

THE EXAMINER
Job Printing Rooms,
 LONDON HOUSE, QUEEN STREET.
 Job Printing of all kinds at short notice.
 Billheads, Letterheads, Notices, Pamphlets,
 Posters, Brochures, etc.

THE DAILY EXAMINER.

For neat, clean, tasteful Printing and prompt attention to orders, THE EXAMINER Job Printing Department is peculiar. Don't forget it.

TERMS: FIVE DOLLARS A YEAR.

"This is true Liberty, when Free Born Men, having to advise the Public, may speak free."—BURTON.

SINGLE COPIES TWO CENTS

NEW SERIES.

CHARLOTTETOWN, P. E. ISLAND, FRIDAY, APRIL 21, 1893.

VOL. 30.—NO 93

Calendar for April, 1893.

MOON'S CHANGES.
 Full Moon, 1st day 3 52 morn
 Last Quarter, 8th day 7 22 morn
 New Moon, 16th day 10 22 morn
 First Quarter, 22nd day 1 13 morn
 Full Moon, 30th day 7 10 after

Day of Month	Day of Week	Day's Length	High Water
1	Saturday	12 41	10 46
2	Sunday	11 47	11 17
3	Monday	10 47	11 47
4	Tuesday	9 50	12 18
5	Wednesday	8 53	12 50
6	Thursday	7 57	1 31
7	Friday	6 59	2 18
8	Saturday	5 59	3 10
9	Sunday	4 59	4 20
10	Monday	3 59	5 40
11	Tuesday	2 59	6 59
12	Wednesday	1 59	8 00
13	Thursday	1 19	8 48
14	Friday	1 22	9 30
15	Saturday	1 19	10 16
16	Sunday	1 10	10 48
17	Monday	1 0	11 22
18	Tuesday	1 0	11 50
19	Wednesday	1 0	12 11
20	Thursday	1 0	12 32
21	Friday	1 0	12 50
22	Saturday	1 0	1 0
23	Sunday	1 0	1 0
24	Monday	1 0	1 0
25	Tuesday	1 0	1 0
26	Wednesday	1 0	1 0
27	Thursday	1 0	1 0
28	Friday	1 0	1 0
29	Saturday	1 0	1 0
30	Sunday	1 0	1 0

REPAIRS! SPRING, 1893.

FOR THE NEXT SIX WEEKS we will give special and prompt attention to all REPAIRS in our line. The same facilities with which we produce New Furniture so cheaply, enables us to do well and satisfactorily every description of Furniture Repairs.
 We are still at work making and selling FINE NEW FURNITURE at prices hard to find elsewhere.
MARK WRIGHT & CO. Ltd
 Charlottetown, March 20, 1893.—2aw & wky

A GENUINE AMERICAN WATCH

CAN BE BOUGHT FROM US at as low and even lower price than is often paid for the IMITATION.
 Many do not know this till they bring in their imitation Watch for repairs, and find that no Watchmaker who values his reputation will repair and warrant it.

MORAL—Buy the Genuine.

E. W. TAYLOR.

Charlottetown, March 20, 1893.

CAMERON BLOCK.

FENNEL & CHANDLER.

Trap Nails,
 Ropes
 Boat Nails.
 Rosin.
 Galv'd Iron,
 Paints,
 Paint Oils,
 Very Cheap.

FENNEL & CHANDLER

Charlottetown, March 7, 1893.

O. B. WADMAN,

Commission Merchant & Auctioneer,
 CRAPAUD, P. E. I.

FARMS AND FARM STOCK A SPECIALTY.
 Consignments solicited. Quick returns.
 5,000 CIGARS, which I offer to Traders by the box amount that they can import them.
 3411—d & w v

Prosthetic Dentistry.

I AM prepared to mount Artificial Teeth on the different kinds of plates—Aluminum, Watt's Metal, Resin's Metal (these metals will not oxidize or turn black in the mouth), Vulcanite, Celluloid and Zylonite.
 DR. J. P. MURRAY, Dentist,
 Stamper Block, Victoria Row.

S. R. FOSTER & SON,

Manufacturers of Wire Nails,
 STEEL AND IRON CUT NAILS,
 And Spikes, Tacks, Brads, Shoe
 Nails, Hungarian Nails, &c.

