simile of Responsible Government in England, the speech from the Throne ought to be the speech of the Ministry and subject to criticism as such. The Queen does not write her speech, and when it is discussed in the Houses both of Lords and Commons, every possible liberty is taken with it. And unless such is the case here, the papers in the pay of Government may talk of Responsible Government, but that is all, it has no existence, it is vox et praeterea nihil, and as under the old system, every thing depends upon whether the Governor be an honest and able man, and anxious to do all in his power for the benefit of the Country. "If he is, why, things will go well, and if not, a great deal of confusion will arise, and we shall have to petition to have him removed, as we did in the case of Chas. Douglas Smith, and Sir Henry Huntly, and as we should have had to do with Sir Alexander Bannerman if he had not been in great haste—would have been spared. What though the Lieut. Governor were personally offended! Does the Editor of the Examiner think that any craven fear of the Lieutenant Governor's displeasure would prevent us from fearlessly doing our duty, if we honestly and conscientiously thought that he was acting in any way derogatory to the rights and liberties of the subject? No! we would boldly tell him so, and caution him against a repetition. If he were an honest man, he would think the more highly of us, and if he were not, we should die less cay, whether he were personally offended or no. But we are not in the least alarmed about the matter. We shall be well pleased to find, that the present Lieut. Governor keeps a large share of the power in his own hands. He is far better to be at the head of the Government than any of his Ministers, as they are pleased to term themselves. All that he can want from them is facts, so long as he does not suffer them to blind him, or keep him in the dark, there is no doubt that whatever emanates from himself will be for the good of the Island. We can well believe that the composition of the speech is from the pen of the Lieut. Governor, and for this plain reason, that there is not one of his Administration capable of drawing up an official document as it ought to be. But enough, the Lieut. Governor will give us credit for no wish to make him answerable for the acts of his predecessor, or those done by bodies over which he has had no control, and which happened before he assumed the Government, it is of these the speech treats, and we have too much confidence in his political skill and knowledge of official routine, to suppose that he will, for a moment, be offended with a public writer for commenting upon a public document.

We beg leave to assure the Editor of the Examiner, that the proprietor of this paper has never had occasion to "look down on the writer," and that the latter is not at all "fond of kicking and running riot, nor in the habit of throwing dirt upon every person that comes in his way," but that, on the contrary, when compelled, by a sense of public duty, to inflict severe, though just punishment on a public criminal, it was done reluctantly, and that it would have given us pleasure to find the ungrateful task devolved upon any other; but there are seasons, when duties, however irksome and unpleasant in the performance, must be undertaken, and when undertaken, properly accomplished.

We would also beg to say to him of the Weekly Advertiser, that we are, by no means, as he would insinuate, fond of green apples; but that we have an special dislike both to crude fruit, and crude poetry, both being equally difficult of digestion; besides setting our teeth on edge.

We had promised a report of the trials at the late October Term, at St. Eleanor's, and were preparing to redeem the promise, when it occurred to us that it would be better to defer the task until the questions of law which arose and were reserved at the trial, have been mooted at the arguments for new trials which are to be moved for in the Michaelmas Term at Charlottetown.

PROCLAMATION TO THE Good People of P. E. I.

PROBABLY there is not a family in your Province but what some members of it are more or less afflicted by Humours or Chronic Affections. As a remedy for these distressing complaints, there are numerous preparations brought into the market, but all of them of little or no good. But there is a discovery which has recently been made in chemical analysis that is wonderful in its operation. It has been long enough tried and we have proof sufficient to satisfy —call them men holding the highest offices the people of the United States can give—that the medicine will do just what it is recommended. It is BECOK HAMPTON'S VEGETABLE TINCTURE. The medicine is compounded from the Vegetable Kingdom and may be used by any person without injurious consequences. By a wise choice and combination of some of the best and rich oils of co-operative, simple remedies, it fully reaches all the essential organs of the human system and there it has proved itself so effectually curative of the WHOLE ROUND of chronic affections.

Over two million bottles have been sold in the north and west during the last five years.

