Young Pianist To Play Here

The Prince of Wales College Concert Series is presenting a newcomer to Charlottetown on December 5 in the person of Dale Jackson, a young pianist, and a native Maritimer. He is a graduate of the Mt. Allison Conservatory where, after an outstanding career, he received his performer's diploma.

He has won many honours at national festivals and is currently continuing his studies. He has taken time off to do a concert tour of Quebec and the Maritime Provinces. While his program is varied he specializes in Debussy and Chopin, in which, to quote the great pianist Boris Rubinkine's opinion of him, he performs with brilliance and poetic expression.

Local Branch Canadian Legion Monthly Meeting

The monthly meeting of the Charlottetown branch of the Canadian Legion was held last night with the president, F.A. Rush in the chair. One verse of O Canada was sung. A period of silence in honor of fallen comrades was observed.

The minutes of the last regular meeting were read by Comrade Jack Leightizer and were adopted by the meeting. After the adoption of the house committee's report some discussion took place regarding proposed changes in the front of the building to provide facilities for a lounge room. It was finally decided to vote a sum sufficient to cover the cost of this work, with a view of making other changes later which would add to the facilities of the club.

For publicity Comrade Pius Smith said he had reported all the activities of the Legion. He also complimented those who had taken part in and had helped to make the Armistice Day parade the decided success it was.

Comrade Leo Bradley reported for the poppy campaign. He said that while the sales were up from last year, it was not as good as it should be in this town. President Rush complimented Comrade Bradley on the fine job he had done in handling the poppy campaign. He suggested that the plan of having such a capable man in charge next year. He had high praise for the Provincial Government, the City Council and all who worked to do the fine job on the Monument and have it ready before Remembrance Day.

The president announced that a Red Cross blood donor clinic would be held in the Clover Club on Dec. 7 and 8. He urged that the Legion work in the interest of this worthy cause and "see if we cannot make even a better showing than the last drive held under the sponsorship of the Legion."

The question of a junior hockey club came up and was discussed to some extent. The proposition of this branch of the Legion sponsoring a school for the education of mentally retarded children was again discussed. The meeting wholeheartedly endorsed the suggestion of the executive that the branch take on and sponsor the organization of such a school.

AMONG THE FARMERS

Federation of Agriculture Newsletter

COUNTY MEETINGS
This letter is being written before any of the County Federation Annual Meetings take place and for this reason it is impossible to report upon what took place at Summerside. However, we would like to make some general comments upon the importance of these meetings. First of all, these County Federation meetings are the only ones held at the County level and which provide farmers an opportunity, and that without coming to Charlottetown, of discussing agricultural problems. These meetings are important, as out of them should come the ideas which will go to make up policy for the Provincial Federation.

It has been suggested in some quarters that the January annual meeting, which is held in Charlottetown, should be open to the membership. As a matter of practice the Directors both County and Provincial are not in attendance more is accomplished by confining these meetings to some fifty-five Directors who are eligible to attend. The County Annual Meeting is the member's opportunity to make himself heard and it is an opportunity which should be more widely used than is the case.

ALL SHOULD TAKE PART
The solution of problems and improvements in agriculture will never come about so long as the rank and file of farmers refuse to take an active part in studying, considering and working together. There is no one individual or small group of individuals which has all the answers. Sound ideas are to be found everywhere and that means many miles back from the paved roads and the power lines. There is sufficient brain power and resourcefulness now being dormant which if properly applied would make agriculture and the rural community much more rewarding than it is presently the case. We know it is easier to stay at home during the long winter evenings than it is to attend farm meetings or meetings of any kind. These meetings are part of the farmer's job and this job deserves far more attention than it is presently getting.

And so, we would say to the farmers of Queen's County and King's County, make up your mind to attend your County meetings in Charlottetown and Montague. The meetings need your advice and attendance.

DANISH AGRICULTURE
The Royal Danish Legation, Ottawa has very thoughtfully provided this office with an attractive one-hundred page book entitled Danish Agriculture, Denmark as a Food Producer. Separate chapters are divided to the general story of Danish farming; to the dairy industry; to egg and poultry; to pig industry; to growing; apples and fruit; herbage and grain seeds and a list of Danish farm organizations—eighteen all told.

Danish agriculture centres around the dairy cow with the export of butter being the keystone on the Dairy acre. The skim milk and whey is used as food for other livestock, principally hogs which are processed in sixty-two co-operative bacon factories and then Association. Still reserved is the first cooperative butter factory where agricultural cooperation began in 1882. The building is now a dairy museum and upon it as a foundation was laid agricultural development which has placed Denmark in the forefront of efficient farm production. The book is an absorbing one, contains quotations of interest every page but this one we think is significant:—

DUE TO ENTERPRISE
"It is clear that the development of Danish agriculture during recent generations is due to the enterprise of the farmers. The Government has not taken part except when asked. The Danish farmers prefer to do things themselves, and producer cooperation in all its many fields has given splendid results. Denmark is the only country in western Europe where farming receives no Government support in the form of subsidies, protective tariffs, or guaranteed minimum prices. Danish farmers are dependent on the prices they can get by exporting their products, and the prices they receive in the home market correspond to the average obtained for exports."

RECOMMEND ADJUSTMENTS
Incidentally, world producers, represented in IFAP, have not at any time advocated overall restriction of production to solve the problem of world surpluses, or to maintain remunerative prices for themselves. They have not done so because they believe the adoption of a restrictionist policy at the international level would be wrong in the face of world needs. They have, however, recommended to be compelled by circumstances to do so—adjustment of production downward in some crops, where it is practicable to do so, particularly for such commodities as wheat, cotton, sugar and potatoes; and an increase in the production of some others, such as animal protein foods.