ST. JOHN, N.

TO LET.

A TWO-STORY DWELLING HOUSE pleasantly situated near the Railway Wharf at Georgetown. Good location for a Summer Hotel or Boarding House. Rent moderate.
 A. A. MACDONALD.

ap4—1m

A. LEOPOLD

GRADUATE OF LAVAL AND MCGILL.

Mining Engineer

MAIN OFFICE..... QUEBEC
 RANCH "..... MONTREAL

ONE ENJOYS

Both the method and results when Syrup of Figs is taken; it is pleasant and refreshing to the taste, and acts gently yet promptly on the Kidneys, Liver and Bowels, cleanses the system effectually, dispels colds, headaches and fevers and cures habitual constipation. Syrup of Figs is the only remedy of its kind ever produced, pleasing to the taste and acceptable to the stomach, prompt in its action and truly beneficial in its effects, prepared only from the most healthy and agreeable substances, its many excellent qualities commend it to all and have made it the most popular remedy known.
 Syrup of Figs is for sale in 75c bottles by all leading druggists. Any reliable druggist who may not have it on hand will procure it promptly for any one who wishes to try it. Manufactured only by the

CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP CO.,
 SAN FRANCISCO, CAL.
 LOUISVILLE, KY. NEW YORK, N. Y.
 W. R. WATSON, Wholesale Druggist
 Charlottetown mwf jyl3

The Newspaper Man.

"My son, I don't know if your youthful conception Has breath in the scope of its nebulous plan; To which comprehension of that one exception To workday mortals, the newspaper man. But if you'll agree to a feeble description From one of their number, I'll do what I can To blend in the way of a little prescription The mixture that's known as a newspaper man."
 "Take a brain that is steeped in a solution of knowledge,
 Most varied and picturesque under the sun;
 Then add just a pinch of the salt of the college,
 For a relish, Bohemian sauce is the caper,
 And a mind that will stretch from Beer-
 sheba to Dan;
 In fancy or fact, when it comes to 'the paper,'
 Or touches the heart of the newspaper man!"
 "To a memory that clutches the veriest trifle,
 To a heart that is tireless when work's to be done;
 Add an eye that is quick as the flash of a rifle,
 And keen as the eagle that flies to the sun.
 Take strength and endurance, and loyal devotion,
 And all the grit and courage you can
 To the heart that's as big and as deep as the ocean:
 A hundred to one on the newspaper man!"
 "With a brew of ideas that, seething and boiling,
 Run out into words that are models for men;
 Add a ceaseless encounter with planning and coiling,
 For the world of to-day that is ruled by the pen.
 Add the honey of friendship, the dew of affection,
 And the esprit de corps that gets down to hard pan;
 And paste in your hat the whole mortal collection,
 As the regular stock of the newspaper man!"
 —John J. Gormly.

Ottawa Correspondence.

