Summerside Vs. Moncton

WITH the writing of this column we are at the Shediac Inn It's 3.30 p.m. Friday. Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Hogan, Civic Stadium manager, Mr. and Mrs. Grant Grady, Summerside Junior Legionaires coach, Bobby Perry, Legionaires spare goal tender and myself have just finished dinner following a grueling snowbound, seven and ½ hours, 14 mile drive that brought us here from Moncton.

To our knowledge, the other six cars and 33 persons from the Island who were in the New Brunswick ents for Summerside's 7-5 win over Moncton Juniors Wednesday night, returned to Moncton early Friday morning after they were unable to make their way more than four miles toward the Island because of the wind blowing, drifting highways. Yours truly was in one of the few fortunate cars that managed to get as far as Shediac via route number 11.

The Summerside contingent had planned on returning to the Island Thursday morning but were unable to leave the Hub City because both the N.B.-P.E.I. roads were blocked by heavy snow. The ferry to the Island was not operating on a regular schedule and Eastern Provincial Airways were unable to schedule flights to the Island.

Unable to leave Moncton, the Junior Legionaires received a well earned rest Thursday, following their penalty-ridden victory over Moncton Wednesday night. John Poirier suffered a badly bruised knee, Bobby Perry was cut above the nose but required no stitches and Wayne Trainor and Nick Fillmore received sprained thumbs.

The opening game of the best of three juniors series at the Moncton Stadium was one of the roughest, hard fought battles the Legionaires have had for a long while. Perhaps since they last played the intermediate A Texaco Combines.

Summerside had the edge in skating for most of the game. But Moncton's accurate, long passing in the spacious stadium kept the Island defence and back checkers on their toes throughout the contest. Both teams played rough, rather dirty hockey by times with the referees handing out 24 penalties including five majors and two major game misconducts.

The game reached a high tension point with less than ten minutes remaining in the third period as a Moncton player was injured by a vicious knee from a Summerside defenceman. Three fights involving players broke out at once and more than 75 persons came on to the ice, some to help the Moncton player, who was injured in the throat and some to try and get at the Summerside team.

A police detachment was called to the arena to prevent further incidents but the Summerside team still required police escorts from the Stadium.

Apparently the Moncton team has had a reputation for rough play throughout the season. Sportscaster Earl Ross, over the Moncton radio station on three occasions Thursday, took exception to the action of the Moncton players and fans during and after the game. He repeatedly referred to them as "bums" and said that during the game action should have been taken against persons involved in the incidents.

After he was ordered from the game at last in the third period, Summerside defencemen Gerald Smith, went to the dressing room and was threatened by a group of 15 to 20 fans who fought their way into the Summerside room. Several Island players were threatened during and after the game and also were struck with numerous objects thrown by fans.

There is a possibility that at least one player from each team will sit out this afternoons scheduled game at Civic Stadium because of their part in a stick swinging duel late in Wednesdays game.

Referee-in-chief Red Gravelle said he would clamp down on any monkey business in the second, and third, if necessary) games in Summerside in the interest of hockey. He said he looked forward to having a good, clean and fast game at Civic Stadium this afternoon.

Piersall Nears The End

THE major league career of one of baseball's most talked about and unusual athletes is coming to a close.

"Every year," said Jim Piersall, "I've went to spring training telling myself I didn't have a job."

"I might have one but I'd pretend I had to fight to get it. This year I don't have to pretend. Now I either do it or I've had it."

The 34-year-old outfielder went to spring training with the Angels as a free agent. If they think he can help them, they'll sign him. If not, Piersall's 10th major league home run—the one he celebrated by running the bases backwards—may have been his last.

Piersall, despite the historic blow last season while employed by New York Mets, a National League team that needed anything but a comedian. The American League Angles picked up Piersall in July after the Mets had stashed him. When the season ended he was made a free agent.

Right now Piersall's chief concern is his left knee. It was injured when he joined the Angels and he aggravated the injury in a game last August. He played little thereafter.