LIVER COMPLAINT,

DYSPEPSIA, JAUNDICE, CHRONIC OR NERVOUS DEBILITY, DISEASE OF THE KIDNEYS, AND ALL DISEASES ARISING FROM A DISORDERED LIVER OR STOMACH;

Such as Constipation, inward Piles, Fulness of Blood to the Head, Acidity of the Stomach, Nausea, Heartburn, Disgust for food, Fulness or Weight in the Stomach, Sour Eructations, Sinking or Fluttering at the Pit of the Stomach, Swimming of the Head, Hurried and Difficult Breathing, Fluttering at the Heart, Choking or Suffocating Sensations when in a lying posture, Dimness of Vision; Dots or Webs before the Sight, Fever and Dull Pain in the Head, Deficiency of Perspiration, Yellowness of the Skin & Eyes, Pain in the Side, Back, Chest, Limbs, &c., Sudden Flushes of Heat, Burning in the Flesh, Constant Imaginings of evil, and Great Depression of Spirits, can be effectually cured by

DR. HOOFLAND'S CELEBRATED GERMAN BITTERS,

Prepared by DR. C. M. JACKSON, No. 120 Arch street, Philadelphia.

Their power over the above diseases is not excelled, if equalled, by any other preparation in the United States, as the cures attest, in many cases after skilful physicians had failed.

These Bitters are worthy the attention of invalids. Possessing great stimulative and tonic properties—the diseases of the Liver and lesser glands, exercising the most searching powers in weakness and affections of the digestive organs, they are, withal, safe, certain and pleasant.

Read and be Convinced.

The "Philadelphia Saturday Gazette," says of Dr. Hoofland's German Bitters:

"It is seldom that we recommend what are termed Patent Medicines, to the confidence and patronage of our readers; and therefore when we recommend Dr. Hoofland's German Bitters, we wish it to be distinctly understood that we are not speaking of the nostrums of the day, that are noised about for a brief period and then forgotten. They have done their guilty race of mischief, but of a medicine long established, universally prized, and which has met the hearty approval of the faculty itself."

"Scott's Weekly," said, Aug. 25—

"Dr. Hoofland's German Bitters, manufactured by Dr. Jackson, are now immediately by some of the most prominent members of the faculty as an article of much efficacy in cases of female weakness. Persons of debilitated constitutions will find these Bitters advantageous to their health, as we know from experience the salutary effect they have upon a weak system."

MORE EVIDENCE.

"Dr. Hoofland's German Bitters.—We have seen many flattering notices of this medicine, and the source from which they come induces us to make inquiry respecting its merits. From inquiry we were persuaded to use it, and must say we found it specific in its action upon diseases of the liver and digestive organ, and the powerful influence it exerts upon nervous prostration, is really surprising. It calms and strengthens the nerves, bringing them into a state of repose, producing refreshing.

If this medicine was more generally used, we are satisfied there would be less sickness. as from the stomach, liver and its connexion, the great majority of real and imaginary diseases emanate. Have them in a healthy condition and you can bid defiance to epidemics generally. The extraordinary medicine we would advise our friends who are all afflicted, to give a trial—it will recommend itself. It should, in fact, be in every family. No other medicine can produce such effects of the same merit."

For sale wholesale and retail at

THE GERMAN MEDICINE STORE,

No. 120 Arch street, next door below Sixth, Philadelphia, and by respectable dealers generally throughout the country.

In this mammon-worshipping Age, it is rare to find a man place his usefulness to the public, before his interest. DR. JACKSON, proprietor of the "Temple of Splendor," we were presented by a professional friend, to the celebrated Chemist, Dr. J. C. AYER, whose name is now perhaps, more familiar than any other, at the bedside of sickness, in this country. Knowing the unprecedented popularity of his medicines, and the immense sale of them, we had expected to find him a millionaire, and rolling in wealth. But we found him in his laboratory, busy with his laborers, among his crucibles, alembics, and retorts—giving his best personal care to the compounds, on the virtues of which, thousands hang for health. We learned, that notwithstanding his vast business, and its prompt returns in cash, the Doctor is not rich. The reason assigned is, that his medicine is costly, and he persists in making his preparations so expensively, that the nett profit is small.—American Farmer, Phil.