After the bustle and business of the session, matters are painfully quiet just now at the capital. It is too early for summer travel, but a boom is expected in that line very shortly. It is anticipated that Ottawa will benefit to a very large extent by the Chicago Exposition, and that visitors from all parts of the world will drop off for a day to see the Parliament Buildings and other sights. Already such preparations as the very backward season will permit are being made, so that between fear of the cholera and making ready for strangers, Ottawa will probably look a little cleaner and a little sweeter than is her wont. There is a striking similarity between Ottawa and Charlottetown in the matters of dusty and muddy streets, broken wood-on sidewalks, disgusting smells and vacant lots strewn with broken bottles, tomato cans, &c. There is a vast quantity of vacant land within the city limits, particularly in centre town. Sometimes this is fenced off in building lots, but very frequently it is devoid of fence and is commonly used as a dumping-ground for the decaying garbage of the neighborhood. Lower town is almost unrecognizable on account of the escape of coal gas from the pipes. Some dwelling houses have been abandoned altogether. In some stores the doors are kept open all weathers to try and abate the nuisance, while the other day the officers of the Geological museum were all laid up with violent headaches. This sort of thing has been going on for two or three years. Complaints are loud and long. The board of health has been invoked, the inspectors have enquired and experts have examined, but nothing is done. Why? it may be asked. The answer is well known although it is not published abroad. Senator Clemon is the gas company; he is also a multi-millionaire; he owns a quarter of Ottawa—if not more; he is a Past Grand Master of a highly influential organization in Ontario; he knows his power, he uses it and he defies the authorities. There is the answer the Ottawa papers might make if they dared, but even they are afraid of him.
 To-day we are enjoying a snow storm. Need I say anything more about the weather, unless to add that the wind is howling as though it were the middle of January instead of the middle of April.
 I am glad to see that the Island lobster packers approve of the regulations recently adopted by the department for the conduct of the ensuing season's campaign. Mr. Costigan, who is temporarily in charge during Mr. Tupper's absence, is a most patient and painstaking Minister, and if it is possible to meet the wishes of the fishermen, without injury to public interests, Mr. Costigan will find a way of doing so. From what I hear, it would not be an unpopular move in any of the provinces if, by a political shuffle, Mr. Costigan were transferred to the Department of Marine and Fisheries. In particular he has earned for himself the good-will of the fishermen of Quebec and Ontario. Some time ago Mr. Tupper made certain changes in the fishery regulations, which were of a very stringent character and said to operate harshly against the fishermen of both these provinces. The idea was to arrest the threatened depletion of our fisheries.
 It was provided, for instance, in Quebec that there should be a close season for soft fish in April, May and June. In certain parts of Quebec, however, large families live for a greater part of the year on this kind of food, the produce being their principal food. Mr. Tupper's idea was not wholly to protect this kind of fish, but he claimed that while engaged in catching these they also took those included in the prohibitory class, such as pike, and therefore the close season regulations were being violated.
 In Ontario the size of the nets was changed in addition to other alterations on the fishery laws, which virtually meant—so the fishermen said—that they would have to go out of the business. The close seasons, too, were not in conformity with the United States regulations, so that while the Americans went on plying their fishing avocation on the one side of the river or lake, the Canadians had to stand looking idly at them on the opposite bank. Mr. Tupper adopted Mr. Wilmot's theory that the Canadian fish stayed on the one side of the river and the American fish on the other. Practical fishermen refuted these ideas, showing that a heavy wind would drift the fish from one side to the other. This was established in some instances by marking the fish.

