

Search Continues For U.S. Plane

Three Airmen Picked Up In Labrador Wilderness

HALIFAX (CP) — Three Canadians were airlifted from an ice-covered Labrador swamp Thursday as 25 planes left four bases in search for a United States bomber and its three-man crew missing in the Atlantic off Iceland.

RCAP search and rescue here said a ski-equipped plane piloted by Tom Logan of New Glasgow took the Canadian fliers from the swamp to Knob Lake, Que., near the Labrador border. A spokesman said the rescue was effected "without difficulty." None of the men was injured.

They were identified as Eldon McEachern of Mount Laurier, Que., the civilian pilot; FO W. H. Coon and LAC F. C. Sinos of the RCAF.

The air force said their Beaver aircraft crashed-landed Wednesday night 100 miles northwest of Goose Bay, Labrador, after its engine failed. The plane was undamaged. It was on a 250-mile flight from Knob Lake to Goose Bay.

Sleeping bags, a tent and food were dropped to the men Wednesday night by an RCAF Dakota. Meanwhile, planes flew over 40-foot seas spotted by floating icebergs in an attempt to find a missing U.S. B-26 bomber whose last reported position was 160 miles southwest of its takeoff point at Keflavik, Iceland.

A spokesman for the United States northern air command at St. John's, Nfld., said "every effort is being made and will continue as long as there is reasonable hope of the crew being alive."

The three crew members have not been identified.

Goose Bay A second B-26 arrived safely at the U.S. Canadian base. The American official said every available plane had been put into the search from bases in Iceland, Labrador, Greenland and Newfoundland.

Among the planes are several C-54 searchmasters equipped with latest rescue devices. Bouncing seas were reported hampering use of rescue equipment.

Operations were being directed from Keflavik.

Alpha Y's Men's Club Meeting

The regular weekly supper meeting of the Alpha Y's Men's Club of Charlottetown was held at the Y. M. C. A. last evening. Joint chairmen were Wilfred Livingston and Jack Kirby.

The president, Clarence Walker, extended an invitation to the club to attend a pot-luck supper being sponsored by the Y's Menettes next Monday evening. Dr. William Carson expressed the sympathy of the club to Mr. and Mrs. George Andrews on the passing of their infant son.

In an impressive induction service, two new members, David MacLean and Hartley Cunningham, were officially admitted to the club. The induction service was conducted by Messrs. Ernie Bell, Dick Matheson, George Purvis, Bud McMurtry, Ernie Clouston, Bill Carson and Edwin Johnstone. The president extended congratulations to the new members.

The club will be holding a Councillor election on his successful bid for re-election to the City Council.

A series of slide and lectures on the history of Adam was continued by Bud McMurtry. The meeting closed with the "Queen".

Capping, Candlelighting Ceremony At Cundall Home

Nineteen Junior Student Nurses of the Prince Edward Island Hospital received their caps and participated in the Candlelighting Ceremony at the Cundall Home Monday evening.

The ceremony was presided over by Dr. J. W. MacKenzie, chairman of the student nurses in having passed the necessary tests to qualify them for the further pursuit of their studies towards the ultimate goal of a graduate nurse. Your cap is the first badge you may now go forward on the way. Infinite patience and hard work lies ahead of you for the next three years but your conclusion you will be trained nurses, qualified to meet the future with confidence," Dr. MacKenzie said.

In addressing the preliminary students, Rev. W. H. Brown congratulated them on having passed the first stages of their training. He stressed the need of exacting work before they would be qualified to give competent and effective service to their community. "You will find joy and satisfaction in the development of your talent and power. Any temporary failures will help you develop stamina and courage," he said.

Mr. Runtz, president of the Gid-eon Society, speaking briefly outlined the work of the Society which deals primarily with the placing of Testaments in the hands of those who may use the gift to advantage. Each student nurse was then presented with a beautifully bound copy of the New Testament by Mrs. Runtz on behalf of the Gid-eons.

The Florence Nightingale pledge was taken by the students as read to them by Rev. Mr. Brown.

The "Capping" was conducted by Florence K. MacLean, R.N., instructor of student nurses and the candlelighting ceremony by Donald MacKay, Mrs. Lois MacDonalda Mackay, Mrs. Lois MacDonalda, Superintendent of Nurses, received the guests.

The musical program included a prelude by June Semple, a duet by Joyce Anear and Dorothy Coffin and a violin solo, "Sweet and Low" by Miss Joyce England. The hymns "Jesus Keep Me Near the Cross" and "Faith of our Fathers" were sung by the assembly and following their pledge the newly capped students sang "O Master Let Me Walk With Thee".

The meeting opened with O Canada and concluded with the National Anthem and the Benediction.

