IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of a dear wife and mother Mrs. F. D. Webster, who passed away Dec. 11, 1951.

Ever remembered by her husband and family.

In memory of Ellsworth Ferguson, a wonderful husband and father, who passed away December 12, 1951.

Time passes by, but beautiful memories remain forever.

Lovingly remembered always. Audrey and daughters, Dianne and Debbie.

In loving memory of my dear mother Mrs. Lorenzo Smith, who passed away on Dec. 11th, 1954.

Little we knew when we awoke
The sorrow the day would bring:
The call was so sudden to part with
One we had loved so dear.
We wonder why you had to die
Without a chance to say goodbye.
There is someone who misses you sadly,
And thinks the time long since you left;
There is someone who weeps in silence
And grieves with sighs of regret;
For you were ours to remember,
When the rest are apt to forget.

Sadly missed by daughter Edna.

Oil Co. Lines Ready Today

The oil lines from the Railway wharf to the Irving Oil Co. Ltd. bulk storage plant at the east end of Grafton St., will be completed today. When that is done everything will be in readiness for filling as soon as the company tanker "Irvingbrook" arrives.

Mr. William Connolly, manager for Irving Oil, is awaiting confirmation from the Saint John Office regarding the date on which the ship will arrive. As far as is known by harbour officials at the present time the ship is expected around the fifteenth of the month. This tanker will be the biggest ship ever to enter Charlottetown harbour.

At the Imperial Oil Companys new building site, Grafton St. has been torn up to allow the new pipe lines to be laid under the road. Traffic is routed through Kent St. and Kensington Rd. down Park St., to the bridge. This work is expected to be completed within a few days.

Another Death From Rat Poison

TORONTO (CP)—A 44-year-old mother, apparently heartbroken at the death of her son Tuesday, swallowed a fatal dose of rat poison Friday night.

Police said Mrs. Lucy Neale took the poison within a few hours of the funeral of her 21-year-old son Gerald. The young man died after accidentally shooting himself while examining an antique muzzle-loading pistol.

Coroner Dr. S. D. Lovering said Mrs. Neale died of a self-administered dose of sodium fluoride. It was the second Toronto death from rat poison in less than a week. Mrs. Ruth Washington, 35, died Wednesday after accidentally eating a poisoned sandwich prepared for rats.

War On Rats At Paris Airfield

PARIS (Reuters) — Scores of firemen and professional rat-catchers patrolled strikebound Orly airfield Saturday in search of rats that have been gorging themselves on chocolate and ham from airport stores and sharpening their teeth on the control cables of parked airliners.

Hundreds of rats, exiled from their usual haunts by excavation work on a road nearby, have made new nests at the airport.

Orly has been almost deserted since the strike of air traffic control staff began a month ago.

Rat-catchers have sprinkled poisoned wheat in all the hangars and empty airline offices.

One rat was killed Friday after it attacked a mechanic, leaping almost waist-high and tearing the man's trousers with its teeth. The rat weighed nearly seven pounds and was about 20 inches long.

Halifax Murder Remains Puzzle

HALIFAX, (CP)—The murder of Michael Resk was still a puzzle Sunday night. Police were close-mouthed as they continued a search for clues to the slayer of the 36-year-old Halifax storekeeper, found shot to death in his truck early Friday.

City detectives said only that they had questioned "a large number" of persons and received "a lot of information which may or may not be of value."

Resk was found dead from three bullet wounds, two in the head and one in the chest. There was a bullet hole in a soiled cloth covering the face when his body was found in a north end driveway two miles from his home. His knotted necktie dangled from one wrist.

Report Speed-up In U. S. Guided Missile Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — The defence department was reported Saturday to have centred control of its guided misile program in a new top-level agency to spur efforts to beat Russia in turning out long-range nuclear rockets.

This management committee, working directly under Deputy Defence Secretary Reuben Robinson, will decide, among other things, on the priority in immediate development between the intercontinental range and mid-range ballistic weapons.

The upsurge in the defence department's already heavily-emphasized effort to produce long-range bombardment rockets, capable of carrying nuclear warheads, was touched off by new reports of substantial progress by Russia.

As part of the stepped-up drive, the defence headquarters has approved a pooling of army and navy programs for perfection of an intermediate-range ballistic rocket with a range of 1,000 to 1,500 miles.

There was speculation that the air force, under the new centralized program, would retain its primary responsibility for creation of the truly long-range, intercontinental ballistic rocket with a range up to 5,000 miles.

Five Years For Armed Robbery

BATHURST, N.B. (CP)—Joseph Romeo Ross Saturday was sentenced to five years in penitentiary for his part in an armed robbery at a Tracadie, N. B., bank last July which netted two men $4,000.

Ross was convicted Friday by a Gloucester county court jury which deliberated almost two hours before returning its verdict.

Joseph A. Arseneau was acquitted earlier on a similar charge laid in connection with the holdup.

Witnesses testified that two masked men entered the Tracadie branch of the Provincial Bank of Canada and scooped up $4,000 in bills while holding two employees at gunpoint.