 These in brief were grievances against which the fishermen have been contending in both provinces. Delegation after delegation waited on the minister to get the new orders stopped. When Parliament met the grievances were ventilated there.
 The result of all this has been that last week the department forwarded a circular to their officers in Quebec rescinding the previous order and permitting fishing for soft fish in April, May and June. This will give general satisfaction to the Quebec fishermen.
 Mr. Costigan is now wrestling with the grievances of the Western Ontario fishermen in regard to the question of nets. It is almost impossible to permit fishing for soft fish in favor of the fishermen. At any rate, his own views are known to be in that direction, but in each instance the acting minister gets an order-in-council so that the cabinet may pass on and endorse his views.
 Mr. Costigan holds that while he is as anxious to protect the fish as anyone can be, when it becomes a question of protecting the fish or the subject, he is going to stick to the latter every time. So that western fishermen are likely to have an opportunity of continuing their net fishing for another season. In the meantime the question will be discussed and the fishermen will be advised as soon as possible what the final result will be for future seasons so that they may have an opportunity of disposing of their nets and getting out of the business before another season comes around.
 It has been very much the practice with some journals to belittle Mr. Costigan and to picture him as an inferior member of the Cabinet, occupying a seat there as a professional Irishman, and not on account of any ability of his own or strength that he brings the administration. No greater error could be committed than to accept this as a fact. Mr. Costigan is as true and patriotic an Irishman as can be found in the Dominion; he is a hard-working minister, and most attentive to the business of his department, as was abundantly evidenced two years ago, when the Public Accounts Committee were so busily engaged all Richard Costigan in the House of Commons complimented Mr. Costigan upon his conduct of the Inland Revenue Department, in which it had been impossible to find any trace of wrong-doing. One drawback Mr. Costigan has, which is serious in a public man, and that is modesty. He is retiring almost to bashfulness, but once get his Irish up, and you will hear from him. He is not an orator, but he is a warm friend, and his word is as good as his bond.
 Amid the general exodus from Ottawa consequent upon the prorogation, Mr. Alfred Palmer, C. E. has disappeared. He had been here all winter, oscillating between the Railway Department in the Western Block and the Finance Department in the Eastern Block, pressing his "claim" to be paid for his contract price of $12,000 for boring the Straits, when he had not finished one half the job. All his spare time (and he had a lot of it) was occupied in abuse of Senator Howland who, he said, had robbed him. The railway officials grew so tired of Palmer that at last they gave him a pass or paid his way to New York where he expressed his intention of re-opening his office on Wall Street as a consulting engineer. But he has not done this, and he is still in Ottawa, waiting to be paid for his contract price of $12,000 for boring the Straits, when he had not finished one half the job. All his spare time (and he had a lot of it) was occupied in abuse of Senator Howland who, he said, had robbed him. The railway officials grew so tired of Palmer that at last they gave him a pass or paid his way to New York where he expressed his intention of re-opening his office on Wall Street as a consulting engineer. But he has not done this, and he is still in Ottawa, waiting to be paid for his contract price of $12,000 for boring the Straits, when he had not finished one half the job. All his spare time (and he had a lot of it) was occupied in abuse of Senator Howland who, he said, had robbed him. The railway officials grew so tired of Palmer that at last they gave him a pass or paid his way to New York where he expressed his intention of re-opening his office on Wall Street as a consulting engineer. But he has not done this, and he is still in Ottawa, waiting to be paid for his contract price of $12,000 for boring the Straits, when he had not finished one half the job. All his spare time (and he had a lot of it) was occupied in abuse of Senator Howland who, he said, had robbed him. The railway officials grew so tired of Palmer that at last they gave him a pass or paid his way to New York where he expressed his intention of re-opening his office on Wall Street as a consulting engineer. But he has not done this, and he is still in Ottawa, waiting to be paid for his contract price of $12,000 for boring the Straits, when he had not finished one half the job. All his spare time (and he had a lot of it) was occupied in abuse of Senator Howland who, he said, had robbed him. The railway officials grew so tired of Palmer that at last they gave him a pass or paid his way to New York where he expressed his intention of re-opening his office on Wall Street as a consulting engineer. But he has not done this, and he is still in Ottawa, waiting to be paid for his contract price of $12,000 for boring the Straits, when he had not finished one half the job. All his spare time (and he had a lot of it) was occupied in abuse of Senator Howland who, he said, had robbed him. The railway officials grew so tired of Palmer that at last they gave him a pass or paid his way to New York where he expressed his intention of re-opening his office on Wall Street as a consulting engineer. But he has not done this, and he is still in Ottawa, waiting to be paid