Commissioners of Sewers and Water Supply.

Mr. Green said the additional water storage space was necessary to give Charlottetown adequate fire protection by having immediately available a sufficient quantity of water.

The Pitometer report of 1961 had recommended construction of a new reservoir of 1.75 million gallons capacity, to be built inside Hillsborough Square. This capacity rating was based on an expected population of Charlottetown of 22,000 after 1971.

However, opposition to the location in the square was voiced in some quarters and this, combined with the possibility of amalgamation of the communities of Parkdale and Sherwood with this city, led to the Commissioners taking another look at the plans.

The new Commission superintendent, Oliver H. Manuel, suggested the alternate site near the present reservoir as not only being acceptable, but also having the advantage from an engineering point of view of providing gravity flow instead of being pumped, and at the same time offering fresher water than could be supplied in emergency from a central storage tank inside the city.

TO COST $125,000

The new reservoir, to cost approximately $125,000 will feed the present distribution system with an 18-inch main which will cut across to Belvedere Avenue over portions of the lands of Mount St. Mary's and the Dominion Experimental Farm.

The original survey of the water system in this city was decided upon by the Commissioners due to the fear that the Island capital was without adequate fire protection. The Pitometer report confirmed, this belief when it stated: "The cumulative result of the above defects is such that the system is quite incapable of providing necessary fire flows except in isolated instances where fire hazards are minimal."

This report was immediately taken before the City Council by the Commissioners for joint discussion and fully explained to Councillors.

The Commission then proceeded immediately to implement as many parts of the report as could be done last year. This involved a general laying of new and larger pipes into many parts of the city to make available a greater supply of water for emergency use.

PLAN PIPE-LAYING

At the same time Mr. Green said the Commissioners had decided upon this year's program of laying new pipes of larger capacity to continue the effort to provide proper protection.

Commissioners Joseph McKenna and R. Earl Taylor pointed to the vital necessity of having all this work done so there would be no interruption with the regular flow of traffic during the Centennial celebration next year.

At the same time they agreed pipe - laying within the city should be done this year in central city sections prior to the start of the tourist season.

Last year, a new pipeline was laid from Gerald Street along Elm Avenue and Great George Street to the corner of Grafton. This larger pipe line will now be extended down to Church Street, along the latter to Richmond Street, because of the traffic importance of this area this particular phase of the year's work will be done first. It involves the laying of 600 feet of 12-inch pipe.

SECOND ON LIST

Second on the list of projects will be the laying of 2,600 feet of 8-inch pipe from the corner of Cumberland Street along Grafton to Edward, up to Euston and along it to Victory Avenue and then to Longworth Avenue.

The next phase means laying 1,320 feet of 8-inch main along Kensington Road from Fitzroy and Esher Streets and also on Park Street.

Primary object of the program for this year, Mr. Green stated, was to get off all principal thoroughfares before the heavy traffic started. The Commissioners were in agreement that necessary pipe - laying in other areas of the city could be done during the summer months with practically no interference to motorists generally.

Other sections of the city where new fire protection will be provided this year are: Cumberland Street from Longworth to Euston; Birchwood Street from Longworth Avenue; Spring Park Road from Maple to Euston and Victoria Avenue from Spring Park to Peake.

Connolly from Valley to Desrisay Crescent and McGill Avenue from DesBrisay to North River Road; Ambrose Street from McGill to Churchill; Green Street from Ambrose to Windsor and from Windsor east and on Windsor Street from Green southerly; Upper Prince Street from the existing main to Gerald and on Upper Hillsborough Street from Hillcrest Avenue south.

A section of North River Road from McGill Avenue north to the end of the existing 10-inch main (approximately opposite the high school) will be done later as will another 760 feet on Fitzalgar Street from Nassau to Riverview.

An immediate advantage of the entire program, it was said, would lie in bringing the water fire fighting facilities up to standards required by Canadian Fire Underwriters and thus preventing an increase in fire insurance rates in the city.

The isotope therapy unit is completed and awaiting approval by the P.E.I. Hospital Services Commission. The report was given for the medical staff by Dr. G.G. Houston, who also announced that Dr. Harold Stewart has been appointed to represent the staff on the P. E. I. Laboratory Council.

Dr. R.G. Lea brought to the attention of the trustees that new equipment has been requested for the operating room.

Mrs. G.H. Buntain presented the report for the Senior Ladies Aid while Mrs. R. Drysdale reported for the Junior Ladies Aid.

Red Shield Drive Underway Today

The Salvation Army's Red Shield campaign for $13,400 gets underway today with a special names canvass in the city, campaign chairman A. Alistair MacLeod has announced. The general canvass begins May 8.

National objective of the campaign is more than $3,000,000, an amount, Mr. MacLeod said, which is needed to meet the deficit incurred in a year's operation of more than 100 special service institutions across Canada.

Special committees have already gone into action, Mr. MacLeod revealed. In rural areas the women's institutes have again been requested to conduct the canvass and arrangements are being completed for various groups and organizations in the towns and villages in the province to make collections.

Captain R.H. Walker, local commanding officer of the Salvation Army, reports that his organization is meeting greater demands in both service and institutional fields, including the financial support required to operate "Sunset Lodge" in Charlottetown, and the local objective must be reached, and even exceeded, in order to provide the necessary funds to continue the work of the Salvation Army effectively in Prince Edward Island.

Captain Walker said he regretted national policy of the Salvation Army prevents local participation in the United Appeal. The army considers that, due to the special nature of their work and the fact that they own and operate homes for the aged, hostels, hospitals, in addition to their corps citadels and headquarters, their fluctuating, financial annual requirements cannot be met effectively through the medium of United Appeal.

Parade Float To Maine?

A considerable amount of publicity is due to come to this province's plans for Centennial year in 1964 through the appearance in Ellsworth, Maine, of the City of Charlottetown parade float and the Lovat Scots pipe band.

City Council currently has under consideration a proposal to send the float to take part in the parade during the old New England town's bi-centennial celebrations late in July. The invitation to participate was extended by the mayor of that town to Mayor A. Walthen Gaudet and he passed it on to council.

At the same time Mayor Gaudet stated he had received word from George Fraser, director of the Travel Bureau, that the Lovat Scots pipe band which delighted many thousands with its concerts last year, would also go to the Maine celebrations.

The State of Maine has long provided large numbers of visitors to this province and it is believed the publicity resulting from the appearance there of two such bright attractions as it is proposed to send will arouse much interest in the 1964 Centennial program.
