VARIETIES.

Good Packing.—The American watering-places are all so crowded now that they have to resort to expedients in order to stow away the visitors to sleep at night. The following ingenious plan is spoken of as working admirably: "As the boarders go to sleep, a good mesmeric manipulator goes round, and after making a few passes gets them rigid, and then they are removed from the bed and placed against the wall. The mesmeriser receives, as his pay for his advice, the right to exhibit them by candle-light as 'the Corsican Brothers in wax,'"

Unanswerable.—"Madam," said John Wilkes, to a lady to whom he wished to make himself agreeable, "I am a plain man." "Exceedingly plain, sir," rejoined the lady. John Wilkes was silenced.

A friend of ours who has a taste for natural history, is at present engaged in cultivating mosquitoes, and hopes to have them in full season during the winter. He keeps the larvæ in glass jars half filled with water, and covered at the top with coarse muslin, and as the mosquitoes emerge from their tad-pole condition, they occupy the upper part of the cylinders, where they disport themselvs for four days in a living manner, and on the fifth lav their eggs, and die. In this way he keeps up "a succession of crops," and by regulating the temperature of the breeding-room, will be able to continue the mosquito business until the natural season commences. The developement of the mosquito is a curious process. In the first place the egg becomes what it is called the "water tiger"—a brisk little clock-faced devil, that devours all the small animaloulæ with insatiable appetite. In a specturn of a water projected from a hydrogen microscope, we have seen the shadows of one of the water fiends swallow the shadow of a dozen smaller imps—the larvæ midges and such "small deer"—in less than three minutes. In a due time a change comes over the monster. Nature envelopes it in a pellicle or semi-transparent shroud, from which the attennæ of the mosquito stick out at one end and its tail at the other. Finally the creature rises to the surface, the caul bursts and out flies the insect like an internal illustration of the fable of Psyche. In five days the machinery of its existence, which is wound to go for that time and no longer, runs down. Such is the biography of the mosquito.

Elegant Extract.—The annexed beautiful lines are copied from a tombstone in the Protestant grave yard at New Orleans:—

"There's not an hour, or a day, or dreaming night, but I am with thee; there's not a wind but whispers of thy name, and not a flower that sleeps beneath the moon, but in its hour of fragrance tells a tale of thee."

Widows as Printers.—The Pittsburg Gazette says, the attempt to introduce women as compositors in that city has been remarkably successful, and that widows make the most rapid advancement, "as their intellects are more mature, and their knowledge is superior to the most of boys when they commence their apprenticeship to the printing business." "Besides this," says the Vicksburg Whig, "we presume their previous experience in small caps, bodkins, washing forms, and press work generally, has already initiated them in several details of the craft."

The Model Widower may be seen assisting young girls to find a seat in church, or ordering carts off dry crossings for pretty feet that are waiting to pass over; is convinced he "never was made to live alone;" draws a deep sigh every time a dress rustles past, with a female woman in it; is very particular about the polish of his boots and the fit of his gloves, thinks he looks very interesting in black: don't walk out in public much with his children, when he does, he takes the youngest: revives his old taste for moonlight and poetry; pities single men with all his heart—wonders how they contrive to exist; sets his face against the practice of women's going home "alone and unprotected;" tells the widows his heart aches for them; wonders which of all the damsels he sees he shall make up his mind to marry—is sorry he shall be obliged to disappoint them all but one; has long since preferred orange-blossoms to the cypress-wreath; starts up, some fine day, and refurnishes his house from garret to cellar; hangs his first wife's portrait in the attic, and marries a playmate of his oldest daughter.

Education.—Education, briefly, is the leading human souls to what is best, and making what is best out of them; and these two objects are always attainable together, and by the same means the training which makes men happiest in themselves, also makes them most serviceable to others.

"Pie or pudding, sir?" shouted a waiter to one of the innumerable guests at a hotel during the spring season. "What kind of pie have you?" "Rhubarb," said the waiter, as he started for a plate. "Hold on," said the stranger, as he rose from the table; "never mind it, I always take my medicine in the morning."

GLEASON'S PICTORIAL.

