Stanfield Asks Better Break For Negroes In Nova Scotia

By DON ANGUS

HALIFAX (CP) — Premier Robert L. Stanfield called Friday night for a beer break for Nova Scotia's Negroes, urging increased assistance rather than mere tolerance.

The premier told the annual convention of the provincial Progressive Conservative association that human rights are not yet universally effective and "it is not enough simply to tolerate Negroes or to like them."

"It is not very helpful to say that a Negro can get ahead in Nova Scotia if he has the ability and works.

"Any statement like that ignores . . . generations of neglect"

The Negro "is not held down, but we are not giving him enough help up" Nova Scotians must help Negroes "to get into and stay in the mainstream of life in Nova Scotia."

The premier said the party must prepare for the next election, although he gave no indication of when it might be, and urged continued recruitment of young Nova Scotians into party ranks.

"The coal industry is still vitally important to Cape Breton" and "of course, we must insist that the coal industry be stabilized."

MUST BROADEN BASE

However, new ways also should be sought to broaden the economy.

"We cannot turn the clock back and we will do our people a disserve if we encourage them to continue in old ways that no longer can produce a decent living."

A keynote address by John Diefenbaker, national leader, and a two-way fight for the association's presidency, the first such election in the organization's history, were scheduled for today's sessions.

Dalton Camp, national association president, said in Toronto Friday prior commitments forced him to decline an invitation to attend.

The contest for the provincial presidency involves Finlay MacDonald, a Halifax broadcaster and association president in 1963, and Maurice Flemming of Shelburne.