SEES NO HOPE FOR DECREASE IN TAXES

REGINA (CP) — Canadians should not look for a tax decrease, says J. Harvey Perry of Toronto, director of research for the Canadian Tax Foundation.

"Without taking a gloomy view there can be no doubt that tax rates in Canada will not go down," Mr. Perry said in an interview.

"In Canada we are trying not only to keep up but catch up with expenditures. Following the years of the depression there is much to be done and the growing population is demanding more services. All this costs money."

Russians Stir Up New Controversy Over Kashmir

By HAROLD K. MILKS

NEW DELHI, (AP) — Russia's leaders flew back to India's capital Sunday from a two-day visit in the north during which they vigorously stirred up the sleeping Kashmir controversy.

Again it was the blunt, forceful Communist party boss, Nikita Khrushchev, who aired the views of his country on the vexing Kashmir problem in a manner likely to create new tension between India and Pakistan.

Welcome as were his words to the general mass of Indian people, it appears they fell on most unhappy ears at the government level. India's strategy on winning Kashmir has been to avoid open conflict with Pakistan, while at the same time consolidating its own political and economic control over the disputed northern province.

Kashmir's population is predominantly Moslem but the state's Hindu Maharaja acceded to India in 1947. Since 1949 the state has been split by a United Nations cease-fire line.

NO OFFICIAL REACTION

Now Khrushchev, by declaring Kashmir belongs to India, seems likely to have provoked a new period of bitterness and tense relations. Prime Minister Nehru had no public comment on the developments when he flew home from south India to spend the next 48 hours with his Russian guests.

Government sources said there would be no official reaction to Khrushchev's speech — at least until the Russians are out of the country.

"But if Khrushchev had deliberately set out to light a fuse to fresh discord between India and Pakistan at a time when our problems seemed to be simmering down he could not have done a better job of it," said one influential Indian.

"UNFRIENDLY ACT"

Karachi let it be known Saturday that it considered the Russians' visit to Kashmir "an unfriendly act."

There was surprise here at Khrushchev's charge in Kashmir that "imperialistic powers" were responsible for the division of the Indian sub-continent into the nations of India and Pakistan after independence. Apparently he picked up this theme from the Indian Communists, who alone among all political groups have at times argued that partition of India was a British Imperialistic trick. Generally recognized history says British authorities sought to prevent partition and yielded reluctantly to avoid violence.

Nfld. Cabinet Members On Canadian Javelin Board

NEW YORK (CP)—Two members of the Newfoundland cabinet, Attorney-General Leslie R. Curtis and Finance Minister G. J. Power, have been nominated to the board of directors of Canadian Javelin Ltd., which has iron ore concessions in Labrador, it was announceed Saturday.

John C. Coyle, chairman of the board, said he had been advised of the nominations by Premier Smallwood and added that the two ministers will be elected at the company's next board meeting.

Smallwood and the two members of the cabinet were in New York last week for discussion with Doyle. They left Saturday for home.

The appointments are part of an agreement reached when the provincial legislature passed an act Sept. 28 authorizing the guarantee of principal and interest of a $16,500,000 bond issue of the Wabush Lake Railway Co. Ltd., a wholly-owned subsidiary of Canadian Javelin.

The ministers will also be directors of Wabush Lake. Special legislation was also passed authorizing members of the legislature to serve as directors of these companies.

TO BUILD RAILWAY

The bond issue will finance construction of integrated mining facilities and a 40-mile railroad linking Canadian Javelin's iron ore deposits near Wabush Lake, Labrador, with the Quebec North Shore and Labrador Railroad which runs to Sept Iles, Que., on the St. Lawrence river.

The announcement said iron ore reserves on only part of Canadian Javelin's concessions in southwest Labrador have been appraised as among the largest and valuable deposits in the world.

Snowfall

The fore-cast said "Snow to-day".
And early morning skies were gray;
Then softly without a sound,
It came, whitening the ground.

Lighten than thistle-down it fell,
Transforming every hill and dell.
The trees, their myrid branches bent,
Gladly to the enchantment lent.

A fairy-like scene we gaze upon;
Now every plain object seems gone;
In a twinkling, the pure snow
Beauty did on it bestow.

And yet, some folk, we know;
Murmer "How I dread the snow."
Winter would monotonous be,
If there was no snow to see.

30 Million French Eligible To Vote

PARIS, (AP) —Thirty-million Frenchmen will be eligible to vote in the general parliamentary election Jan. 2, it was indicated Sunday after the rush to register ended Saturday midnight.

This record-breaking registration was marked by the flocking of new voters to get their names on the list and promised to be matched by a record number of parties and candidates. The registration did not include the voters in Algeria, considered a part of metropolitan France for most purposes, where the government postponed the election because of turmoil created by guerrilla activity against French rule.

As many as 5,000 would-be deputies are expected to file their candidacies—nearly 10 for every seat in the national assembly. The parties and candidates have until midnight tonight to file. Parties making alliances with other parties also had to meet the same deadline.