ON the first of January next, Gleason's Pictorial will commence its sixth volume, and will appear vastly improved in all respects, with a superb new heading, new type and dress throughout, and will be printed upon the finest paper. As the proprietor of the Pictorial has purchased the entire good will of Baruum's New York Illustrated News, and has merged that journal in the Pictorial, the public will reap the advantage of this concentration of the strength of the two papers upon one, both in the artistic and the literary departments. The same brilliant host of contributors and artists will be engaged on Gleason's Pictorial as heretofore, and a large addition is also made to the corps, both in talent and number. The most liberal arrangements have been completed, and such as will enable the Proprietor to produce by far the finest illustrated journal yet published, and much superior to the present issue of the paper. The columns of the Pictorial will constantly be beautified by all that can please and instruct in art and nature, and its literary department will fully sustain the high reputation it has so long enjoyed.

The pages of Gleason's Pictorial will contain views of every populous city in the known world, of all buildings of note in the eastern or western hemisphere, of all the principal ships and steamers of the navy and merchant service; with fine and accurate portraits of every noted character in the world, both male and female. Sketches of beautiful scenery, taken from life, will also be given, with numerous specimens from the animal kingdom, the birds of the air, and the fish of the sea, and will present in its mechanical execution an elegant specimen of art. It will contain fifteen hundred and sixty-four square inches, giving a great amount of reading matter and illustrations—and forming a mammoth weekly paper of sixteen octavo pages.

The Wonder of the World!
Devines' Compound Pitch Lozenge.

THE Great Remedy is at last discovered, and COUGHS, COLDS, ASTHMA, COSTIVENESS AND CONSUMPTION have lost their terror, and vanish as as if by magic before this Sovereign remedy. Was it ever before known that, Hopeless cases of Consumption were crred for less than 5s?

Truly, if any individual is to be pitied, and needs sympathy, it is the consumptive,—always expecting to get well, and yet the painful evidence of decay almost "makes the inner soul shrink with the outer flesh."

"Some bloom as roses bloom,
And live as roses live,
A single morning space!"

While others, in more mature life,—by some imprudence and a slight cold neglected,—in the hectic flush, the painful cough,

"The prints of their parting steps appear."

AYER'S PILLS.

FOR ALL THE PURPOSES OF A

FAMILY PHYSIC.

There has long existed a public demand for an effective purgative pill which could be relied on as sure and perfectly safe in its operation. This has been prepared to meet that demand, and an extensive trial of its virtues has conclusively shown with what success it accomplishes the purpose designed. It is easy to make a physical pill, but not easy to make the best of all pills—one which should have none of the objections, but all the advantages, of every other. This has been attempted here, and with what success we would respectfully submit to the public decision. It has been unfortunate for the patient hitherto that almost every purgative medicine is acrimonious and irritating to the bowels. This is not. Many of them produce so much griping pain and revulsion in the system as to more than counterbalance the good to be derived from them. These pills produce no irritation or pain, unless it arise from a previously existing obstruction or derangement in the bowels. Being purely vegetable, no harm can arise from their use in any quantity; but it is better that any medicine should be taken judiciously. Minute directions for their use in the several diseases to which they are applicable are given on the box. Among the complaints which have been speedily cured by them, we may mention Liver Complaint, in its various forms of Jaundice, Indigestion, Languor and Loss of Appetite, Listlessness, Irritability, Bilious Headache, Bilious Fever, Fever and Ague, Pain in the Side and Loins; for, in truth, all these are but the consequence of diseased action in the liver. As an aperient, they afford prompt and sure relief in Costiveness, Piles, Colic, Dysentery, Humors, Scrofula and Scurvy, Colds with soreness of the body, Ulcers and impurity of the blood; in short, any and every case where a purgative is required.

They have also produced some singularly successful cures in Rheumatism, Gout, Dropsy, Gravel, Erysipelas, Palpitation of the Heart, Pains in the Back, Stomach, and Side. They should be freely taken in the spring of the year, to purify the blood and prepare the system for the change of seasons. An occasional dose stimulates the stomach and bowels into healthy action, and restores the appetite and vigor. They purify the blood, and, by their stimulant action on the circulatory system, renovate the strength of the body, and restore the wasted or diseased energies of the whole organism. Hence an occasional dose is advantageous, even though no serious derangement exists; but unnecessary dosing should never be carried too far, as every purgative medicine reduces the strength, when taken to excess. The thousand cases in which a physic is required cannot be enumerated here, but they suggest themselves to the reason of every body; and it is confidently believed this pill will answer a better purpose than any thing which has hitherto been available to mankind. When their virtues are once known, the public will no longer doubt what remedy to employ when in need of a cathartic medicine.