for his contract price of $12,000 for boring the Straits, when he had not finished one half the job. All his spare time (and he had a lot of it) was occupied in abuse of Senator Howland who, he said, had robbed him. The railway officials grew so tired of Palmer that at last they gave him a pass or paid his way to New York where he expressed his intention of re-opening his office on Wall Street as a consulting engineer. But he has not done this, and he is still in Ottawa, waiting to be paid for his contract price of $12,000 for boring the Straits, when he had not finished one half the job. All his spare time (and he had a lot of it) was occupied in abuse of Senator Howland who, he said, had robbed him. The railway officials grew so tired of Palmer that at last they gave him a pass or paid his way to New York where he expressed his intention of re-opening his office on Wall Street as a consulting engineer. But he has not done this, and he is still in Ottawa, waiting to be paid for his contract price of $12,000 for boring the Straits, when he had not finished one half the job. All his spare time (and he had a lot of it) was occupied in abuse of Senator Howland who, he said, had robbed him. The railway officials grew so tired of Palmer that at last they gave him a pass or paid his way to New York where he expressed his intention of re-opening his office on Wall Street as a consulting engineer. But he has not done this, and he is still in Ottawa, waiting to be paid for his contract price of $12,000 for boring the Straits, when he had not finished one half the job. All his spare time (and he had a lot of it) was occupied in abuse of Senator Howland who, he said, had robbed him. The railway officials grew so tired of Palmer that at last they gave him a pass or paid his way to New York where he expressed his intention of re-opening his office on Wall Street as a consulting engineer. But he has not done this, and he is still in Ottawa, waiting to be paid for his contract price of $12,000 for boring the Straits, when he had not finished one half the job. All his spare time (and he had a lot of it) was occupied in abuse of Senator Howland who, he said, had robbed him. The railway officials grew so tired of Palmer that at last they gave him a pass or paid his way to New York where he expressed his intention of re-opening his office on Wall Street as a consulting engineer. But he has not done this, and he is still in Ottawa, waiting to be paid for his contract price of $12,000 for boring the Straits, when he had not finished one half the job. All his spare time (and he had a lot of it) was occupied in abuse of Senator Howland who, he said, had robbed him. The railway officials grew so tired of Palmer that at last they gave him a pass or paid his way to New York where he expressed his intention of re-opening his office on Wall Street as a consulting engineer. But he has not done this, and he is still in Ottawa, waiting to be paid for his contract price of $12,000 for boring the Straits, when he had not finished one half the job. All his spare time (and he had a lot of it) was occupied in abuse of Senator Howland who, he said, had robbed him. The railway officials grew so tired of Palmer that at last they gave him a pass or paid his way to New York where he expressed his intention of re-opening his office on Wall Street as a consulting engineer. But he has not done this, and he is still in Ottawa, waiting to be paid for his contract price of $12,000 for boring the Straits, when he had not finished one half the job. All his spare time (and he had a lot of it) was occupied in abuse of Senator Howland who, he said, had robbed him. The railway officials grew so tired of Palmer that at last they gave him a pass or paid his way to New York where he expressed his intention of re-opening his office on Wall Street as a consulting engineer. But he has not done this, and he is still in Ottawa, waiting to be paid for his contract price of $12,000 for boring the Straits, when he had not finished one half the job. All his spare time (and he had a lot of it) was occupied in abuse of Senator Howland who, he said, had robbed him. The railway officials grew so tired of Palmer that at last they gave him a pass or paid his way to New York where he expressed his intention of re-opening his office on Wall Street as a consulting engineer. But he has not done this, and he is still in Ottawa, waiting to be paid for his contract price of $12,000 for boring the Straits, when he had not finished one half the job. All his spare time (and he had a lot of it) was occupied in abuse of Senator Howland who, he said, had robbed him. The railway officials grew so tired of Palmer that at last they gave him a pass or paid his way to New York where he expressed his intention of re-opening his office on Wall Street as a consulting engineer. But he has not done this, and he is still in Ottawa, waiting to be paid for his contract price of $12,000 for boring the Straits, when he had not finished one half the job. All his spare time (and he had a lot of it) was occupied in abuse of Senator Howland who, he said, had robbed him. The railway officials grew so tired of Palmer that at last they gave him a pass or paid his way to New York where he expressed his intention of re-opening his office on Wall Street as a consulting engineer. But he has not done this, and he is still in Ottawa, waiting to be paid for his contract price of $12,000 for boring the Straits, when he had not finished one half the job. All his spare time (and he had a lot of it) was occupied in abuse of Senator Howland who, he said, had robbed him. The railway officials grew so tired of Palmer that at last they gave him a pass or paid his way to New York where he expressed his intention of