"The knee doesn't bother me now," he said, "even when I run. But let's see what happens when I have to stop and start in a hurry."

Atlantic Conference Football

AN unbalanced schedule, designed to bring teams of nearly equal calibre into competition, has been drawn up for the 1964 season of the Atlantic Football Conference.

The big change under the new set will be that neither Dalhousie nor Acadia will meet the defending Conference champions, St. Francis Xavier, of Antigonish.

Home and home series will be played by St. FX and St. Mary's Mount A and UNB. Stadacona and Shearwater, Acadia and Dalhousie, and St. Dunstan's and Acadia,

St. Mary's Huskies is the only team meeting St. FX twice. Mount A, Stad., Shearwater, UNB and St. Dunstan's meet the Lonoymen once each.

The AFC opens Sept. 19 and the schedule ends Nov. 21, with the renewal of the Purdy Cup game. Invitations have been sent to the Senior Intercollegiate League and the Ontario Intercollegiate League for bids to the Atlantic Bowl game, Nov. 28.

Manitoba Leads Curling Ch'ship

By ALLAN BAILEY

TORONTO (CP) — Manitoba combined skill and a little luck to take an eighth-round 11-7 victory over British Columbia and remain on top in the national mixed curling championship here Friday.

The Ernie Boushy rink from Winnipeg scored a three in the ninth end and one point in the 10th to defeat the British Columbia rink skipped by Gil Lemoel.

The loss dropped the LeMoel squad into a two-way tie for second place with Bill Tracy rink from RCAF Station Bagotville, Que., each having five wins and two losses.

The Manitoba rink, with three draws remaining, has six wins and one setback, a 7-6 upset by Saskatchewan in the seventh round.

Tracy scored his fifth win with a 10-6 triumph over the Dean Miller rink from Weyburn, Sask. The game was never in doubt after the fifth end when the Quebec foursome scored a four-ender.

DOWN NEWFOUNDLAND

Wilf Biron's Northern Ontario rink from Sudbury took over sole possession of fifth place with a 10-5 win over the Bill Allen crew from St. John's, Nfld.

The other eighth-round contest saw Glenn Gray and his Edmonton rink score an 8-5 victory over the Karl Stronach rink of Kingston, N.S.

"We're not thinking of the championship yet," said Manitoba's third, Mrs. Ina Light. "We still have to get by Ontario, New Brunswick and Alberta."

Mrs. Olwyn Graham, lead for Glenn Gray's Alberta quartet from Edmonton, was called home Friday because of the death of her father.

Her position was taken by Mrs. Glyn Evans of Toronto, a former Edmonton resident who curled with members of Gray's team before moving to Toronto.

Friday night's draw: Manitoba over Ontario, British Columbia met Northern Ontario, Nova Scotia played Prince Edward Island, Saskatchewan faced Alberta and Quebec met New Brunswick. Newfoundland had the bye.

Wings Are Going Strong As Howe Leads The Way

By DAVE BETTS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Quickly now, what's the hottest team in the National Hockey League and who's the most prolific scorer?

If you said Detroit Red Wings and Gordie Howe, move to the head of the bench.

In the second half of the season the Wings have fluttered their way into the heady atmosphere of the NHL's first division. If they can claw their way this weekend through the cloud cover spread by Toronto Maple Leafs, they could wind up with the best second - half finish of any team in years.

A double win in a home-and-home series with Toronto would elevate the Wings to third place, a plateau almost undreamed of a few weeks ago when they were wallowing in a fifth-place fight with New York Rangers.

Detroit's 9-3 shellacking of the Rangers Thursday night was their fourth straight win and 13th in their last 19 games.

BEST RECORD

In 33 second-half games, the Wings have won 18, lost 10 and tied five for 41 of a possible 66 points, best record in the league. Montreal Canadiens were closest with 38 points.

With 14 goals and 27 assists, Howe has boosted himself into front position to receive $500 bonus money as the NHL's top second-half scorer.

