Epps's Cocoa.

BREAKFAST.

"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the properties of well-selected Cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavored beverage which may save us many heavy doctors' bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified by pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.

GEORGE LOWE
346 Spadina Avenue, Toronto,

The Rector of Abernthney.

CONCLUDED.

I cannot say that I was afraid of her. She seemed perfectly harmless, and there was an air of refinement about her that told of better days.

"It is cold," I said.

She turned around and bent her eyes upon me—no, flashed; before they were so icy, but now how they blazed!

"Who said it was cold?" she asked fiercely.

"I did," I replied in a mild tone, though I was conscious that I trembled.

"You, eh? Well, it's nothing to you or to me if it is cold! Who makes it cold? It is a nice night to those who never get out into any night at all!

How bright the fagots in this little hole
Blaze on the hearth and warm the pictured wall!

Did Campbell say that? Well, there are no 'pleasures of hope' for me—I have no hope. What makes you stare at me so? But I oughtn't to speak so gruffly; you are a woman and may help me. Tell me, do you think me crazy?"

I did not answer directly. It required an evasive answer, and one so framed that she could not detect that it was such. I still kept my eyes upon her, and said quietly: "Who said that you were crazy? Take a chair. I want to talk with you."

"Ha! ha! ha! Just like I answered you awhile ago. Well, I ain't crazy, though they say I am. I have just broke out of the madhouse. Ah! I am a good hand at stratagem! There now, send me back!"

"You need not fear me. I have no reason for sending you any where. You can stay here. You are no more crazy than I am."

A warm light came into her eyes at those words, and with a little persuasion I got her to lie down on the sofa, where she soon sank into a slumber. My thoughts were varied as I gazed into that face, pale and careworn, yet beautiful still and framed in with its wealth of raven hair. My life had been a life of toil and struggling and suffering. One by one my relatives had passed into the shadowy tomb, and just then there was a great sorrow brooding in my heart, but I felt thankful that, amid all, God had still vouchsafed unto me my reason. A prayer went up in that lone, quiet room; the wind still howled dismally without, but there was a calmness in my heart. I parted the hair from her white forehead, and there were tears in my eyes as I watched her low, childish breathing.

She remained prostrated a week, subject to attacks of insanity that at times really frightened us. Mr. Ashley took as much interest in her as I did, and the children often stole up to her room during the daytime to ask how the strange woman with the white face was, just as if the faces of other women were not white.

In a week from the night upon which she came to Abernthney Hall she died. It rained on that night, too; it rained on the day we buried her; it rained on the day she was married and no doubt on the day she was born. So had been her life, always listening to the "fitful sighing of the rain!"

The rector was absent during the time our strange visitor was sick. He returned on the evening before she was buried. I heard him coming up into the study. The crazy woman was lying in her shroud in the room below, with a calm serenity upon her face and with a few choice hothouse flowers looped among her dark curls. The kind hands of little Carrie had done that.

The rector was somewhat startled when he beheld me sitting in the study instead of Mr. Ashley. He, however, reached out his hand quite cordially.

"You seemed troubled," I said.

"I have much to trouble me, Jenny," he said sorrowfully, "yet I am still thankful that God gives me strength to bear it all. You have been writing?"

"Yes, I was writing to you. It is not necessary now. You are wanted to officiate at a funeral."

"Is it possible? Any of the parishioners dead?"

"No, it is a strange woman who died here—a crazy woman."

Oh, how white his face grew! He caught at the table for support.

"Died where?" he asked huskily.

"Here, in the house," I replied wonderingly. "She is lying in the parlor, arrayed for the tomb."

He looked at me for a moment; his eyes grew very much like hers in their vacant stare; then he took up the lamp, forgetting that he was leaving me in the darkness and passed down stairs. I followed him, impelled by a thought that made me shudder just then because it thrilled my veins with a sort of pleasure.

The rector was kneeling beside the corpse, kissing the cold lips and murmuring. "Oh, Elsie! my wife! my beautiful one!"

Again that thought flashed through my brain. She was indeed the rector's wife, and the thought would sooner shape into a certainty. There was a choking sensation in my throat, but ere I could turn away the rector saw me. He motioned me to his side, but without getting up from his knees.

The rector was kneeling beside the corpse.

"What did she tell you?" he asked.

"She told me nothing about herself or the past. I heard you call her wife."

"Yes, she was my wife. She is at rest now, and it is better for her and for me. No prayers need be offered up for a soul so kind and so good as hers was."

He said nothing more just then, which in a manner surprised me. He rose up, folded his arms and gazed steadfastly into the face of the dead. A scalding tear fell upon my hand. He seemed to have forgotten that I was near him, and I stole up into my room to weep. But in the pulpit, when he preached the funeral sermon of his own once beautiful wife, he explained it all. Many eyes filled with tears then, and the hearts of the people went out further than ever toward their suffering pastor.