re-opening his office on Wall Street as a consulting engineer. But he has not done this, and he is still in Ottawa, waiting to be paid for his contract price of $12,000 for boring the Straits, when he had not finished one half the job. All his spare time (and he had a lot of it) was occupied in abuse of Senator Howland who, he said, had robbed him. The railway officials grew so tired of Palmer that at last they gave him a pass or paid his way to New York where he expressed his intention of re-opening his office on Wall Street as a consulting engineer. But he has not done this, and he is still in Ottawa, waiting to be paid for his contract price of $12,000 for boring the Straits, when he had not finished one half the job. All his spare time (and he had a lot of it) was occupied in abuse of Senator Howland who, he said, had robbed him. The railway officials grew so tired of Palmer that at last they gave him a pass or paid his way to New York where he expressed his intention of re-opening his office on Wall Street as a consulting engineer. But he has not done this, and he is still in Ottawa, waiting to be paid for his contract price of $12,000 for boring the Straits, when he had not finished one half the job. All his spare time (and he had a lot of it) was occupied in abuse of Senator Howland who, he said, had robbed him. The railway officials grew so tired of Palmer that at last they gave him a pass or paid his way to New York where he expressed his intention of re-opening his office on Wall Street as a consulting engineer. But he has not done this, and he is still in Ottawa, waiting to be paid for his contract price of $12,000 for boring the Straits, when he had not finished one half the job. All his spare time (and he had a lot of it) was occupied in abuse of Senator Howland who, he said, had robbed him. The railway officials grew so tired of Palmer that at last they gave him a pass or paid his way to New York where he expressed his intention of re-opening his office on Wall Street as a consulting engineer. But he has not done this, and he is still in Ottawa, waiting to be paid for his contract price of $12,000 for boring the Straits, when he had not finished one half the job. All his spare time (and he had a lot of it) was occupied in abuse of Senator Howland who, he said, had robbed him. The railway officials grew so tired of Palmer that at last they gave him a pass or paid his way to New York where he expressed his intention of re-opening his office on Wall Street as a consulting engineer. But he has not done this, and he is still in Ottawa, waiting to be paid for his contract price of $12,000 for boring the Straits, when he had not finished one half the job. All his spare time (and he had a lot of it) was occupied in abuse of Senator Howland who, he said, had robbed him. The railway officials grew so tired of Palmer that at last they gave him a pass or paid his way to New York where he expressed his intention of re-opening his office on Wall Street as a consulting engineer. But he has not done this, and he is still in Ottawa, waiting to be paid for his contract price of $12,000 for boring the Straits, when he had not finished one half the job. All his spare time (and he had a lot of it) was occupied in abuse of Senator Howland who, he said, had robbed him. The railway officials grew so tired of Palmer that at last they gave him a pass or paid his way to New York where he expressed his intention of re-opening his office on Wall Street as a consulting engineer. But he has not done this, and he is still in Ottawa, waiting to be paid for his contract price of $12,000 for boring the Straits, when he had not finished one half the job. All his spare time (and he had a lot of it) was occupied in abuse of Senator Howland who, he said, had robbed him. The railway officials grew so tired of Palmer that at last they gave him a pass or paid his way to New York where he expressed his intention of re-opening his office on Wall Street as a consulting engineer. But he has not done this, and he is still in Ottawa, waiting to be paid for his contract price of $12,000 for boring the Straits, when he had not finished one half the job. All his spare time (and he had a lot of it) was occupied in abuse of Senator Howland who, he said, had robbed him. The railway officials grew so tired of Palmer that at last they gave him a pass or paid his way to New York where he expressed his intention of re-opening his office on Wall Street as a consulting engineer. But he has not done this, and he is still in Ottawa, waiting to be paid for his contract price of $12,000 for boring the Straits, when he had not finished one half the job. All his spare time (and he had a lot of it) was occupied in abuse of Senator Howland who, he said, had robbed him. The railway officials grew so tired of Palmer that at last they gave him a pass or paid his way to New York where he expressed his intention of re-opening his office on Wall Street as a consulting engineer. But he has not done this, and he is still in Ottawa, waiting to be paid for his contract price of $12,000 for boring the Straits, when he had not finished one half the job. All his spare time (and he had a lot of it) was occupied in abuse of Senator Howland who, he said, had robbed him. The railway officials grew so tired of Palmer that at last they gave him a pass or paid his way to New York where he expressed his intention of re-opening his office on Wall Street as a consulting engineer. But he has not done this, and he is still in Ottawa, waiting to be paid for his contract price of $12,000 for boring the Straits, when he had not finished one half the job. All his spare time (and he had a lot of it) was occupied in abuse of Senator Howland who, he said, had robbed him. The