SNOW TURNIPS
Sunday's storm caught a number of farmers with a fairly substantial acreage of turnips unharvested. The turnip is a hardy vegetable and under a blanket of snow can pass the winter in good condition but this method of storage is unsatisfactory, both from a feeding and marketing standpoint. Harvesting turnips in the snow is a dreary undertaking. On the law of averages, there still should be a few days of weather suitable for saving tardy turnips.

THE GOOD OLD DAYS
A recent conversation with a farmer neighbour carried us back to a very hard winter of 1904-1905. The weather was cold, the snow was deep and the summer drought had produced a shortage of fodder and wheat which was quite unsatisfactory for milling. Winter feed was held fast in the ice off Georgetown with hungry livestock and impatient farmers waiting for the Government purchased hay. We agreed that the period under discussion was a hard one but our farmer friend suggested that the present fall in a different way was also bad and went on to explain that fifty years ago, the farmer, who in the fall of the year squared up his store had no further worries in obtaining, on credit, for the coming year, food, clothing and supplies. Thus does time cast a halo around a system and an era which kept the farmer in a system of bondage and with little independence, other than what the merchant might allow him. Cash trading certainly does not lie in the path of least resistance but in the long run it has a great deal more to offer its adherents than does a system which keeps the farmer perpetually in debt for the everyday necessities of life. Death Yesterday of Mrs. A. E. Morrison

The passing of Mrs. A. E. Morrison, at the age of eighty-four, came unexpectedly and quietly, on Thursday morning, at her home 237 Prince St.

Mrs. Morrison was held in high esteem by all who knew her. She was born in St. Eleonors, the daughter of George and Eliza Compton, and came to Charlottetown as a young girl, where she entered into the life of the community.

She was married twice, her first husband, David Ross MacLennan, passed away in 1919. She was later married to the late Albert Edward Morrison who died in 1927. Mrs. Morrison was a valued member of St. James Church, where she took an active part in the various women's organizations, as well as being a devoted teacher in the Sunday School. Her place in the sanctuary was seldom vacated. Her presence will be greatly missed. An enthusiastic worker in the Royal Edward Chapter, D.E., she gave untiringly of her time and energy, particularly during the two World Wars. She was Vice-Regent of the Order for several years and was chairman on several important committees.

During the last few years when she was unable to take an active part in community work, her bright personality and interest drew many people to her home, where a sincere welcome and lift in spirit was always assured.

She leaves to mourn one daughter, Katherine MacLennan, Director of Nursing at the Provincial Sanatorium, and one brother, Leo Compton, Montreal, also a niece, Louise Haxard, of the Public Library Staff, Charlottetown, along with a host of friends who have from her companionship and counsel.

Stanhope Residents Honor Family

On Monday evening, November 14, a large number of the residents of Stanhope and surrounding districts gathered in the Community Hall to honor Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McCabe prior to their departure for Charlottetown.

After musical selections by Messrs. Joseph Myers and Mervyn Robison, the couple were escorted to the stage by Mr. and Mrs. Ray Carr. Mr. Keith Douglas read an address and Mr. Lloyd Shaw presented a purse.

The members of the Stanhope Women's Institute waited upon Mrs. McCabe and presented a beautiful table lamp. Mr. and Mrs. McCabe gave fitting replies, recalling the many "kindnesses" of their neighbors.

A luncheon was served by the ladies and dancing was enjoyed. Following is the address: Dear Gertie, Tom, and family, On this not so joyous occasion we, your neighbors and friends from the community, have come here tonight to convey to you at this time something of the feeling of esteem, respect, and good will we entertain for you in our hearts.

In our community you have always been among the first to further and assist in anything for its uplift and betterment. Church, school, hall, and charities, indeed no worthwhile endeavor, ever lacked your interest, co-operation, and help.

In your hospitable and comfortable farm home we have many a time experienced the wealth of your hospitality—for yours has always been a pleasant home to us. Your kindness and gentleness, like a warm blanket, has always been a source of comfort and happiness in the years that lie ahead.—Signed on behalf of your neighbors and friends of Stanhope and surrounding districts, Sec'y-treas. Mrs. Harry Ling; Directors, Mrs. Fred MacRae, Mrs. Alfred Axworthy and Mrs. James Wares; Auditors, Mrs. Leonard Ling and Mrs. Preston Rackham.

A largely attended farewell party was held on November 1, for Mr. and Mrs. James B. MacLeod at their home at Irishtown when they were presented with gifts and offered good wishes for success in their new undertaking, the mercantile business recently purchased from Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Dunning of Long River.

Mr. Heath MacLeod presided, and after introductory remarks, called on Mr. Clair Campbell who read an address to the guests of honor, who have not only constantly worked for the good of church and community but whose feasible ideas have many times guided a project to a successful conclusion. A purse of money was presented to the couple by Mr. Preston Campbell on behalf of friends and neighbors.

Mrs. MacLeod received an end table and ornaments, presented by Mrs. Clayton Stavert on behalf of Irishtown W.I. An address read by Mrs. Leigh Paynter expressed high regard for Lina, who has been an outstanding member of the W. I. ever since this group was organized, and regret that she should be moving out of the district. Both Lina and Jimmie responded and extended a hearty invitation to their friends to visit them in Long River. Mr. Preston Campbell and Mr. Arthur Stewart each spoke briefly.
