Springhill Mine Not Safe Even For Testing, Claims

SPRINGHILL, N.S. (CP)—The crushed Cumberland No. 2 colliery where 75 miners died in a cave-in last October is no longer safe to work and nothing more should be done with it, Harold Gordon, chief of Dominion Steel and Coal Corporation's coal operations said here Monday. He told a royal commission inquiry into the Oct. 23 mine disaster he would oppose using No. 2 even as a testing ground to determine the cause of bumps. It was a bump-upheaval of the mine floor—which trapped 174 miners in No. 2, North America's deepest colliery. Mr. Gordon was one of four witnesses who testified at the first-day hearings under commission chairman Donald McInnes of Halifax. Other members of the commission are Tom McLachlan, former president of the United Mine Workers (Ind) District 26 and Calgary mining engineer Harry Wilton-Clark. CAMPBELL'S THEORY Mr. Gordon was asked by Mr. McInnes if he agreed with the theory of William Campbell, retired superintendent of the Dosco subsidiary Cumberland Railway and Coal Company, that bumps are caused by earth tremors. "I don't know whether the bump was brought on by a tremor or whether stress was brought on by a sudden break in the upper mine roof," he said. Overlying rock might break off because of its own weight and "there would be an instantaneous readjustment of stresses throwing forward like a tremendous hammer blow." Mr. Gordon led the two-week rescue operations to recover the bodies. Many times during the ordeal he wept openly while talking with reporters.

Biting Cold, Snowflurries Forecast For Most Sections

Most of Canada is in for more biting cold and snowflurries, except for southern British Columbia and southern Alberta where warm chinook winds are expected to push temperatures into the 40s today. Gale-force winds blustered over Newfoundland Monday, creating blizzard conditions over the entire island. Snowfalls of four to eight inches came down in cold, 12-degree weather. The mercury was expected to plunge to zero overnight as the storm whirled towards Greenland. The other Maritime provinces were sunny and cold with below zero readings. Little change was expected overnight or today.

Eskimos Get Bad Habits, Council Told

OTTAWA (CP)—Indications of a "growth" of objectionable habits among Canada's Eskimos, including petty thievery and prostitution, dictate that action should be taken to bar them from defence centres, mining communities and similar settlements "unless and until they have both employment and housing," the Northwest Territories Council was told Monday. Commissioner L. H. Nicholson of the RCMP, member of the council that convened Monday in regular session, said he believes urgent action is necessary at a few northern points. "We should take steps, firm if necessary, to keep these people from clustering about white centres of population unless and until they have both employment and housing," he said in a lengthy review of the Eskimo situation. The greatest danger in the Eskimo's transition towards white men's standards, Mr. Nicholson said, is that he will suffer psychological upset.

Cuban Trials Scene Shifts

By ROBERT BERELLEZ HAVANA, Cuba (AP) — The Havana war crimes trials reopened Monday night in a small, decorous courtroom setting in striking contrast to the noisy, spectacular first trial scene in the Sports Palace last week. Also, TV and radio coverage now are banned. The change was ordered by the Castro revolutionary regime after a deluge of foreign criticism over the circus character imparted by the 17,000 spectators at the first trial. It ended last Friday at dawn in a verdict of death for ex-maj. Jesus Sosa Blanco for murder and other crimes against Castro rebels fighting the regime of ex-dictator Fulgencio Batista. The first defendant at the resumed trials was a 15-year Cuban army veteran, ex-capt. Pedro Morejon, 38, who like Capt. Pedro Morejon, was charged with assassination, homicide and robbery. MISSING DEFENDANTS A hitch developed at the outset late Monday afternoon. The defendant could not be found and the court ordered an investigation. It turned out that someone had neglected to summon Morejon from La Cabana fortress, about six miles from the courtroom, and the trial was recessed nearly two hours while he was brought to court. The court secretary was placed under arrest pending investigation of the delay.

Woman Lived On Handouts, Had $230,000

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP) — A woman who existed on vegetables from her garden and handouts from wealthy neighbors was found Monday to have been worth $230,000 at the time of her death. The will of Mrs. Irene Evans, 93, showed assets totalling that amount when it was admitted for probate in surrogate court here. Mrs. Evans, whose tumbledown brown frame shack for years has been a mystery to residents and visitors to the fashionable Riverside Drive Area, died in November. During the past summer a very interesting week-end was spent at Rustico's Knights of Columbus Camp, where a large number of the group retired to enjoy outdoor recreation. Miss Evelyn Pugh a Grail Worker with the Extension Dept. of St. Francis Xavier was present to organize the recreational part of the week-end. Some of the group showed great talent when they participated in drama singing and folk dancing. This week-end closed with a very successful wicker roast. Several dances, lobster boils, and social gatherings were also held during the year. As lay apostles our goal is the co-relation of spirituality with our every day living.

Cancer Serum Said Tested

CHICAGO (AP) — Some patients once considered in the last stages of cancer still are alive three years after receiving serum from horses inoculated with their type of malignancy, a Canadian doctor said Monday. Dr. Gordon Murray of Toronto said there have been no cures, but definite evidence of improvement. He described the experiments at the annual meeting of the American Academy of Orthopedic Surgeons. The important thing to determine, he said in an interview, is whether the serum caused the improvement or whether it resulted from some still-undetermined factor. The experiments, which are continuing, seek to determine whether such serum will strengthen a cancer victim's natural immunity to the disease.

Escapeses Claim Unrest Rampant In Red China

HONG KONG (Reuters) — Seven fishermen who recently escaped from Communist China told a press conference here Monday that a feeling of unrest is "rampant" among workers and peasants in the communist people's communes — China's new basic social units. Lam Wai, chairman of the Hong Kong Fishing, Commercial and General Union, who acted as spokesman for the refugees, said that last October Chinese Communists began forcing fishermen to join the communes. Fishing vessels formed a group working together, while the wives and children of the fishermen stayed ashore to work in productive labor as coolies or in steel smelters. Old people were ordered to take care of 25 children each. Everyone had to put in 18 to 20 hours a day in the communes, and food was increasingly scarce. The experiments, which are continuing, seek to determine whether such serum will strengthen a cancer victim's natural immunity to the disease. When a fisherman joined a commune his vessel became public property and he was separated from his family. After the first month all he received was a food allowance. The fishermen said they had escaped by sailing to Hong Kong after dark. weeks after he retired from racing. Coroner G. T. Method said: "There is no question whatever that Mr. Hawthorn was going quite fast." He added that the court had no indication of the speed of Hawthorn's car—except that one witness estimated it at 80 miles an hour.

Imperial Oil's Earnings Top $50 Million

TORONTO—Earnings of Imperial Oil Ltd. for 1958 are estimated at $50,500,000. This is equivalent to $1.61 per share, and compares with $2,080,930 or $2.29 per share in 1957, a reduction of 30 per cent. J.R. White, president, said that that company's income improved during the last quarter largely because of a substantial increase in product sales. Subnormal temperatures throughout Canada stimulated demands for heating oils, and the company's gasoline sales were also at higher levels.