railway officials grew so tired of Palmer that at last they gave him a pass or paid his way to New York where he expressed his intention of re-opening his office on Wall Street as a consulting engineer. But he has not done this, and he is still in Ottawa, waiting to be paid for his contract price of $12,000 for boring the Straits, when he had not finished one half the job. All his spare time (and he had a lot of it) was occupied in abuse of Senator Howland who, he said, had robbed him. The railway officials grew so tired of Palmer that at last they gave him a pass or paid his way to New York where he expressed his intention of re-opening his office on Wall Street as a consulting engineer. But he has not done this, and he is still in Ottawa, waiting to be paid for his contract price of $12,000 for boring the Straits, when he had not finished one half the job. All his spare time (and he had a lot of it) was occupied in abuse of Senator Howland who, he said, had robbed him. The railway officials grew so tired of Palmer that at last they gave him a pass or paid his way to New York where he expressed his intention of re-opening his office on Wall Street as a consulting engineer. But he has not done this, and he is still in Ottawa, waiting to be paid for his contract price of $12,000 for boring the Straits, when he had not finished one half the job. All his spare time (and he had a lot of it) was occupied in abuse of Senator Howland who, he said, had robbed him. The railway officials grew so tired of Palmer that at last they gave him a pass or paid his way to New York where he expressed his intention of re-opening his office on Wall Street as a consulting engineer. But he has not done this, and he is still in Ottawa, waiting to be paid for his contract price of $12,000 for boring the Straits, when he had not finished one half the job. All his spare time (and he had a lot of it) was occupied in abuse of Senator Howland who, he said, had robbed him. The railway officials grew so tired of Palmer that at last they gave him a pass or paid his way to New York where he expressed his intention of re-opening his office on Wall Street as a consulting engineer. But he has not done this, and he is still in Ottawa, waiting to be paid for his contract price of $12,000 for boring the Straits, when he had not finished one half the job. All his spare time (and he had a lot of it) was occupied in abuse of Senator Howland who, he said, had robbed him. The railway officials grew so tired of Palmer that at last they gave him a pass or paid his way to New York where he expressed his intention of re-opening his office on Wall Street as a consulting engineer. But he has not done this, and he is still in Ottawa, waiting to be paid for his contract price of $12,000 for boring the Straits, when he had not finished one half the job. All his spare time (and he had a lot of it) was occupied in abuse of Senator Howland who, he said, had robbed him. The railway officials grew so tired of Palmer that at last they gave him a pass or paid his way to New York where he expressed his intention of re-opening his office on Wall Street as a consulting engineer. But he has not done this, and he is still in Ottawa, waiting to be paid for his contract price of $12,000 for boring the Straits, when he had not finished one half the job. All his spare time (and he had a lot of it) was occupied in abuse of Senator Howland who, he said, had robbed him. The railway officials grew so tired of Palmer that at last they gave him a pass or paid his way to New York where he expressed his intention of re-opening his office on Wall Street as a consulting engineer. But he has not done this, and he is still in Ottawa, waiting to be paid for his contract price of $12,000 for boring the Straits, when he had not finished one half the job. All his spare time (and he had a lot of it) was occupied in abuse of Senator Howland who, he said, had robbed him. The railway officials grew so tired of Palmer that at last they gave him a pass or paid his way to New York where he expressed his intention of re-opening his office on Wall Street as a consulting engineer. But he has not done this, and he is still in Ottawa, waiting to be paid for his contract price of $12,000 for boring the Straits, when he had not finished one half the job. All his spare time (and he had a lot of it) was occupied in abuse of Senator Howland who, he said, had robbed him. The railway officials grew so tired of Palmer that at last they gave him a pass or paid his way to New York where he expressed his intention of re-opening his office on Wall Street as a consulting engineer. But he has not done this, and he is still in Ottawa, waiting to be paid for his contract price of $12,000 for boring the Straits, when he had not finished one half the job. All his spare time (and he had a lot of it) was occupied in abuse of Senator Howland who, he said, had robbed him. The railway officials grew so tired of Palmer that at last they gave him a pass or paid his way to New York where he expressed his intention of re-opening his office on Wall Street as a consulting engineer. But he has not done this, and he is still in Ottawa, waiting to be paid for his contract price of $12,000 for boring the Straits, when he had not finished one half the job. All his spare time (and he had a lot of it) was occupied in abuse of Senator Howland who, he said, had robbed him. The railway officials grew so tired of Palmer that at last they gave him a pass or paid his way to New York where he expressed his intention of re-opening his office on Wall Street as a consulting engineer. But he has not done this, and he is still in Ottawa, waiting to be paid for his contract price of $12,000 for boring the Straits, when he had not finished one