stock and the dry cows, but he was a bit disappointed with the cows in milk, mainly because many of them were not in the period of their lactation to show to best advantage.

The bulls were good and the senior and grand champion, Forest Leo Kismet, Junior, is good enough, he said, to show in any fair in Canada, even at the Royal. (This bull was brought here by B. B. (Bus) Jones, Bimbury and won the junior championship at the Eastern United States Holstein several years ago.)

The following are the results:

Emergency Cans Pace Strain On Blood Bank

According to a statement released last night by Red Cross officials, an American tourist, who is a patient in the P. E. I. Hospital at Charlottetown, caused a further strain on the badly diminished blood supply of the Maritime Red Cross depot at Halifax which serves both Nova Scotia and P. E. I.

He required quantities of B-negative blood - a fairly rare type - which fortunately was available from the depot at Halifax.

However, it was necessary for Red Cross to provide the hospital with a list of B-negative donors to have "on call" in case a further supply was required.

Several other recent emergencies - particularly blood replacements for the new born for which O-negative blood is needed - have meant calls to local donors for fresh blood.

F. A. S. Jones, provincial chairman of the Red Cross blood donor committee, said last night that next week's different centres throughout the province will provide residents in those areas with the opportunity to replenish the badly depleted bank and insure an adequate supply to meet the constant demands.

All types of blood are required," Mr. Jones said, but added that "O-negative and B-negative donors are particularly urged to make every effort to attend in view of the great shortage of these types."

Freed Yanks Tell Of Prison Ordeal

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—Five Americans freed Friday by pro-Communist forces told of being kept tied up in "black cells," fed only starchy diets and interrogated incessantly during their months in captivity.

One said they were treated like "wild animals."

The five, a Filipino and two Thais, were the first prisoners released by the Pathet Lao under the Geneva peace accords. Eleven other Americans, whose fate is still missing and their war is not known, Pathet Lao officials have given no indication they are holding more prisoners.

Headed and this after more than a year in prison camps, four of the five Americans to freedom here were reported "okay" by an army doctor after a quick check.

The fifth, Maj. Lawrence Bailey, 38, of Laurel, Md., assistant military attaché at the U.S. Embassy in Vientiane, was described as "pretty weak." Bailey said he was confined for 11 months in "a black cell," one with only a tiny window. He spoke with difficulty.

A twin-engine Soviet plane brought the Americans, along with a Filipino civilian and the two Thais captured during the war, from Pathet Lao headquarters in the Plain de Jarres.

Bailey and three of his companions - civilian airman John McCormack, 21, Brooklyn, N.Y.; Edward R. Shore Jr., 30, Galveston, Texas; and Army Sgt. Orville Ballenger, Columbus, Ohio - were flown to the U.S. air force base near Manila for further medical checks and interrogation.

The other, NBC cameraman Grant Wolfkill, 38, Shelton, Wash., headed direct for New York via Bangkok.

Wolfkill, who lost 60 pounds during his 15 months in prison, said the Pathet Lao captors "were probably as cruel, as barbaric, as primitive as anyone could hope to be."

"At no time were we treated anywhere near the way expected of a human being," he said in an interview with NBC. "We were treated more as wild animals."

TPS

ON PROFITABLE FLY CONTROL

GIL HENRY Charlottetown

Files mean less milk in the pail, less beef on the hoof, and they spread disease.

1. Houseflies: They're no blood suckers and do not cause direct losses in meat and milk production but they are disease carriers. Purina's NEW Fly Checker is one answer, hang it on a nail or wire or set it on a shelf, window sill or wherever the flies gather. Purina's New Fly Checker has two fly killers and a special attractant that kills 'em in bunches.
2. Stable Flies: They're blood suckers; have piercing mouth parts. About same size as a housefly; stable flies bite animals around the legs and lower extremities. They spend a part of their time in barns. Use Dairy Spray or Dairy Spray Concentrate or Purina Fly Bait. Scatter Dry Fly Bait around where the flies bunch up; feed rooms, barns, window sills, out in the barnlot. Use Fly Bait (Sugar Bait) inside, mix it with water and brush it on posts, walls, anywhere that flies gather.
3. Horn Flies: Are about half the size of ordinary houseflies and will be found in patches on animals in pasture. When the number of Horn Flies averages 25 or more - it's time to spray! Dairy Cattle Dust and Dairy Spray will do a good job!
4. Horseticks: Use Purina's new Fly Insecticide Bomb. Excellent for dairy cattle, beef cattle and horses. Just spray it lightly on affected areas. Especially good for show animals; safe for young animals.