His 41 points—reached Thursday with a goal and two assists—puts him in a three-way tie with Chicago Black Hawks' Stan Mikita and Bobby Hull.

However, the first - place Hawks play only one more game—against Boston Bruins Sunday. Howe and company have two more cracks at the record book.

Another Red Wing who could be helped by the schedule vagaries is centre Norm Ullman, who has scored 17 times and assisted on 22 for 39 points during the latter half. Andy Bathgate of Toronto is fifth in second-half scoring with 37 points.

League president Clarence Campbell said Friday that in the event of a points tie for the second half the NHL will award $500 to each man involved. Conceivably, this could cost the league $2,500.

MIKITA IN LEAD

The Art Ross Memorial Trophy and $1,000 practically belongs in Chicago Stadium right now. The prizes go to the league's highest point man over the entire season. Mikita now has 89 points, Hull 86 and their closest rival—Jean Beliveau of Montreal—only 75.

Although Boston and New York must wait until next year to revive playoff hopes, they still can play a big part in deciding the top four positions.

The pesky Bruins play in Montreal tonight and are at home to the Hawks Sunday. Montreal trails Chicago by one point.

HUNTER'S CORNER

Sporting Season Success Depending On Weather

March is past the halfway mark with no sign that winter is on the wane. It could be that all records for depth of snow will go by the board this winter of 1963-64. Hun covey's are being reported from sections where none were thought to exist. The opening of the trout season is less than a month away with many streams and dams still buried under ice and snow. By month's end trouting prospects on April 15th should be shaping up. The feeling at the moment is that there is no abnormal depth of ice this winter and the spring break-up could be early. A lot depends upon the type of weather between now and April 1st.

I had a long chat the other night with a reader of my column. His business, as cattle buyer, takes him all over southern Queens' and King's counties and he keeps in touch with the number of black duck pairs observed in March and April. He told me that last spring he figured we were going to have a bumper crop of black ducks for the opening morning's shoot but it was very disappointing — the poorest in memory. He was quite puzzled over the duck situation last opening morning with respect to blacks but admitted my last column threw a new light on the situation. He told me he was puzzled over the pairs of black ducks he observed in June and early July that were sitting around enjoying 11°F when they should have been taking care of broods of young. He is an ardent hunter, trapper, fisherman and observant in the bargain. He is also a fur buyer and keeps in touch with the hunting and trapping fraternity.

Our Red Fox, our last bulwark against the current epidemic of field mice, is undergoing heavy punishment from hunters, trappers and snarers. Some of the hound men are still at it, or were on March 4th. A few days ago, a chap I know quite well, told me he tended his snares on March 5th. He carried home two foxes, both females heavy with pup. He checked on one and found that she would have given birth to six pups in late March or early April. He took up his snares pronto. I was told of several females, shot ahead of hounds as late as March 14th, that were heavy with young. Late in February I talked to a fox hunter who would rather run foxes than eat. I told him that the time limit for running hounds should be the end of February. That would give them over four months for their sport as some started their hounds the latter part of October. He had an answer for that: "When a female is run by hounds she always dens". Well, I know of three that didn't make their dens in March. This den business is strictly "for the birds." A fox is not inclined to den unless as a case of last recort. They have two reasons for this. One a fox feels trapped in a den. 2nd, a fox doesn't want to give the den site away and dens only as a last resort.

This columnist has run foxes with a hound — Old Dixie was all the hound I needed — before some of the present day fox hunting enthusiasts were born and never yet set a hound on the trail of a fox after mid February. I know the thrill of fox hunting and I have a wealth of memories on that score. One December morning is as fresh in memory as if it were yesterday. A red fox, belly to the crisp white snow, drifting down a snow covered wood road with Old Dixie a scant fifty yards behind. I was quite generous. I gave him both barrells of the black powder 10 gauge shells. The first shot caused his two hind feet to slip sideways on the snow covered patch of ice. The 2nd was a clean miss. My brother, the late J.D. Jenkins, stationed a quarter mile further down, didn't miss, I told Dan my first shot slowed him down, after he skinned him Dan called me over and showed me the B.B shot gauge at the top of the tail bone midway between rump and tip. His shot pattern had caught the fox in neck and shoulder. There was not a mark in the pelt in-between. Was I ever deflated? A bounty on the Gentleman with the red coat and the black stockinged legs is a crime against Nature.