half the job. All his spare time (and he had a lot of it) was occupied in abuse of Senator Howland who, he said, had robbed him. The railway officials grew so tired of Palmer that at last they gave him a pass or paid his way to New York where he expressed his intention of re-opening his office on Wall Street as a consulting engineer. But he has not done this, and he is still in Ottawa, waiting to be paid for his contract price of $12,000 for boring the Straits, when he had not finished one half the job. All his spare time (and he had a lot of it) was occupied in abuse of Senator Howland who, he said, had robbed him. The railway officials grew so tired of Palmer that at last they gave him a pass or paid his way to New York where he expressed his intention of re-opening his office on Wall Street as a consulting engineer. But he has not done this, and he is still in Ottawa, waiting to be paid for his contract price of $12,000 for boring the Straits, when he had not finished one half the job. All his spare time (and he had a lot of it) was occupied in abuse of Senator Howland who, he said, had robbed him. The railway officials grew so tired of Palmer that at last they gave him a pass or paid his way to New York where he expressed his intention of re-opening his office on Wall Street as a consulting engineer. But he has not done this, and he is still in Ottawa, waiting to be paid for his contract price of $12,000 for boring the Straits, when he had not finished one half the job. All his spare time (and he had a lot of it) was occupied in abuse of Senator Howland who, he said, had robbed him. The railway officials grew so tired of Palmer that at last they gave him a pass or paid his way to New York where he expressed his intention of re-opening his office on Wall Street as a consulting engineer. But he has not done this, and he is still in Ottawa, waiting to be paid for his contract price of $12,000 for boring the Straits, when he had not finished one half the job. All his spare time (and he had a lot of it) was occupied in abuse of Senator Howland who, he said, had robbed him. The railway officials grew so tired of Palmer that at last they gave him a pass or paid his way to New York where he expressed his intention of re-opening his office on Wall Street as a consulting engineer. But he has not done this, and he is still in Ottawa, waiting to be paid for his contract price of $12,000 for boring the Straits, when he had not finished one half the job. All his spare time (and he had a lot of it) was occupied in abuse of Senator Howland who, he said, had robbed him. The railway officials grew so tired of Palmer that at last they gave him a pass or paid his way to New York where he expressed his intention of re-opening his office on Wall Street as a consulting engineer. But he has not done this, and he is still in Ottawa, waiting to be paid for his contract price of $12,000 for boring the Straits, when he had not finished one half the job. All his spare time (and he had a lot of it) was occupied in abuse of Senator Howland who, he said, had robbed him. The railway officials grew so tired of Palmer that at last they gave him a pass or paid his way to New York where he expressed his intention of re-opening his office on Wall Street as a consulting engineer. But he has not done this, and he is still in Ottawa, waiting to be paid for his contract price of $12,000 for boring the Straits, when he had not finished one half the job. All his spare time (and he had a lot of it) was occupied in abuse of Senator Howland who, he said, had robbed him. The railway officials grew so tired of Palmer that at last they gave him a pass or paid his way to New York where he expressed his intention of re-opening his office on Wall Street as a consulting engineer. But he has not done this, and he is still in Ottawa, waiting to be paid for his contract price of $12,000 for boring the Straits, when he had not finished one half the job. All his spare time (and he had a lot of it) was occupied in abuse of Senator Howland who, he said, had robbed him. The railway officials grew so tired of Palmer that at last they gave him a pass or paid his way to New York where he expressed his intention of re-opening his office on Wall Street as a consulting engineer. But he has not done this, and he is still in Ottawa, waiting to be paid for his contract price of $12,000 for boring the Straits, when he had not finished one half the job. All his spare time (and he had a lot of it) was occupied in abuse of Senator Howland who, he said, had robbed him. The railway officials grew so tired of Palmer that at last they gave him a pass or paid his way to New York where he expressed his intention of re-opening his office on Wall Street as a consulting engineer. But he has not done this, and he is still in Ottawa, waiting to be paid for his contract price of $12,000 for boring the Straits, when he had not finished one half the job. All his spare time (and he had a lot of it) was occupied in abuse of Senator Howland who, he said, had robbed him. The railway officials grew so tired of Palmer that at last they gave him a pass or paid his way to New York where he expressed his intention of re-opening his office on Wall Street as a consulting engineer. But he has not done this, and he is still in Ottawa, waiting to be paid for his contract price of $12,000 for boring the Straits, when he had not finished one half the job. All his spare time (and he had a lot of it) was occupied in abuse of Senator Howland who, he said, had robbed him. The railway officials grew so tired of Palmer that at last they gave him a pass or paid his way to New York where he expressed his intention of re-opening his office on Wall Street as a consulting engineer. But he has not done this