The remainder of the story is soon told. Insanity had been hereditary in the family of the rector's wife. She knew it, but had not dared to tell him of it. The dread presentiment that she would eventually fall a victim to the horrid disease draped many hours that otherwise would have been joyous ones in the blackness of night.

At last it came in the third year of her marriage, and the poor, almost heart-broken rector was compelled to send her to an insane asylum. He visited her often while there, providing many comforts for her and leaving no means untried to restore her.

Sometimes she appeared perfectly sane, meeting him with all the pleasantry of yore and asking to be taken to his heart again; at other times she would be perfectly ungovernable and charge him with the most violent abuses, and this lasted five years.

But she was dead now; she had gone to her home at last—to a beautiful home decked with stars and gorgeous in the unspeakable richness of Christ.

"And you and the rector were married in the end?" is the suggestive query.

And very meekly yet contentedly I answer, "We were."

DISCOUNTS EXTRAORDINARY.

Owing to the death of our senior partner, MR. HENRY MORGAN, and the consequent re-arrangement of the firm, we intend making an extraordinary effort during the month of January to reduce our stock to the lowest possible point, that everything may be in good shape for starting the new business in February. To accomplish this, we have decided to make even greater sacrifices than has been our custom in the Annual January Sale. These sacrifices will be in the form of discounts, and will commence TUESDAY MORNING, 2nd January, and continue till the end of the month.

It is a harmless substitute for Paregoric, Drops, Soothing Syrups, and Castor Oil. It is Pleasant. Its guarantee is thirty years' use by Millions of Mothers. Castoria destroys Worms and allays feverishness. Castoria prevents vomiting Sour Curd, cures Diarrhœa and Wind Colic. Castoria relieves teething troubles, cures constipation and flatulency. Castoria assimilates the food, regulates the stomach and bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. Castoria is the Children's Panacea—the Mother's Friend.

Castoria.

"Castoria is an excellent medicine for children. Mothers have repeatedly told me of its good effect upon their children."

DR. G. C. OSGOOD, Lowell, Mass.

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."

DR. J. F. KINCHELOE, Conway, Ar

Castoria.

"Castoria is so well adapted to children that I recommend it as superior to any prescription known to me."

H. A. ARCHER, M. D., 111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Our physicians in the children's department have spoken highly of their experience in their outside practice with Castoria, and although we only have among our medical supplies what is known as regular products, yet we are free to confess that the merits of Castoria has won us to look with favor upon it."

THE MOTHER'S INFLUENCE.

Few, we believe, individually appreciate the enormous hidden force in educational and moral influence exerted upon them by their mothers. Were a college founded for the propagation of right living, its professors would touch only superficially the inner life of its students. It would be, in fact, a superfluous institution, for life itself is such a school. We begin here like children, understanding such instruction alone as appeals to the heart, and of this every man's mother holds the key.

Comprehending this, a wise mother should improve every occasion as a stimulus to an exercise in morality, teaching even by the glance of her eye, as it appeals to the innate love of her child; and this fundamental instruction will take root as deeply as though the pupils were already older, excluding superficiality from the fact that she can touch the soul to its innermost core.

When one leaves a mother's influence, one is already a moral man, or one is not, and of a hundred who are so, ninety-nine, even though unconsciously, are indebted to the mother.

RATEFUL, PLEASING RELIEF AFTER MANY DAYS.

How a Queens County Man Found Permanent Healing.

His Own Experience Tells Fully and Freely some Truths which all Readers of this Paper Should Know.

Here and there, in almost every town of our province, are "chronic" cases over which doctors disagree; cases that become worse year after year. It is to reach such that the gentleman to whom these lines refer, and whose portrait is here given, has written the story of his case.

Mr. Branscomb's home is in Chipman, Queens Co., N. B. It was there that a representative of the Groder company called upon him, Sept. 1st, of the present year. His greeting was most cordial. He gladly acknowledged his thanks, giving expression to the following statement:

"It is five years since I first became afflicted with a form of indigestion. Last winter it became more severe, developing into chronic diarrhœa. I cannot tell you how much I suffered for SIX LONG WEEKS. It seemed as though relief could not be found. You will remember how I told you of my condition and asked your advice about taking a bottle of GRODER'S SYRUP. You told me that the medicine was a laxative and might not meet my needs. I delayed buying for a few hours until I began to hope that it would help me. Even my clothes seemed a burden because of bloating of stomach. It was with difficulty that I kept about sufficiently to attend to my business.

But I am a well man now from the use of your remedy. In three days after I bought GRODER'S SYRUP the terrible pain and distress across my stomach were removed. My bowels rapidly assumed a natural, healthy condition. Now I eat and drink as well as I ever could. I have gained constantly in flesh since March last. I am perfectly cured.

It seems a duty for me to state my case fully, that others who suffer as I did may know where to find a cure."

Truly yours,

E. A. BRANSCOMB.