Entertainment At High School

Mr. Anton Lendi, internationally known traveller and commentator arrived in the City last night to fulfil engagements at the Queen Charlotte High School under the sponsorship of the Home and School Association. A special session will be held this afternoon for the students; the program this evening will be for the benefit of the public.

Mr. Lendi will present a beautiful pageant in color film on Switzerland, "Paradise on Earth". For those attending there will be a display of Swiss Alpine folkcraft, including such products of handicraft as giant ceremonial cow bells, wood carvings and many other fascinating objects.

The Girls' Glee Club of the High School, under the direction of Miss Ruth Boswell will present several selections during the evening. The proceeds of the traveltogue are to be used to purchase additional books for the school library.

"Y" President Will Attend Ont. Meetings

Arthur Duvar, newly-elected president of the Charlottetown Y. M. C. A. left by air yesterday to attend the annual meeting of the National Council of Y. M. C. A.'s in London, Ont. Feb. 10-11-12th.

Composed of lay representatives of the more than ninety Canadian Y. M. C. A.'s in the nine provinces plus leading lay and staff members, the National Council is concerned with matters of national policy and considers reports and trends affecting future developments. Delegates will formulate and recommend certain policies, and recommend certain implementation rests entirely with local Associations, each of which is entirely autonomous.

Dates for the annual Y. M. C. A. maintenance campaign are set for March 12th to 24th, according to the announcement by the executive committee yesterday. The campaign will open with a special meeting of canvassers on Monday evening, March 12th, when campaign pledge cards will be distributed. Chairman for this year's appeal is to be announced shortly.

RESOLUTION IS

one thing the proposed caseway has done is to relieve indignities has done is to relieve the minds of Islanders for a time that they don't have to worry about having their Old Scotia dumped on their laps as a second boot.

Mr. A. Walthen Gaudet felt that immediate action was necessary to forestall the rumoured intentions of certain parties who might throw "cold water" on the project before it even got started.

After the meeting the following telegram was sent to the four Members and four Senators at Ottawa "The Charlottetown Board of Trade urges your full support for early comprehensive survey of all aspects of proposed Borden-Tormentine Caseway and suggests that all of us maintain open mind subject until such survey results available."

SATURDAY CLOSING

he who is receiving the least is required to pay the most.

Mr. Dewar said it was a common fellow to think that the other fellow is up to his knees in clover. And in like manner made it clear that most of the farmers were wealthy. He felt that City people should make themselves acquainted with the things farmers are advocating and why farm people are promoting these things.

LACK OF UNITY

Cecil Stewart said that him, Charlottetown seemed a little lacking in getting what they want. He would like to see a little more unity as is evidenced in other municipalities.

Mr. Storey said that there was an explanation for what appeared to be a divided camp. He said that nothing in Charlottetown is ever done on the spur of the moment and the practice has been the majority and let the minority go their way.

STORE HOURS

Mr. Dewar said that Saturday night in Charlottetown had become something of an institution with the somewhat of a merchants by closing their stores at noon on Saturday were trying to change him. He said the former consideration was finished and he needed a well earned bit of relaxation by coming to the City. He could, he said, sleep in on Sunday morning but if he went to town on Friday night he had to get up as early as usual the next day. Asked by Chairman Reid whether he opposed Saturday closing, Mr. Dewar said, "I favour doing what comes naturally."

BALLET DESIGNER

Sophie Fedorovitch, Russian-born designer of English ballets, was 60 years old at her death in 1953.

Newman Club Weekly Meeting

The weekly meeting of the Charlottetown Newman Club was held in the Knights of Columbus Home, 21 Water Street.

The meeting was called to order by the president, Richard St. John, who then called upon the club moderator, Father Clarence Roche, who gave a very enlightening talk on the positive and negative aspects of observing Lent.

Following the speech by Father Roche, the club decided to refrain from dancing during the Lenten season and a tentative outline of activities was drawn up for the next six weeks. Some of the activities outlined include guest speakers, sleigh ride, debate and films.

The meeting was then closed with a prayer and a Valentine party was enjoyed by all.

WARD FIVE

Ladies and Gentlemen:—

Many thanks for the renewal of your confidence. I shall try to be worthy of it.

EDWIN C. JOHNSTONE.

Personals

Mrs. Frank Dickson, North Tryon, is a patient in the Prince Edward Island Hospital.

The many friends of Mrs. Stanley Ward, City, will be pleased to learn that she is resting comfortably after undergoing an operation in the P. E. Island Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Roland Taylor accompanied by Mrs. Gerald Jay, Miss Stewart, are leaving today for Bangor, Maine, to attend the wedding of Miss Jean Geldert, which will take place Feb. 12.

Mrs. Stewart MacDonald and Mrs. Simon Murchison have returned to Boston, Mass., after attending the funeral of their mother, the late Mrs. George A. Matheson in Carigan.