Junior Game Is Delayed

That duet of disaster, snow and blowing snow, cancelled last night's hockey game between the Junior Legionnaires and the Moncton Juniors, but if the weather relents a little, and indications are that it will, the game will take place at Civic Stadium this afternoon at 2.30 p.m.

Grant Grady, coach of the local juniors, will be more anxious than ever, to take the series in two straight games, and avoid prolonging the series which the weather man has already prolonged. The Legionaires who beat Moncton 7-5 in Moncton, will be skating fast and checking hard to pull out another victory. But it will not be a shoo-in. The Moncton boys are tough battlers and won't give up without a stiff fight. Fans are bound to see a spine-tingling battle.

J.R. Williams donated the trophy to be presented to the high scorer in the Junior loop.

Burns Jewellers put up the trophy to be presented to the player who garners the most assists in league competition.

Ellis Bros. came good for the trophy to be awarded to the player judged to be the most valuable to his team.

Legion Team Has Practise

The Charlottetown Juvenile Legionaires will hold a practise Sunday afternoon at 2.30 in the Charlottetown forum. Coach "Buck" Whitlock has requested a full turnout for this most important practise.

Junior Action Set For Tonight

The North River Juniors will be going against the St. Dunstan's Junior Varsity at the college rink, in the first game of the playoffs in the Charlottetown and District Junior hockey league.

The Saints who completed the regular league schedule on the top of the heap will be heavily favoured to overpower this band of hockey performers from North River.

The Saints have some very talented hockey players amidst their line up as they had their pick of the castoffs of the Saints powerful varsity squad. Some were just a shade short of making the senior team because of playing ability while others were placed on the Junior Varsity squad because of their academic standing.

The North River team with Norm "Hawk" Larter at the helm have some very respectable hockey talent in their line up and with "Hawk" cracking the whip over them they will undoubtedly give the Malpeque road students a run for their money.

Dave Lawlor, a member of last years Junior Penquins, Maritime Junior Champs, has been toiling with the North River squad, and Dave who is an asset to any team with his hustling driving style will be in a North River uniform when they clash with the Saints tonight.

DAVE LAWLOR

These teams are attempting to give Junior hockey here, a shot in the arm by the formation of this Junior league and they have been displaying a pretty fair brand of hockey throughout the regular season. They deserve the support of the many local fans who have been expressing the dseire to see a junior league operating here in Charlottetown.

Cassius Clay Rejected; Wishes To Change Name

By WILL GRIMLEY

NEW YORK (AP) — Heavyweight champion Cassius Clay, rejected Friday by the army, said he hopes to fight again within three months and then make a world tour.

He said he is agreeable to a return bout with Sonny Liston if the latter is ready, and willing to face any qualified challenger. He listed three men—Ernie Terrell, Doug Jones and Eddie Machen.

"I want to fight again this summer, and we're working on it," the 22-year-old titleholder said after receiving word from Washington that he is unfit for military service. "If we can't arrange it, then I want to take a trip overseas, especially to the African and Asian nations."

The army reported that Clay failed his second pre-induction examination and was "not qualified for induction into the army under applicable standards."

No mention was made of the specific test Clay flunked but it was presumed to be that involving mental aptitude. There have been unofficial reports that he missed out on the mathematics portion.

"I just said I'm the greatest, I never said I was the smartest," the champion said.

Clay took his first test in Coral Gables, Fla., a week before he stopped the heavily-favored Liston in the seventh round of their title bout in Miami Beach Fla., Feb. 25 Liston, complaining of an injured left shoulder, failed to continue after the sixth round.
