Packed galleries, including Russian diplomats, heard Mr. Pearson blast the Communists for their "slanderous allegations" and "abusive propaganda" against the West.

TRIBUTE TO EDEN

The conference should not be permitted to go on indefinitely if it could be shown conclusively that it was being used for propaganda. Mr. Pearson paid tribute to the wisdom, patience and skill of British Foreign Secretary Eden—the house applauded loudly—and said alarming and often exaggerated conclusions had been drawn from differences between Britain and the U. S. The Americans want to form a southeast Asia pact now while Britain wants to wait until after Geneva at least.

Highlight of the luncheon was an address by northern affairs and national resources minister Jean Lesage who urged the Young Liberals to keep their noses to the grindstone, and not to lapse into "self-satisfied complacency" on account of election successes in recent years.

Montague Out For 200 Blood Donors Monday

"Fifteen energetic representatives of eight different organizations in Montague headed by Mr. Gordon Coffin, Vice Grand of "Hillside Lodge" I. O. O. F., have been doing a thorough job of canvassing the town for blood donors for Monday's Red Cross clinic to be held at The Beaver Club Hall in the afternoon and evening. Mr. Coffin reported last night that 72 donors had signed on in seven out of the 15 districts being canvassed and that there are still 8 districts to be finished.

The following organizations have participated in this special drive for donors. — Womens Institute, Canadian Legion, Catholic Women's League, Home and School Association, Masons, Rebekahs, Odd Fellows and the Reserve Army. Canvassers are also at work in Greenfield, Victoria Cross and contacts have been made in Murray River, Murray Harbour, Georgetown, Cardigan, Murray Harbor North and Cape Bear. Montague donors are being urged to attend the afternoon session if at all possible, as it is felt the evening hours would be more convenient for those who will be attending from the surrounding districts. However, donors from Montague and the nearby areas may report at the clinic either afternoon or evening—which ever is more suitable to them.

The highest previous record for donor attendance at Montague was 132 for a one-night clinic, but the present committee is out to beat all records this time, and if at all possible, exceed the minimum objective of 200 donors. Last year 163 bottles of blood plasma were used by patients in the King's County Hospital at Montague but there were only 18 donors in attendance at the 1953 Clinic in Montague. In addition to the number of patients receiving transfusions in the King's County Hospital, there were many other residents of this section of the province who were given transfusions in the hospitals at Charlottetown. Friends and relatives of these patients should take advantage of the opportunity provided by the clinic at Montague to replace the blood used and thereby make it available for those who will require transfusions this year. All signs seem to point to the success of Montague's first "two - session" Clinic.
