"DON MESSER'S BACKWOODS 5"

Six weeks, 40 pencils, miles of adding machine tape — that's what 20-year-old Helen Brown used to count 945,843 words in complete works of William Shakespeare. It was just one detail in job of getting copy ready for contestants in nonstop typewriting marathon at Toronto, Ont., Aug. 25- Sept. 9.

SIX CHEER-UP QUOTATIONS

Some people grumble because roses have thorns; I am always so thankful that thorns have roses.

No one is useless in this world who lightens the burden of it for someone else.

Though today may not fulfil
All thy hopes, have patience still,
For perchance tomorrow's sun
Sees thy happier days begun.

Happiness is a duty, quite as much as truthfulness, honesty or good temper.

Tight boots are a blessing —they make you forget all your other troubles.

It isn't raining rain to me,
It's raining daffodils.
In every dimpled drop I see
Wild flowers on the hills.

Scout News and Notices

NOTABLE MESSAGE FROM BADEN-POWELL TO WORLD GATHERING OF ROVER SCOUTS

Of notable interest, against conditions in Europe and the far East, was a special message of Lord Baden-Powell from his place of retirement in Kenya to the 3,600 Rover (senior) Scouts recently gathered for the 3rd World Rover Moot at Crieff, Scotland, from 22 different countries. Said the World Chief Scout in part:

You, the coming manhood of your several countries, are giving a real contribution to this pursuit of peace by coming together, as you are doing, from all countries to make friends with one another, and mutually to strengthen your belief in your ultimate success as an army of peace. Remember, you are only a small detachment of that army, which numbers not hundreds only, but millions of Scouts and old Scouts about the world, all following the same ideals, and an army that will soon have to be reckoned with.

The evil of present times is that the leaders of certain countries have a too narrow sense of patriotism. They have a selfish desire to promote the ambitions of their own country without regard to the interests of others. On the other hand, whatever the leader's aims may be, the people themselves in every country under the sun desire peace. It is obvious that nations must work together for the common good if there is to be prosperity and happiness for all.

You will recognize the first step towards peaceful co-operation between nations is that the different people should get to know each other better, and should practise that outstanding principle which is as important in your own individual life as it is between nations---namely, to understand with toleration the other fellows point of view.

That is why I have just said that you Rovers are doing a real service towards international goodwill; you are doing it if you use the opportunity accorded by the Moot to make friends and to get to understand the ideals and feelings of your neighbours of other countries. Let this be your aim during the short time you are here together.

Differences of political views or of a religious form, or of a nationality, do not influence you here, where you meet as brother men; brothers in Scouting, brothers as sons of the one Father, all following the same ends and trying all we can to help to bring goodwill and God's peace into the world in place of selfish bickering and war.

On their way to the World's Fair a group of 24 Scouts of the 124th Toronto (Eaton Memorial) Church) Troop bore a letter from Mayor Ralph Day to Mayor LaGuardia of New York, inviting the National Exhibition in September, latter to attend the Canadian Mayor Day was formerly a Boy Scout of the 21st Toronto Troop.

"For rapid growth and ability to plan a programme to hold the interest of its members the Boy Scout movement provides an example that might well be studied by other organizations. In fact, as leader of a political party I seriously believe that their methods would bar investigation, for the amazing growth of the Boy Scout movement has been a source of wonder to leaders of many other organizations." --Premier W. J. Patterson of Saskatchewan.

One of Canada's interesting and successful school Boy Scout troops is sponsered by the agricultural school orphanage of St. Ferdinand de Halifax, Que., under Scoutmaster Victor Curmi. Of the 83 boys in the school at present, 52 are Scouts, by free choice, and carry on their Scouting as part of the daily school routine, using Lord Baden-Powell's "Scouting for Boys" as their textbook. They are organized into two troops, have a part of the big dormitory to themselves, and each morning in Scout fashion raise the Union Jack on its flagpole and sing the National Anthem. Upon leaving the school the boys are placed by the government on land in northern Quebec.

When two divisions of Slovakian troops were dispatched by Germany to Jablunka Pass in the High Tatras mountains of the Silesian-Polish border, peaceful villages like this, located along the road leading too the pass, were turned into bustling military camps echoing to the tread of soldiers and the rumble of artillery.

In Memoriam

MRS. ADAM GRAHAM

On Sunday July 22nd, Mrs. Janet Graham widow of the late Adam Graham, Murray Harbor North passed peacefully away at her home at the ripe old age of 82 years.

The deceased had been in failing health for some months so that the coming of the end was not unexpected.

Mr. Adam Graham, her husband, passed away in 1902. Mrs. Graham now leaves to mourn the loss of a kind and loving mother one son Wm. B. Graham, the only surviving member of the family. One daughter Miss Elizabeth Graham the only other member of the family died in 1930.

Mrs. Graham was one of a family of three memebrs. The one brother James Graham died when he was but a child and a sister Miss Elizabeth Graham passed away 58 years ago.

The deceased was a woman who was quite widely known and was held in high esteem by all. In her manner of living she was kind and unselfish. In times of sickness and sorrow she was always ready to give of her best to those around her. To her home all worthy comers found a hearty welcome and no one needing help ever called upon her in vain. She will be much missed by a large circle of relatives and friends. When the end came she was found ready. She often spoke of her home beyond where her suffering would be forever ended. The Masters Call "Weary one come home" was to her a welcome call.

Her passing was one of sweet peace.

The funeral which was a large one was held on the afternoon of Tuesday, July 24th —which date by the way was the birthday of the deceased. And it might be noted as being rather striking both she and her daughter Miss Elizabeth were both buried on their birthdays.

The funeral service was conducted by Rev. R. Hensley Stavert and was a very impressive one throughout.

The pall bearers were: Messrs. Oswald Graham, Andrew Graham, Wm. W. Graham, Alex Graham, George G. Graham, George A. Graham.

Interment was in the Murray Harbor North Cemetery.