Mr. Leonard MacDonald, accountant at the Provincial Bank, Charlottetown, left on a two week's holiday to Boston, Mass., to visit his brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Francis MacLaughlin.

BALTIMORE (AP) — Mrs. George A. Bausman, 27, and her three-year-old son Edward died Wednesday of burns suffered in a fire that earlier took the life of another young son and her father. Another son was in serious condition. Mrs. Bausman had dropped the three children to passersby Tuesday from the second floor of their blazing apartment and then jumped herself.

Boy Injured On Highway

At about 3:15 yesterday afternoon George Creamer, aged 8, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Creamer, Bunbury, on his way home from school slipped from a snowbank on the side of the road under the wheels of a half ton truck owned by the Maritime Electric Company. The accident occurred near the Cotton Nursery, and the wheel of the truck passed over the little lad's leg.

The driver placed the victim in the truck and proceeded to the boy's home where his mother was picked up to accompany the boy to the Charlottetown Hospital. X-rays showed the leg to be unbroken but was badly bruised. The lad was given treatment and then returned to his home, where he will be confined for several days.

Col. Garfield H. Stevens Appointed Sales Manager, Chateau-Gai Wines Ltd.

Mr. A. G. Sampson, President, Chateau-Gai Wines Limited, Niagara Falls, Ontario, is pleased to announce the appointment of Colonel Garfield H. Stevens as Sales Manager of the Company. Colonel Stevens' Executive Offices of Chateau-Gai Wines Limited, 360 Bay Street, Toronto.

Colonel Stevens recently relinquished his appointment as Garrison Commander in Saint John, New Brunswick, after a distinguished military career extending over 21 years. He served with the Cameron Highlanders of Ottawa during the war and took part in the D-Day operations. His army appointments included command of the New Brunswick Scottish, the 14th Canadian Infantry Brigade and No. 6 Militia Group.

On several occasions, Colonel Stevens acted unofficially as aide-de-camp to Lieutenant-Governor D. I. MacLaren, and he was general chairman of arrangements for the Royal Visit to the Saint John area in 1951.

Colonel Stevens has been active in the selling field for the past number of years throughout the Maritimes.

Successful Variety Concert At P.W.C. Hall Last Night

The variety concert held at the Prince of Wales College last night, and sponsored by the Senior Aid of the Prince Edward Island Hospital was greatly enjoyed by a very large audience. Judging by the enthusiasm of those attending, they would have been content to have seen the program last for a much longer period. As it was so many encores were called for that the programme extended far beyond the anticipated time.

The programme opened with a happy solo by Tommy Burke. This was followed by selections from Hansel and Gretel by the Kent Junior Glee Club under the direction of Miss Ruth Boswell. A number of vocal solos were rendered by Miss Florence MacKenzie, Donald, Montague and Mrs. B.H. Patterson. Vocal duets were given by the Rogerson sisters, Mrs. Edwin Johnstone with her little group comprising Judith Allan, Barry Diamond, Lowell Jenkins, Roger Balderson and Blair Wood gave a performance as the Flamingo players. Misses Nancy McEvin and Barbara Cameron gave a pleasing rendition of two popular numbers.

Some very pleasant singing was given by the Charlottetown Choral Group. Another group that was greatly appreciated by the audience was the instrumental quintet consisting of Allen Dunbar, piano, Wallace Platts and Norman Stewart, art, trumpets, Allen MacKenzie, clarinet and Angus MacLaren, saxophone. Another crowd pleasing spectacle was the Highland Flanking by Elizabeth Haywood, Eleanor Henry, and Norma Duvar with Bruce MacLaren, piper.

As usual Mrs. Douglas MacGowan's ballet group received loud praise. The group consisted of Mrs. MacGowan, Joanna Watworth and Florence MacDonalda. Excellent readings were given by Mrs. Arthur Henry and Mr. Strirling Giddings.

Master of ceremonies for the occasion was A.G. Turpin and his ability to keep the programme moving was greatly appreciated.

thanks of the Scout Association to Mr. Carson.

A pleasing feature of the program was the presentation of mementos of the Jamboree to Provincial Leaders R.C. Parent, Eric Tanton, Abe Zakem and Harvey MacKinnon by Queen's Scout-Roger Craig on behalf of the Island Contingent.

In filming the "Jamboree" for a world-wide audience, the drama and excitement of this one-in-a-life-time event elaborate preparations were necessary.

The Jamboree itself was a miniature version of the United Nations with more than sixty nationalities participating in Scouting events. The cast for the film numbered, 12,000 Boy Scouts who participated actively in all stages of the shooting.

The colourful, exciting Opening Day Parade, the warm, friendly sing-songs, the pageants, the camp visits and the vital religious sequences are only a few of the scenes of this film which graphically shows young members of world society in whose hands rests the future of civilization, meeting together as friends and universal associates.

Planned for the evening was Queen's Scout John Fielding.
