How women differ from men. At least three men on the average jury are bound to disagree with the rest just to show that they have minds of their own; but there is no disagreement among the women as to the merits of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

They are all unanimous in pronouncing it the best remedy in the world for all those chronic diseases, weaknesses, and complaints peculiar to their sex. It transforms the pale, haggard, dispirited woman, into one of sparkling health, and the ringing laugh again "reigns supreme" in the happy household.

A WIDOW, named Annie Williams, hailing from Cardigan, has for some time past been employed at the Rankin House as a domestic. Annie was gentle and personified, and was much liked in consequence. Yesterday afternoon she told her employer that she had received a letter from home, stating that her two children were ill with black diphtheria, and her presence was urgently required.

Last evening she made ready to start, and removed her trunk to the house of a friend. Shortly after her departure, one of the chamber girls missed a number of sheets. Search where she might the sheets could not be found. Suspicion was at last cast in the direction of the gentle widow whose two children were dying of black diphtheria; but when search was commenced for her this morning it was discovered that she had left for home. She was, however, overhauled at Mount Stewart and taken prisoner. After her trunk had been searched, and a large collection of silver spoons, knives, forks, blacking, as well as some male attire, found therein, she was brought back to town. During the summer it was known that some person had been pilfering small articles, but the thief could not be traced. The secret, however, is now out. The gentle widow will likely receive her reward on Monday.

THE universal esteem in which Justin McCarthy is held by his associates is well expressed in the following editorial paragraph taken from a late English paper:—"Justin McCarthy was entertained at dinner in London last evening. Never was the love of comrades more honestly earned. If there was a secret plebiscite taken among the members of the Irish Parliamentary Party for the palm of popularity, Justin McCarthy is unquestionably the man who would unite the suffrages of most. His irresistible charm of manner, the gay and witty bonhomie, which makes him in society one of the most delightful of men; his transparent unselfishness; the cheerfulness with which he has made, without a word or sign, sacrifices at which other men would repine for a lifetime; his superb fidelity in hours of danger; and his grand and simple fearlessness; the eloquence which at times holds the House of Commons spellbound with admiration and amazement—all combine to endear Justin McCarthy to every man in the party, from the leader to the rawest ensign. His comrades and countrymen will follow his footsteps in America with affectionate interest; and it is perfectly certain that no cultivated section of the American people will be slow in their appreciation of one of the most brilliant of Irishmen and most charming of lecturers."

Fourth—What amount of fines were actually collected? Awaiting an early reply. I remain, Yours, ENQUIRER.

Weather Bulletin.

Toronto, October 16—10 a.m. Gales, veering to west and northwest, cloudy to partly cloudy; colder weather, with a few passing showers.

Goodbye and Goodnight.

Goodbye! it quivers through the years, Low breathing of despair; The sunniest flower of life it sears And dulls the summer air.

It echoes through the falling leaves, Through ocean's ebb and flow; In spring's soft gales, in autumn sheaves—Sore partings, bitter woe.

It speaketh through the vacant chair To every home and heart;— How'er so noble, gifted, fair, Earth-born on earth must part.

Goodnight! Oh, eyes long used to weep! Faith spans the mist of years, High o'er life's toil, death's darksome sleep, Heaven's fair, sweet dawn appears.

Refulgent with its glorious rays O'er earth, o'er ocean's foam; Where'er the weary wanderer strays, To light the spirit home.

Home to the painless, sinless land, The never dark'ning sky; Where hearts ne'er break with glad of hand, And friends ne'er say "Goodbye," S. M.

THE PRESENT

IS A GOOD TIME TO BUY

Silver-Plated Ware.

Prices are Likely to Go Up.

The following is contained in a letter just received by us from a manufacturer:—"There is a regular boom in trade. Cannot send travellers out, have to keep them home to help to get out orders. Everyone crazy about goods. The whole west is in a ferment and prices are going to be higher, as it is utterly impossible to make the goods required."

The above state of the trade is in a great measure due to the fine exhibits of Silver Ware made at the Colonial Exhibition in London and the consequent popularity and demand for Canadian goods. We have a splendid show of Sugar, Butter and Cream Dishes, Cups and Mugs, Tea Pitchers, Pickle Dishes (colored and plain), Castors, Napkin Rings, Spoons, and all kinds of goods.
